

"The only party that holds a reasonable hope of achieving a majority is the Liberal party...Neither fringe party can possibly form a government. To vote for them is to run the risk of repeating the national indecision of last June. We cannot afford more of such indecision: it could lead to national collapse."
—The Toronto Globe & Mail, March 23

"The choice in this election as we conceive it lies not between the Liberal party and the Conservative party; it lies between a Liberal government with a working majority and no government at all. There is no possibility that the Diefenbaker group will win a majority in the new parliament. It has been torn asunder at the top by the resignations on principle of Messrs. Harkness, Hees and Sevigny; it has been further damaged by the departure for different reasons of Messrs. Fleming, Fulton and Halpenny..."—The Edmonton Journal, March 15
