

Vote Counts Fanfani Strength

ROME (AP)—Premier Amintore Fanfani's Christian Democrats lost ground in crucial parliamentary elections but mounting returns early today indicated they will continue to have a centre-left coalition government.

The small right-wing Liberal party scored astounding gains in national elections Sunday and Monday and the Communists held their own as Italy's second largest party, even showing advances in some areas.

The Liberals took votes away from the Christian Democrats in almost all the first districts to report. Advocates of free enterprise and the Liberals attracted voters disgruntled with Fanfani's alliance with Pietro Nenni's Socialists, once allied with the Communists.

Despite the setbacks, the Christian Democrats appeared to be in no danger of losing their status as Italy's largest party but they also appeared to have no chance of capturing a majority.

The trend indicated Fanfani will be in a more difficult bargaining position when a new government is formed, it also seemed likely that rightists in the Christian Democratic party will seek to put the brakes on the party's swing to the left in an effort to win back votes lost to the Liberals.

Over all, the parties that backed Fanfani's government were running about even with their totals in the last parliamentary election, in 1958, when they won 61 per cent of the total votes.

The pro-Western Democratic Socialists and Nenni's Socialists appeared to be gaining the most ground, but the former small Republican party were running behind.

The parties on the far right—the Monarchists and the Fascists—were losing ground.

In the record turnout of 82,800,000 voters, 93 per cent of the electorate, the voters chose 530 deputies and 212 senators for the Italian republic's fourth parliament.

The government bought about 100,000 pounds of dried skim milk last year for international sale and other uses.

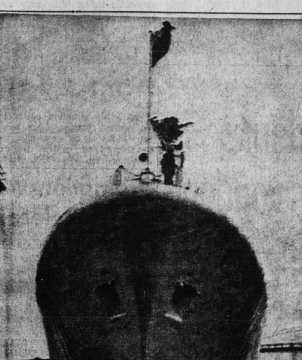

As an incentive to producing cheddar cheese, the support price of 32½ cents a pound will be maintained—cheese prices have been averaging higher than that.

It will also pay five cents more—or 30 cents a hundredweight—for manufacturing milk used in cheddar cheese production, which has been lower than normal.

Discontinued except in the case of cheddar cheese will be 11¢ for supplementary payments on milk for other manufacturing uses such as ice cream, malted milk, evaporated milk and the like.

Officials said this will save several million dollars and probably increase prices of those products.

Britain Plans World Deal From 3-Mile Fishery

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most farmers are looking for spells of warm, dry weather to seed what could become a bumper Prairie grain crop.

Officials say spring planting so far is barely under way, about four per cent complete at best in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. At that it's slightly ahead of last year, and generally about normal for this time of year.

Prospects are bright for the second good crop in a row following the disastrous 1960-61 drought.

The key to any good crop is plenty of moisture at the right times and the authoritative western grain handling firm, Searle Grain, says conditions now are "quite favorable."

April rains will average have filled the moisture gap that had existed since September in wide areas.

Prairie Seeding Fall Conference Plan Cheered

BY JOSEPH MACSWEEN
LONDON (CP)—Britain announced Monday it intends to regain "freedom of action" on fishery limits to protect its inshore fishermen and reserves.

Edward Heath, lord privy seal, won cheers in the House of Commons when he proposed a fall conference of European countries with fishery problems in northern waters.

The British government had given notice of intention to end participation from May 15, 1964, in the North Seas Fisheries Convention of 1952 by which Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Germany and Denmark recognized the three-mile limit.

Some countries have long claimed wider limits and the implication of it is a's announcement was criticized by Danish agreement of 1959 except Monday.

British fishing circles were elated by Heath's announcement, some saying that, as has happened in Newfoundland and elsewhere—coast-guardies forestalled by the United Nations supplies failed to settle the issue. The last was in 1960.

PLAN OFFERED
But many maritime countries favor in a Canada-United States formula for a six-mile territorial limit and a 12-mile fisheries limit.

Heath said the countries invited to the autumn conference are members of the British-led European Free Trade Association, the so-called seven, countries of the French Common Market, Ireland and Spain. He said all Commonwealth countries had been consulted before the announcement.

Sources said countries that would be adversely affected by an extension of the British fishery limit would include France, Belgium, West Germany, the Soviet Union and Poland. Russian vessels are common in British waters.

The urgency of the problem was pointed up in that before Heath spoke reports from Copenhagen quoted Danish spokesmen saying that the British had not only depleted resources but damaged British nets and other equipment.

Heath's announcement was welcomed by T. F. Peart, Labor spokesman, who said that he criticized delay in holding the proposed conference and also suggested Canada should be invited.

Heath said the countries invited were concerned mainly with the northeastern Atlantic area and was feeling as deputy foreign minister, announced that subject is likely to be discussed in London this weekend by Edward Heath, deputy foreign minister, and the British government will be terminated May 15, 1964, and that a conference of countries interested in the North Sea fisheries is being called.

It is not the Canadian government's intention to give any exception to the proposed action, the spokesman said.

MAY INFLUENCE VIEW
Heath said the countries will not have any direct effect on Canada, but such action by so important a maritime and fishing nation as the United Kingdom may be a factor of considerable significance in determining our course of action.

Aid On Cheddar Boosted; Butter Subsidy Continued

BY ARCH MACKENZIE
OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government cut some dairy price supports Monday, increased another and maintained the costly consumer subsidy on butter.

As a result, butter will continue to retail at about 56 to 59 cents a pound for top grades with some price increases anticipated in evaporated milk, cream and other manufactured items.

New cheddar cheese may be produced, which is part of the design announced before a new dairy year begins Wednesday.

Agriculture Minister Harry Harris, in dealing with the dairy industry, made public his first major decision as a cabinet minister. It reflects Liberal party campaign pledges.

Savings of several million dollars will be made in winning out supplementary payments made on milk for manufacturing, other than for cheddar cheese.

SUPPORT CHEDDAR
The payment on milk for cheddar, which contrary to the prevailing market price, has not increased in supply, will rise another five cents to 30 cents per hundredweight. The support price of 32½ cents a pound remains unchanged, below the prevailing market price.

Seasonal factors are credited with the lack of increase in cheddar cheese, for which some export market exists.

The extra five-cent payment is regarded as an incentive to cheese production.

No payment at all will be made to the producer of fluid surplus milk, regarded as the main reason for the butter surplus.

The butter decision means that the government will continue to retail at about 56 to 59 cents a pound for top grades with some price increases anticipated in evaporated milk, cream and other manufactured items.

Halifax Launching

The 2,000-ton destroyer escort Annapolis slides into the Atlantic from her builder's hands in Halifax, she is the last of six Mackenzie class destroyers to be built for the navy.

Monday 15 children complained of headaches, dizziness in the throat then began to vomit, many had fever during morning classes.

The Brossard school commission ordered the school closed after Monday's incident.

The first poisoning incident was believed to have been caused by a leaking fire extinguisher on the school bus.

OAS Effort Stalled In Caribbean Crisis

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Dominican troops moved toward Haiti's frontier Monday to back up President Juan Bosch's threat to force an end to his angry dispute with the Negro republic.

The armed forces secretary, which reported the Dominican troop movements, declined to give further details.

A Santo Domingo radio broadcast reported unofficially that anti-tank units were on route to strategic positions near the Haitian border.

Search Continues For Crash Bodies
PENTAGON, B.C. (CP)—Naval divers Monday took the lake search for the bodies of the victims of Saturday's two-plane, mid-air crash which took eight lives, including five members of one family.

The six divers from the Equinault naval base, equipped with scuba gear, did not find the bodies of any of the six persons missing since the crash. Parts of two bodies were recovered previously.

The extension was made to give a five-nation fact-finding mission of the Organization of American States time to fly to Port au Prince to investigate the Dominican charges.

Members of A fact-finding mission assigned to investigate trouble between Haiti and the Dominican Republic met Monday in Washington.
