

Cardinals Edge Pirates; Tigers Trample Orioles

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Righthander Bob Purkey added a homer to his pitching triumph Thursday as the Cincinnati Redlegs dropped Los Angeles Dodgers 8-4. It was his seventh victory.

In other games of a full National League schedule, Philadelphia Phillies edged Chicago Cubs 7-6, St. Louis Cardinals downed Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 and San Francisco Giants took a 3-4 decision over Milwaukee Braves.

Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees split an afternoon American League doubleheader, Yankees taking the first game 12-5 and White Sox the second 3-2. Boston Red Sox defeated Cleveland Indians 5-3 in the other afternoon.

HODGES HOMERS
At Los Angeles, Purkey was nailed for two runs in the first inning and another in the second. After that he didn't let a Dodger close one all the way with Arsenal finally getting the decision of all three judges.

Flyers Down Shamrocks
R.C.A.F. Flyers dumped B.I.S. Shamrocks into the City Softball League cellar last evening, wallowing the Irishmen 11-3 in a regular league game played before a fair-sized crowd of shivering fans at Victoria Park.

The Shamrocks handed the Airmen the victory in the very first inning. The Flyers scored five times in that first frame on one home run hit. Keith Dalziel, who started for the Shamrocks, was minus his control and walked the first four men he faced and thereby forced in the run. Beardsley promptly cleared the sacks with a booming double, took third on an error and came home on an infield out.

The Airmen added four more in the second, again managing only one hit, but getting help from a pair of walks and three damaging errors. They concluded their scoring for the evening with a pair of runs in the third. Again errors paved the way. The first two men up were safe on miscues and coach Sawyer sent them across home plate with a resounding two-run wallop.

All the winners' runs were charged against starter Keith Dalziel. He gave up three hits, walked six and struck out none. Ev Beagan, who relieved him with one out in the second, pitched good ball the rest of the distance. Ev didn't allow an earned run, yielded only two hits and allowed only one runner to reach base in the last four innings.

Sawatsky was the winner hurler, pitched six hit ball and getting fine support from his teammates. Joe Coyle and Lorne MacGuigan managed doubles off his offerings. Len Arsenault was umpire at the plate and Red Macadyen handled the bases.

Here's the present standings of the five teams.

PEANUTS' WINS BATTLE

Sluggish Turnbull and Walter "Peanuts" Arsenault trade punches in their semi-final clash on Charlie Hogan's fight card Wednesday night at Civic Stadium in Summerside. The scrap was a close one all the way with Arsenal finally getting the decision of all three judges.

ATKINS BANKS ON PUNCHING POWER

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Virgil Atkins banks on punching power to nullify Vince Martinez's boxing skill tonight in a 15-round bout for the world welterweight title. Sluggish Atkins is the 9-to-5 favorite in his home town.

The championship of the 147-pound division has been un-manned for almost nine months since Carmen Basilio went hunting for bigger game. Atkins and Martinez are the survivors of an involved elimination tournament. Both Atkins and Martinez are guaranteed at least $30,000. Each takes $15,000 from the television rights and at least $15,000 more or 30 per cent of the gate.

Atkins, 30, is on a hot streak at the moment with two knockouts over Tony DeMarco and one over Isaac Logart. In fact, he is the world champion already in one state, Massachusetts, where he destroyed DeMarco.

However, Atkins was beaten by Gil Turner and Franz Suzuzina last year and his career record for 65 fights is 47-17-1, as compared to Martinez's 60-5 for the same number of scraps. Atkins has never stopped twice. Martinez, 29, never failed to last the distance.

KUENN PROBABLY OUT FOR A WEEK

BALTIMORE (AP) — Detroit centerfielder Harvey Kuenn probably will be out of action a week because of eye and face injuries received in Wednesday night's game with Baltimore Orioles, a doctor said Thursday.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, Orioles physician, said 25 stitches and plastic surgery were used to close wounds in Kuenn's lower right eyelid and on his face below the eye.

Mayer said the lower lid was torn almost in two, but said Kuenn's sight will not be impaired.

Kuenn was injured when he fell on top of a seven-foot wire fence in left centre field while trying to snag a home run ball hit by Oriole catcher Gus Triandos.

'PEANUTS' WINS BATTLE

SPORTS FRONT

By PIUS CALLAGHAN

"The hottest baseball prospect to come out of the cornfields of Iowa since Bob Feller" is what they say about Denny Menke. Who is Denny Menke? Well, he's a 17-year-old youngster who is reported to have received $100,000 for signing a baseball contract with Milwaukee Braves recently. The young shortstop-pitcher was inked to a contract by Braves' midwest scout Eddie Dandask at the home of his parents near Benecroft in Northern Iowa.

The world champions have not announced the amount Denny got for coming to the Braves but the facts are that they outbid nine other clubs who liked what they saw in Menke. Yankees, White Sox, Kansas City and Philadelphia were particularly interested.

It was only a very short time ago that Milwaukee paid out another large sum, possibly in the neighborhood of $100,000 for 17-year-old pitcher, Tony Cloninger of Denver, North Carolina. Menke's father, who caught and played the outfield for Des Moines in 1936-1937 and for Springfield, Illinois in 1938 said he had been instructed by the Milwaukee club not to reveal terms of the contract.

What father wouldn't keep a secret for a pile of cash like that?

St. Louis Cardinal's boss Fred Hutchinson is a man who doesn't believe in beating around the bush. Fred delights in calling a spade a spade.

Right now he has fired a blast at league umpires and their boss, National League president, Warren C. Giles. Hutchinson claimed all of them were too busy worrying over Chavez Ravine and the beanballs, and not interested enough in calling plays on the baseball diamond.

It all started after the Cards blew a 2-0 lead to the Braves in the ninth and lost the decision 3-2. Fred insists Vic Demore, presiding at first base pulled a raw one on the Red Birds in that fateful ninth. The Cardinal manager charged the first base umpire after he had called Johnny Logan safe on a double play ball on which the second putout was registered while the Braves first run scored. The decision set the stage for Joe Adock and his pinch home run that gave the verdict to Milwaukee.

This is the way the Cardinals' manager argued. "The guy was out but that's a judgement call and you can't argue about it. But you do have a right to protest when an umpire starts to call a man safe when he's 10 feet from the base."

Hutchinson was warning to his subject. "We managers have no recourse anyway. The only penalize the managers if one of their pitchers throws at somebody. As is managers can tell what a pitcher is going to do on the mound. A pitcher is going to do what he wants to without waiting for the manager to tell him."

Hutchinson also claims that Demore gave the Red Birds two bad calls the Sunday before in a game with Cincinnati Redlegs. He claims Ken Boyer was hit on the foot by a pitch but Demore refused to allow him first base. Fred claimed Boyer spent the night with an ice pack on his toe. Later Hutchinson claims Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati team stuck his arm over the plate on a change-up pitch and got a free trip to first.

Hutchinson just sour because his club isn't where they were expected to be in the league standings or has he really got an honest hater?

We wouldn't know.

You would expect the Milwaukee writers would be scoffing a bit at the gallant bid the San Francisco Giants are making in the National League pennant race.

Well that is not so and we produce a comment by a Brave sportswriter that proves it. We think it worth letting you have a look at. Here it is:

"The good run San Francisco's Giants are making these many days of the National League race isn't necessarily a flash. It could continue. For behind it lies the potent fusion of promising youth and civic enthusiasm in a new land. There's no telling how far it could propel the team or what it might lead to. The story of this year's Giants, generally picked for a second division finish, is not unlike that of the 1953 Milwaukee Braves. The similarity, in fact, is striking.

"The Braves came to Milwaukee with essentially a young team; the Giants settled in San Francisco this year with the same kind. The Braves were pulled immediately to the city's bosom; the Giants have enjoyed the same kind of civic cuddling (although not the same coddling). The Braves, who finished seventh in the National League as the Boston entry in 1952, won at once in their new surroundings and on May 28 of their first year were up in first place; the Giants who finished sixth a year ago, have started out the same way and day about are sharing the lead with Milwaukee.

"The old Boston Braves moved here with such relatively young ball players as Mathews, 21; Logan, 16; Bruton, 23; Buhl, 25; Crandall, 23. The old New York Giants started out this year with such as Davenport, 24; Cepeda, 20; Schmidt, 25; Kirkland, 24; McCormack, 19.

"Mathews, Logan, Bruton, Buhl, Crandall were big forces in the drive that carried the Braves into a second place finish. Davenport, Cepeda, Kirkland, Schmidt and McCormack have been the same kind of force behind the Giants' surge now.

"Promising youth and new, fresh civic enthusiasm—they're hard to beat."

Well history has a habit of repeating it self.

If there ever was any doubt about the calibre of competition in the City Softball League, it was certainly removed Wednesday night when two of the best games seen here in years were played.

It took Junior Basilio Youth Club 11 innings to dispose of the Airmen from Summerside and Willis Hennessey's Rollaway Aces had to stage a last inning rally to hand Barry's Lions their first defeat of the young season.

This is the kind of competition that makes for a successful league and this year's league seems certain of success.

Rollaway and the Juniors each dropped their first two ball games, but they soon got out of their losing ways. Aces have rebounded with three straight triumphs and the B.Y.C. have won three of their last four contests.

The Juniors have been getting splendid pitching in every game. Even the three that they dropped came about by lack of hitting, not lack of pitching. The games lost were by the scores of 4-0 and 4-2.

The Airmen probably have been a bit of a disappointment so far but we feel there's no cause to worry about them. They have plenty of talent but are just a wee bit short of condition. They'll get in the groove soon.

What we need now is a little bit of good weather. It's been mighty chilly to date watching these games.
