

MR. AND MRS. R. E. BLAIR

Married At Trenton, Ont. Wedding Trip To P.E.I.

A pretty spring wedding took place at King Street United Church in Trenton, Saturday, May 23rd, when Joyce Christene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Milford Cudmore of Oyster Bed Bridge, P.E.I. became the bride of Robert Edwin Blair of R.C.A.F. Station Trenton, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Douglas Blair of Guelph.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. J.T. Irwin. The organist was Prof. A. Roy Kendall.

The bride wore a becoming waltz length gown of Chantilly lace, featuring a sabrina scalloped neckline and hemline. A small crown held her fingertip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Vera Cudmore, sister of the bride wore a pale blue lace dress and matching picture hat. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white mums.

The best man was Ronald Oullette of R.C.A.F. Station, Trenton, and the ushers were Lorne Johnston and David O'Brien.

The reception was held at the Officers Mess, R.C.A.F. station, for forty guests. Wing Commander Black proposed the toast to the bride which was responded to by the groom. Telegrams from the bride's parents, friends in Charlottetown, Halifax and Winnipeg were read by the best man.

Leaving the reception for the wedding trip to Washington, D.C., New York City and the bride's home in P.E.I., the bride wore a royal blue imported Honan sheath and duster ensemble with white accessories.

Out of town guests were from Guelph, Brantford, Ottawa, Toronto and London, Ontario.

ELLEN'S DIARY

How Nice It Was To -Go A Piece" With Pals

Every scene of today, every happening, was pictured against the enchanting background which is given by a perfect summer day. Against the fresh of this morning, there was the pair of young kin descendants of this old house, lads who came cycling from a distance to enjoy a long lovely day at the fishing—a bit regretful later they must take out precious time from it for dinner.

Then smartly back to it again, finding treasures of funny folk in this or that pool or around a quiet tree-shaded bend of the stream. And when finally lines were reeled, and the catches on alder gads counted, they found their day was all they had hoped for, one in which trout bit and nice memories were gathered to remain with them through the more responsible years.

There was too the pair of youngsters from a near farm who came a-calling in the warm of the afternoon, interesting as such small ones are naive and appealing in the tender years. Wonder in their eyes over everything. He the older, telling of his "new pun" with all the fervor of this a lad's first love. And she, who is to be a schoolgirl when the next term opens, and it came to mind with a chuckle eternally feminine, to remember always the story-book setting and ceremony, to relate "We were at a wedding the other day!" "And" with a blissful sigh, "we had just a lovely time too!"

Granddaughter and Alex were at home to enjoy with them a spell of play on the lawn or to sit beneath the shade of a tree there quietly chatting before the parting came. And ours (and how nostalgic to us the scene!) went "a piece" then with the little visitors, down the lane and in along the road.

In this motoring and cycling age, there is little opportunity in the country child's life to "go a piece" with a visitor any more. What a nice and hospitable gesture that was in the long ago and always enjoyable. To saunter along a summer path of field or down a sun-flecked farm-lane with a young companion, where clovers ran riot and wild roses bloomed, to walk by day or in the dim of the purple twilight with the hush of approaching rest over the farmsteads; or in the moonlight to linger at a gate or where silvery bars at a gap of fence declared "the best of friends must part", how pleasant it was.

Mack made a fourth at the wedding at Rob's today.

"I hope," James said a little anxiously this evening, "you and Gage took good care in your hooing?"

Mack nodded. "We must have."
