McNamara Sees Signs Viet Cong Intensify War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara has told senators the Viet Cong guerrillas have increased their strength and given "every intention of raising the intensity of the conflict" in South Viet Nam.

And, he said in censored testimony made public, the United States is making preparations, should the need arise, "for substantially increasing our deployment in South Viet Nam and raising the rate of activity of our air units there."

As to concerns the war might escalate little by little into a nuclear showdown, McNamara said: "I don't believe any commander, and certainly not I, has anticipated any possible use of nuclear weapons in South Viet Nam."

Pressed about whether this includes North Viet Nam, McNamara said:

"It is not our intention to carry on military operations in North Viet Nam that would require the use or make desirable the use of nuclear weapons."

As McNamara's testimony was released, eight liberal House of Representatives Democrats urged a slowdown in military activity and commitment in Viet Nam and called for admission of Communist China into the United Nations.

CONFERENCE SETUP

Members of the group established themselves as a special conference on the Viet Nam problem. Members include representatives Benjamin S. Rosenthal of New York, Charles C. Diggs Jr. of Michigan, Don Edwards of California, Leonard Farbstein of New York, Donald M. Fraser of Minnesota, Robert W. Kastenmeier of Wisconsin, Henry S. Reuss of Wisconsin and William F. Ryan of New York.

They said the National Liberation Front, of which the Viet Cong is the military arm, "must be recognized as a principal belligerent in the war and as a necessary party to any peace conference settlement."

McNamara said a report, based on interrogation of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese prisoners, concluded stepped-up action on the ground and in the air appears to be taking "a toll of Viet Cong morale and combat effectiveness."

He said:

"There can be no question but what the Chinese have supplied (censored) somewhere between (censored) thousand men to North Viet Nam, to help reconstruct their railroads and roads in the north."

New Quebec Steel Mill Involves $500 Million

MONTREAL (CP)—The steel mill projected for Becancour, Que., will inolve the expenditure of more than $500,000,000, on plant construction and all the new facilities that go with a big industrial development.

The first stage of the project will cost about $350,000,000, says Gerard Filion, president of the company behind the venture.

"Add to this the needed investment in roads, housing, public services and so on . . . and you arrive at a truly staggering figure, exceeding no doubt the half-billion mark."

Becancour is located on the South Shore of the St. Lawrence River, about 80 miles northeast of Montreal. The nearest sizable city is Trois-Rivieres, a papermaking community across the river.

The company Mr. Filion heads is called Sidbec and it will draw on a mixed public-private fund of capital.

PROVIDE JOBS

Some 5,000 workers, said Mr. Filion, will be employed at the height of the Sidbec building program. About 2,500 persons will be needed to operate the mill when it goes into operation with a 1,000,000-ton annual productive capacity in 1971.

The industry eventually is expected to reach an annual output of 4,000,000 tons of liquid steel.

Mr. Filion said in a speech this week:

"You must take into account that for each new job created in a steel mill you have from eight to 10 new openings in directly-related fields.

"Sidbec would therefore at that single level create employment for some 25,000 people."

He said that if they earned an average annual salary of $5,000, "this means $125,000,000 in labor incomes that will flow directly from the project."

IMPROVE THE ECONOMY

"It is my guess that Sidbec will directly and indirectly bring within 15 years at least $100,000,000 in annual salaries to the area."

Mr. Filion said Quebec is a relatively poor province in a rich country and there is a widening gap between Quebec's income level and those of Ontario and Canada.

Quebec's big job, he said, is "not only (to) run faster than everybody else but cut through the unbeaten and precipitous paths."

Sidbec chose Becancour as the mill site because it "made sense" from the company's point of view, said Mr. Filion.

He added:

"We don't know—except at an intuitive level where your guess is as good as mine—whether the total cost to the province for the benefits derived would not have been less if Sidbec had located nearer the markets it is bound to serve.

The bidding:

Opening lead — two of diamonds.

Bridge is not an ideal game for the lazy thinker. It takes a certain amount of hard work and clear thinking to come up with right answers to the many problems of bidding and play that periodically arise.

Instinct alone won't do the job; you have to be willing to expend some effort to figure out what everybody at the table has, and what to do about it after you do figure it out.

For example, consider this hand where East is defending against four spades. West leads a diamond South taking it with the ace. Declarer then plays a heart to the ace, followed by the king, on which he discards a diamond. He then leads the eight of spades from dummy.

East's play at this point is vital, and, if he puts on his thinking bonnet, he can defeat the contract. He should go up with the ace, play a club to West's king, win the club return with the ace, and then give partner a club ruff.

It is easy enough to make these plays if you see all 52 cards, but the question is whether East should be clever enough to figure them out, seeing only 26 cards. The answer is yees—provided East is willing to take the trouble to interpret the clues at hand.

East knows from the previous plays that declarer started with precisely two diamonds and one heart. It is reasonable for him to conclude that South's remaining cards consist of six spades and four clubs, and it is also reasonable to suppose that the contract cannot be defeated unless West has the king of clubs.

East therefore acts on these assumptions by going up with the ace of spades and returning a club. A lazy player might not be willing to go to all this bother and might automatically play low on the eight of spades, but he would later have cause to regret his indolence.

Net Profit For Royal Trust Is Higher By 14 Per Cent

MONTREAL — Royal Trust's profit after taxes in 1965 was 14 per cent higher than the year before, Conrad F. Harrington, President, reported to shareholders today at the Company's 66th annual general meeting here.

Net profit for the year ending 31st December, amounted to $2,942,000, compared with $2,574,000 in 1964, Mr. Harrington said. This was equal to $4.66 per share on the 632,000 shares outstanding, compared with $4.52 per share in 1964 on the 570,000 shares then outstanding.

Income totalled $22,725,000, an increase of $3,141,000, or 16 per cent; expenditures were $17,303,000, up $2,823,000 or 19 per cent, and gross profit rose by $318,000 or 6 per cent. Income taxes were down by $50,000, to $2,480,000, because, as Mr. Harrington explained, the 1965 mix of income had a larger ratio of non-taxable income. Dividends paid in 1965 totalled $1,487,000, compared with $1,283,000 the year before.

Assets under Royal Trust's administration increased by $416 million in 1965 to a record high of $3.9 billion.

Mr. Harrington reported directors' approval of a transfer of $1,970,000 from retained earnings to general reserve. This transfer, together with $4,030,000 from sale of 62,000 additional shares of Royal Trust stock in 1965 (proceeds in excess of par value), resulted in a reserve at year end of $23,000,000, compared with $17,000,000 in 1964. The total of capital, reserve and retained earnings now stands at $28,217,000, an increase of $5,391,000 over the previous year.
