Central Queens District I Women's Institutes Convene

Central Queens No. 1 District I convention of the Women's Institutes was held in the Windsor Road Hall on Wednesday, June 29th with the president, Mrs. Harold Diamond, presiding and the secretary, Mrs. Freddie Turner recording the minutes. Mrs. Loren Thompson was pianist. Approximately one hundred guests were greeted and presented with novelty blue and yellow name cards by Mrs. E. L. Hughes and Mrs. Glynis Maud as they entered the hall which was decorated with the institute colors in motto and streamers, as well as with potted plants and apple blossoms. After the singing of "O Canada" the address of welcome was given by Mrs. Erith Hughes and replied to by Mrs. A. E. Piercy of South Milton. A minute of silence was observed in memory of sister members who had passed away. Mrs. L. G. Ramsay, ACW, delegate to the WI conference in Dublin, Ireland, described her trip vividly and also said that Irish hospitality is something to remember. Mrs. Dennis Charlottetown showed an interesting film on "Breast Cancer" and spoke briefly on the need of self-examination. Mrs. Richard Carson was in charge of the handicraft display. The many exhibits consisted of rugs, quilts, embroidered work and the luncheon cloths for the members of South Winsloe the Salada Tea competition. WI.

IDA BAILEY ALLEN Luxurious Lobster Tails Grand Casserole Entree

Busy homemakers, especially young mothers, would like to entertain guests more often at a simple dinner, but many of them find it difficult. To make it easier, plan a meal featuring the Main Dish that can be prepared in advance ready to complete or reheat at serving time. Before Guests' Arrival. All other foods should be readied in advance. The children's supper should be over the youngsters bathed and ready for bed at least half an hour before the guests arrive. Our dinner for guests today features a complete entree based on South African rock lobster tails. It is a gourmet dish at moderate price, because the rock lobster meat is creamed, then combined with mushrooms, whole kernel corn and grated Cheddar cheese. The milk, cheese and mushrooms all augment the high protein value of the lobster tails. This is a good example of how a gourmet-type food can be combined with suitable vegetables and other foods into a complete entree, easy to prepare, easy to serve, and really smart. Measurements are level; recipes serve 6 to 8. (CREAMED) ROCK LOBSTER AND CORN 6 (3 to 5 oz.) South African rock lobster tails

4 tsp. margarine
1 peeled medium onion, diced
4 tsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
4 tsp. pepper
2 c. heated milk
2 tsp. table-mustard
1 c. diced celery
1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 can (12 oz.) whole kernel corn, drained
2 c. grated Cheddar cheese
1 tsp. Angostura aromatic bitters
Drop frozen South African rock lobster tails into boiling salted water to cover. Simmer 6 min. Drain, drench with cold water. With kitchen scissors cut away thin underside membrane. Remove lobster tail meat from shells; cut into bite-size pieces.
In 2 1/2-qt. open casserole, melt margarine, add onion, saute 1 min. over low heat. Stir in flour, salt and pepper, when smooth gradually add hot milk, stirring over low heat until mixture thickens. Stir in table-mustard and celery, mushrooms, corn, grapes, cheese and Angostura.
Add rock lobster pieces and heat until bubbling.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Summer's Lovely Days Bring Happiness To All

The summer days, how we love them! We blend in surely some of their loveliness with the leaves we mix, and the meals we spread. And when "on bended knees" scrubbing a floor, the sunbeams gladdenly along our path, or a songbird's bright trill enters at the open door, or the clear, clean laugh of a child, whose cup too as ours is pressed down and running over with the joy of it all there, as though in Church, we give thanks. Yesterday, we recall a row of young laughter and chatter came in to us from the pair of lads, Peter and Gordie (Jamie's and Elva's son) who played happily in the yard. Now they were at the sandpile working with "pay-loaders" and other marvellous machines, surveying and laying and perfecting roads there. Then by way of a change, they left it presently to help us carry off to the woodshed, the dead branches James, in a spell of tidying, sawed off any lawn tree thus burdened. The willows, wide of bole and branch, are the worst offenders in this respect, even though every high wind sharpens in keeping them pruned. Yet fine shade trees they make, the laurel wafed especially fragrant and beautiful, the golden, bright twigged and attractive when others wear the quiet shades in keeping with those of the resting fields. And sometimes the pair, Peter, mature for his five years, and Gordie, about a year his junior, also a knowing chap, though lacking yet the fund of knowledge the former has picked up, went to other interests of play. "Let's play Indian," shall we say we overheard Peter suggest. "Yes, I'd like that!" Gordie smiled. "Well, in the first place" Peter reminded him soberly, "you have to think you're an Indian before you can rightly play one. No laughing now! We must be serious. Do you see what I mean?"

Bay Fortune UCW Meeting Held Recently

The Bay Fortune UCW met at the home of Mrs. Harry Burke for their June meeting, with twenty members and one visitor present. The "Psalm of Social Conscience" was the theme of the devotional period, which was conducted by Mrs. Reid Underhay, assisted by Mrs. Laura MacKenzie and Mrs. Edna Cook. The treasurer reported a nice sum was realized from the parcel post auction. The social reported receiving part of the order for dishes and silverware ordered earlier. Plans were made for catering at a Wedding Reception, in the near future. Mrs. Arthur Wood reported for the supply committee chairman. It was decided to pack a box of summer clothing in early July. Due to a vacancy on the manse committee, Mrs. Reid Underhay was appointed as the new chairman of this committee. Prize money was voted for two students, from the Bay Fortune Charge, ranking first and second, highest in the graduating class at Souris Regional High School. Mrs. Mildred Morrow will be in charge of the devotional period, at the July meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Eric MacKenzie. The members of the refreshment committee, for this meeting, will be, Mrs. Henry Townsend, Mrs. Charles Townsend, and Mrs. Lloyd Townsend. The meeting closed by the members repeating the UCW benediction.

Newtown WI Meeting Held

A meeting of Newtown WI was held recently at the home of Mrs. Michael Naddy, with the president, Mrs. Francis McKenna in the chair. Correspondence was read and dealt with. Mrs. Mory Kelly and Mrs. Helen Larkin were chosen as voting delegates to the district convention. Resolutions for the convention were discussed. The members agreed to assist in catering to the recent gathering at Northumberland Park of P. E. I. and N. S. Women's Institutes. It was also decided to provide treats for the children and teacher at the local school closing. A request was made for a member to lead the sing-song at the district convention. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Helen Reilly when roll call will be answered by a comment by each member.

The bride is a student nurse at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, and the groom is an employee of Air Canada.

First CYC Field Workers Named 'Voluntary Advisers'

ALERT BAY, B.C. (CP)—one of the first field workers for the newly-established company of Young Canadians. "If there is still a strong insistence on labelling us, grant us the title 'voluntary advisers'," Miss Kwok, 27, and Dal Brod-Emmet Driscoll, Edmonton, Alta., arrived on Friday July 1st to spend his vacation at his home at Kensington.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pidgeon, Streetsville, Ont., are visiting friends at Kensington and Charlottetown. They are guests at the Linkletter Motel, Summerside.

head, Mr. are voluntarily involved in this northern Vancouver Island fishing centre of 1,800 population. Two other field workers have been sent out by the CYC, one to Cape Breton and one to Halifax. It hopes to have 250 persons in the field by next March.

Set up by an act of Parliament, the Company has such objects as these: "Community development work, programs to assist young people who are handicapped economically or socially and school dropouts; vocational training and recreation projects for youth; public health programs and home economics education."

In addition to the work to be done in Canada, the CYC aims to send young men and women abroad to help with assistance programs to raise the standard of living in other countries.

Cam Mackie, 27, the CYC's director of domestic programs, emphasizes that it is free of government control.

"And we won't send members into communities unless the communities themselves ask us to come in."

Miss Kwok, who left Hong Kong last year to do graduate studies in social work at the University of Manitoba, and Mr. Brodhead, a political science graduate of McGill University, arrived here early in June at the invitation of the local Youth Guidance Committee. They hope to remain for two years.

They live in private homes, their room and board paid by CYC. They receive about $35 a month for incidental expenses but no salary.

"If other expenses are justifiable for our work we can apply and get them," says Mr. Brodhead. "What do they do? They help anyone in any way they can—but only if asked."
