STAGE GLINTS.

Bettina Girard has returned from Europe to enter the vaudeville field.
Maud Granger has been engaged for Franklin Fyles' "Flower Moyne."
Miss Elsie de Wolfe has gone to Paris to get a play from Marcel Prevost.
Chevalier, in his seven months' stay in America, pocketed over $48,000.
Lisle Leigh will be the leading lady of one of the Waite comedy companies.
Edward Arlington of the Ringling show will take out "Blue Jeans" next season.
About Better Overrun.
Question: Most of the patrons at our creamery bring milk, but a few bring cream only. Is it proper to allow anything for churn gain on the cream patrons when the pay is made according to the Babcock test? We find that cream testing from 17 to 23 per cent fat will gain from 30 to 45 per cent, while the gain on the whole product is only 12 to 15 per cent. We have been allowing a gain of 20 per cent on the cream patrons.
—H.
Answer: When the test is accurately made from representative samples, it is simply impossible to secure such overruns as are mentioned above. The overrun with cream should be a trifle more than with milk, for the reason that the unavoidable losses in separating have already been incurred. But this could not be estimated at more than 1 per cent all told. That is to say, if the overrun with milk is 15 per cent, cream should not show more than 16 per cent. The thing to do is to get a more accurate test of the cream. And it may be well to repeat here what has been said many times before, that it is simply impossible to test cream by the Babcock method if it is thick or sour, because the pipette will not take a correct representative sample.—Hoard's Dairyman.
Dairy and Creamery.
Excitement, pain, worry and fright make cows hold up their milk. Treat a cow like a queen, and you will get your reward.
The time seems to be near when a good cow, well treated, will yield 400 pounds of butter a year. This will make less work for both farmer and creameryman. The farmer will need to milk fewer cows, the creameryman will need to handle less milk.
One theory is that it is not well to feed a cow while she is being milked, because the eating distracts her attention from giving down the milk. Try both ways and see which is best.
Do you want to erect a monument to yourself that will last for generations? Then build a solid and handsome stone silo.
Never kick a cow or strike her. Never tie a rail or a chain across her back to make her give down her milk. This is barbarous. You only make the trouble worse.
Don't use milk pumps. They will necessarily become foul. Arrange your creamery so that milk will run down hill to where you want it; that, too, through spouts or pipes that can be very easily and thoroughly cleaned.
ECONOMY in taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because "100 doses one dollar" is peculiar to and true only of the One True BLOOD Purifier.

TROTTER AND PACER.

The meeting scheduled for July at Windsor, Ontario, has been postponed until August.
Mr. J. H. Weaver of Philadelphia has purchased the brown mare Madara, by Alcantara. The reported price is $1,000.
Mr. Perry Stackhouse, the well known Kentucky trainer who was recently shot by Breck Payne, was not seriously injured.
Cough Honey, the bay gelding that won the 2:50 class for pacers at Carnegie, Pa., is by Progression and is driven by J. W. Sayles.
May Bloom, a 6-year-old bay mare by Patron, out of May Morning, by Daniel Lambert, won the 2:45 class for trotters at Rockport, O.
Rect, by Direct, is a 3-year-old trotter in Monroe Salisbury's stable that recently stepped a half in 1:06 1/4 in a race at Denver.
While being exercised recently at Nicholasville, Ky., a 3-year-old filly by Pamlico reared and fell backward, breaking her neck.
The great brood mare Boadicea, by Hambletonian, died recently in foaling at the Patchen Wilkes farm, Lexington.—Turf, Field and Farm.
Trainer John Tilden recently drove

Child's Picnic Shoes

Trainer Harry Nethaway has evidently got a fast campaigner in the bay mare Florence C. At Rockport, O., recently she won the 2:28 class for pacers in straight heats in 2:23 1/2, 2:25, 2:22.
Senator A, 2:10, has thus far been given no fast miles by his owner and driver, Clarence Alexander. Senator A is a horse that comes to his speed slowly and is always best the latter end of the season.

Marie Studholme will return to America next season in a burlesque called "In Town."
Hal Reid, known as a handsome man, will play "Homespun Hearts," a play of his own make, next season.
There is serious opposition in London to the publication of plots of plays. Sydney Grundy heads the movement.
Nol Dan Kum, the Chinese actress, and her company are the attraction at the Beach Street Chinese theater, Boston.
Ritchie Ling will appear with Veronora Jarbeau in De Koven and Smith's new opera, "A Paris Doll," next season.
Al Canby is said to be arranging for comic opera in London, where he may engage principals for a company of his own.
Ernest Lawson will be seen next season as Bill Hawes, the schoolteacher, in Stuart Robson's production of "The Juuklins."
A new play by Walter Frith, called "The Mills of the Gods," will be produced by Mr. and Mrs. Kendal in London in the autumn.

In Oxford and Tan. Just the thing for this hot weather.
