Hootenanny Climaxes PWC Winter Carnival

The most successful winter carnival in the history of Prince of Wales College came to a close Saturday evening with a hootenanny with the Sons of Erin. All events were attended by large crowds and college spirit was especially evident at the major events. The carnival was reported successful financially although no figures were available last evening.

The 1966 Carnival was opened Wednesday night by Lieut. Governor W.J. MacDonald and a brilliant torchlite parade followed.

At the conclusion of the parade everyone made his way to the Basilica Recreation Centre for a performance by the Villagers. The group proved so popular with the audience, it was called back for two extended curtain calls.

Thursday night was the night of the ball and the students turned out in force for this big occasion as it proved to be one of the more successful events of the college year.

Friday night, the Prince of Wales College cultural committee presented its 1966 Red and Blue Revue, "God Save O' Canada" to a standing room audience at the Confederation Centre Theatre.

This was one of the most enjoyable and certainly best attended event of the college's four-day carnival. The show was written, produced, and acted by the students under the direction of Sally Martin.

LIVELY SHOW

From the opening strains of the overture to the finale, the show was a lively one, packed with humor and music, skillfully combined to result in "an almost professional show." The timely and pointed jokes ranged from popular jazz groups to the RCMP and included jabs at the causeway, Expo '67 and several of the P.W.C. faculty members. The many straight musical numbers showed a crossection of talent throughout the college and were greatly appreciated by the audience.

The main cast consisted of Peter MacKinnon, Glen Saunders, Joyce Lowther, Pam MacKinnon, Margo Mitton, Steve Foster, Brian Pollard, Ginny Gledhill, Gerri Harris, Peter Murchison, Mary Campbell, Betty Nicolle and John Anderson.

STAFF ADVISOR

Staff advisor was Ben Leonard and back-stage hands included Wendell Boyle and his stage crew, David Loynd, make-up under Richard Baldwin and the wardrobe was organized by Connie Cullen and her committee. Ruth Lacey and Jim Beardsley supplied the major part of the music.

Roses were presented to Miss Martin and after the show, a reception was held at Montgomery Hall, where an inscribed silver tray was presented to Robert Dubberley, whose professional advice in the production was invaluable.

PANCAKE BREAKFAST

Also Friday sleepy scholars were found at Montgomery Hall early in the morning for a pancake breakfast which was followed by a toboggan party at Tea Hill. In the afternoon an Edgar Allan Poe thriller, "Tomb of Legeia" was shown at the theatre party at the Capitol. Saturday was College Day, the annual sports competition with Kings College of Halifax.

SDU Debaters Prepare For Opening Session

St. Dunstan's University debaters open the season at home Tuesday, Feb. 8 when they face the University of New Brunswick in the debate: "Resolved that apartheid is a desirable policy for the Republic of South Africa." SDU will debate the negative side of the question.

Representing SDU will be Kenneth McInnis, a senior arts student from Souris, and Charles McMillan, a junior arts student from Charlottetown.

The debate will be held in the SDU auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

This is the second year Mr. McInnis has taken part in intercollegiate debating. Last year he was a member of the team which won a unanimous decision over St. Francis Xavier debaters in Antigonish.

Mr. McInnis holds a commission in the Royal Canadian Navy, is vice-president of the debating society and is a former chairman of the SDU Winter Carnival.

During his time with the RCN he travelled extensively in Canada and abroad and is closely associated with the position of minority groups in this and other countries.

BEAT MT. A

Mr. McMillan is also in his second year with the SDU division of the Maritime Intercollegiate Debating League. Last year he was a member of the team which beat Mt. Allison unanimously.

He was president of his sophomore class, handles publicity for SDU athletic teams and was chairman of this year's highly successful Winter Carnival. He is also treasurer of the debating society.

Last summer, Mr. McMillan was the recipient of a centennial scholarship to Laval University, Quebec, and spent the summer there learning conversational French.

President of St. Dunstan's debating society, Dave Campbell, is confident of a successful year for his debaters.

KEEN GROUP

"We have a very keen group this year," he said, "and we feel confident we can win the Maritime championship once again."

SDU debaters have captured the Maritime crown eight times, the Dominion of Canada title twice, and have been in the Canadian finals on six other occasions. Debating coach is Rev. Dr. F.W.P. Bolger, head of the history department at SDU.

There is no admission fee for Tuesday's debate, and the public is invited to attend.

Legion Sponsors Dancing Course

MONTAGUE — One applicant was admitted into membership in the Montague Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion at the regular monthly meeting held in the Legion Home on Thursday, Feb. 3. The meeting, which was well attended, was presided over by the president, Stewart Dewar.

Reports from the various standing committees indicated that the branch was active and had a successful month in all phases of their work.

During the month Mr. Dewar presented crests donated by the branch to the Montague Legion Baseball team which won the Maritime championship the past season.

Millar Matheson reported that the cribbage tournament for the Branch championship was being played each Tuesday with about 12 teams competing for the honor of representing the branch in the county and Island finals.

He said that any teams which wished to enter could still do so and be eligible for the championship by having their scores adjusted for the nights already played by the others.

DANCING COURSE

The entertainment committee reported that the course in modern dancing had begun on Wednesday with 20 couples participating and the number is expected to increase to approximately 30 couples for the next night.

The instructor, Mrs. Evelyn Edgett, who operates the Moncton School of Dancing, is a gold medalist in ballroom dancing. The course has proven very popular and all those participating enjoyed the evening of instruction and fun.

The ways and means committee reported that two projects for raising money for Legion purposes are underway at present and both are a success to date.

Past President L.H. Martin, who is chairman of the Branch committee for the Dominion Command $1,000,000 Centennial Fund announced that plans are being made for a project for raising the Branch share, in addition to donations from members and interested citizens.

Briefly describing the project, Mr. Martin said that the money is to provide a trust fund which will perpetuate the work the Legion is now doing when membership declines in the future. The work includes track and field promotion and encouragement of the youth of Canada in all sports, scholarships and bursaries awards to students, providing of low rental housing for all aged citizens, sponsoring of Scouts and Cubs and continuing service to all veterans and their dependents.

The objective of the national fund is $1,000,000 to be raised by July 1st, 1967. Mr. Martin expressed the belief that the branch objective would be attained well before that date.

World's Leading Scientists Differ On Luna Achievement

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Leading scientists throughout the world differed on whether the Soviet Union's soft landing of an unmanned space capsule on the moon gave the Russians the lead over the United States in the race to put a man on the moon.

President Johnson and Vice-President Hubert Humphrey congratulated the Russians in the success of Luna IX.

In Paris, Professor Pierre Tardy, a member of the French Academy of Science, said the soft landing does not mean Russia had taken the lead in the race to put a man on the moon.

A space rendezvous would be of vital importance in any manned moon probe.

Gen. Robert Aubinieres, director of France's Center for Space Studies, said the Luna landing "is an absolutely extraordinary achievement."

"The Russians have shown they are completely on top of space program which they are carrying out with considerable determination."

IS HISTORIC FEAT

In London, Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's giant radio-telescope station at Jodrell Bank, said, "This is an historic moment and gives the Russians an advantage over the Americans in landing a man on the moon."

Sir Harrie Massey, chairman of Britain's space committee, said, "I think it is a remarkably successful enterprise. This is the next big step in the study of the moon. Their instruments should give quite a lot of important information."

Dr. L. R. Shepherd, president of the British Interplantery Society said, "I think it is a very great step forward. I would rate that much more difficult than the orbit rendezvous recently achieved by the Americans."
