Butterscotch Meringue Baked Into A High Pie

IT takes at least 3 glasses of milk or the equivalent in dairy foods, along with other foods ordinarily eaten, to insure enough calcium for a normal adult — approximately whole gram or 1,000 milligrams of calcium each day. However, each child needs approximately 1 qt. of fresh whole milk a day.

Problem Solved

Viewed in terms of food costs, the high milk bill almost swamps many budgets. The solution: buy homogenized (whole milk) for drinking; buy tall cans of evaporated (unsweetened) milk for cooking, and reconstitute it with an equal amount of water to use whenever a recipe calls for milk.

Evaporated milk is canned, pure whole milk from which half the water has been removed by exposure to heat. In some cases, this process may result in a slightly cooked flavor — a taste similar to that acquired when a casserole, baked pudding, sauce or other dish is prepared with fresh milk.

Evaporated milk costs approximately 14 cents or less for a tall can; this is under half the price of fresh whole milk per qt. Mix evaporated milk with water as directed on the can; refrigerate in a qt. glass jar. Use in place of fresh milk in any and all recipes. The high milk bill problem can be solved.

CGIT Groups To Observe Anniversary This Sunday

On Sunday afternoon, February 28th at 3.00 p.m. the Canadian Girls in Training of Valleyfield and Orwell Head United Churches will join with the CGIT groups from the Montague Baptist, Presbyterian and United churches to observe the 50th anniversary of the founding of this movement.

Study Book Presented By WMS Members

One new member was welcomed at the February meeting of the Myrtle Rhoad Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society, held at the home of Mrs. George Tannahill, Kensington.

The president, Mrs. Horace Payne, opened the meeting with the theme "God's Power in the Early Church" followed by prayer, hymn 412 and the creed repeated in unison. Scripture was read responsibly and the Exposition was read by Mrs. Earl Semple.

Prayer was offered by each member, followed by the Lord's Prayer. Six members answered roll call with a verse of scripture.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary Mrs. Lorne Crozier, and the offering was received and dedicated by the president. A letter from the president of the Presbyterian, Mrs. Larier, was read by the president.

The study book was presented by Mrs. Tannahill on the chapter, "Mission on our Doorstep," with each member taking part. Hymn 59 was repeated.

The president invited the members to her home for the March meeting. Meeting closed with Psalm 84, followed by the benediction.

The entire service will be conducted by girls representing each group. The Message will be brought by Sherren MacKinnon of the Valleyfield CGIT and the choir will be composed of all CGIT members, who will present two anthems.

Offering received at this service will be used for a special Indonesian Project. Because one of the greatest needs of the Indonesian church is for leadership training, the Canadian Girls in Training are giving $50,000.00 to build and maintain a camp and conference centre near Djakarta, the Indonesian capital. This is a token of thanksgiving for 50 years of growth and service to Canadian teenaged girls. It is to be an outright gift to the Indonesian Council of Churches, $35,000.00 is to be used to purchase the site and put up the buildings, and $15,000.00 is to be set aside to maintain the centre. It is hoped that the centre will provide camping experience for children and young people and opportunities for training of leaders.

The public is invited to attend and it is hoped there will be a large number present.

SCROLL WORK

ELLEN'S DIARY

This Weather Allowed For Deviation In Schedule

There was, as was to be expected, snow to be cleared away from some doorways this morning. Even while little drifts continued to wander restlessly, like serene leaves of autumn blown hither and yon, along the yards and the fields.

"We're not too badly off in that if we can't get in to tend the animals by one door in the barns or stables, we can by another," Mack reckoned. "That is something farmers should allow for when they are building their barns; they should see that there are more entrances than one."

Though he had sunshine at his back when on foot this afternoon, he faced into the wind, braving the drifts of the roadway to tend the stock that winter in a far barn, it was, he said, "not the most enjoyable experience" for him. This outing included not only putting out supplies of hay and grain, spreading fresh bedding for the animals, but also a snow trek to break away an area of matted snow from "the streamlet's brink" so that they might have easy access to its flow.

At Alderlea, today's weather allowed for some deviation from the usual schedule. No horse was hitched, no hauling done. And watching the little drifts run, we remembered how all in all gracious February had been. And pictured the charms of the springtime now day by day drawing near...

An Irish stew, we made for supper, its base pieces of beef from a share of the "quarter" which had come in to be wrapped piece by piece and stewed planned to finish reading that book. And "Oh dear!" we sighed in our heart. And then away the very evening we had

MARY HAWORTH

Man's Criticism Is Mean Little Diversion Is Needed

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I think he felt the same about me until, in the midst of our long separation during World War II, he fell for a sexy attractive young woman and forced an end to our marriage.

His next marriage ended in divorce too, as his second wife was continually unfaithful. My second husband (a social drinker when we married) became alcoholic and threatened to kill me and the children (two by my first marriage and two by that marriage). Psychiatrists advised me to leave him and I did. Not a good record for either of us, I know.

The immediate problem is that Joe resents my leaving the house during the day, even for groceries. He considers it "being out having a good time." But being new here (it takes a time to make friends) I get depressed if I stay indoors, day after day.

Until June, when school closed for the summer, my weekly routine was: a bridge game with neighbors one day a week from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.; a half-day's grocery shopping another day, a half-day's department store shopping a third day, and a regular weekly afternoon beauty shop appointment a fourth day.

Now, after all this preface, my question is: What are a wife's duties and obligations to husband, children and homemaker? P.S.: I honestly enjoy making my family happy. B. F.

Dear B.F.: As you can see, I've cut your letter to less than half its original length.

Much of the detail I've omitted, for space-saving reasons, suggests that you are a kind person, unjustly oppressed and depressed by your husband's mean-minded resentment of your essentially wholesome housewifely outings, to the food shops, the drygoods stores, the beauty parlor and to the neighbor's for bridge.

You say he respects my judgment, considers me to be a common sense person. Very well then, on the strength of that, may I tell him that, in my opinion, he hasn't a leg to stand on in badgering you about coming in and going innocently (as described) on your own initiative, according to a harmless pattern of enjoying life that is practised by the majority of good housewives on this continent, who have time and the courage to spend when their young are in school.

I'd like him to please understand, furthermore, that you haven't tried to put him in a poor light. Rather you've leaned over backward trying to state the case objectively, for what it may be worth to a disinterested umpire, and you voiced regret that he didn't share in the
