'Strive For Excellence' Conference Is Urged

"The Greeks had a word for it, they called it ARETE, meaning, a continuous striving for excellence. It embraced every phase of life, mental, moral and physical.

"ARETE probably expressed the idealism and philosophy behind the ancient Olympic games."

These were the opening remarks made by Professor John H. Passmore of the Ontario College of Education, in his address to more than 100 members who attended the Atlantic Provinces Physical and Recreation Association banquet at Montgomery Hall, Saturday night.

Speaking on the conference theme "live, don't just exist", Professor Passmore asked "why do we spend so much time and money teaching the youth of our country how to make a living—and fail to educate them to live successfully?

"We must recognize that in the final analysis, the work of the schools is to develop human beings with, faith — courage — conviction — and wisdom."

Premier Walter R. Shaw injected a note of humor as he extended hearty commendation of the APPERA conference. The head table guests were piped to their seats by conference manager, John Evans.

Mrs. Evelyn Cudmore, president of APPERA extended thanks to Jack Wilkie, Saskatchewan, president of the Parks and Recreation Association of Canada, and to Miss Helen Gurney of the Ontario department of education, for their contribution to the conference.

Others to receive special words of thanks were, Miss Ginnie Archibald, who conducted a session on child drama, and Dr. Malcolm N. Beck, who spoke on mental health and the role of physical education.

Eric Kipping, superintendent of the National Park spoke on the subject of space for the future. Professor Passmore at the conclusion of his address was thanked by David Boswell, provincial director of physical education.

Sherwood Hospital Receives Piano From Travellers Order

The executive and officers of the Order of United Commercial Travellers, Local 859, visited Sherwood Hospital Saturday afternoon for the purpose of presenting a piano to the home for retarded children, for the use of the patients.

The presentation was made by senior councillor, George Vessey, Charlottetown, with Dr. M. N. Beck medical superintendent of the hospital accepting the piano on behalf of the children.

Dr. Beck expressed appreciation on behalf of the staff and the children, and made particular mention of the work of the piano committee, made up of, Lee Tombs, Winsloe; Roy Smallman, Charlottetown, who is also president of the P.E.I. Retarded Children's Association, and Robert Currie, Charlottetown.

Following the presentation the visitors were taken on a tour of the establishment by Dr. Beck, who explained to his guests the complete function and aims of the institution.

Canada's Reaction To Cuban Crisis Impressed Queens MP

"I was greatly impressed by the manner in which Canada reacted to the Cuban crisis," Heath Macquarrie, MP for Queens said in Charlottetown yesterday.

"Our political leaders, led by the prime minister, and in large, members supported by other party spokesmen, indicated at once we stood with the United States.

"At the same time, it must not be forgotten that Canada, although informed of the momentous action, was not consulted concerning the decision to be taken.

"Under all the circumstances, I think we can applaud our own leaders who avoided panic and scare headlines in the face of a crisis of momentous magnitude for our nation and for the whole world," Mr. Macquarrie said.

He referred to his role in the United Nations General Assembly as a "most interesting and stimulating experience for anyone to be called upon to represent his country in moments of grave international crisis."

He said he was in the honored position of "sitting at Canada's chair when Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Zorlan confronted each other in the Security Council in the days of the great debate between the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

"I was filled with admiration in the manner in which Ambassador Stevenson presented the United States' case. Like many other observers I could not help but notice how, in a few days time, Mr. Khrushchev tore the ground from under his own representative, who had denied the existence of offensive missile bases in Cuba."

The Queens member said he had the honor of introducing in the special political committee, a resolution designed to further a concerted world-wide setting on the effects of radiation.

"A short while before leaving for Charlottetown this weekend, I had the privilege of seeing the resolution carried without a single negative vote," he said.

Regarding the local scene, Mr. Macquarrie said he first heard of the election when he was in New York. He said he would like to spend as much time as possible on the Island campaigning for the election but at the same time he could not neglect his parliamentary duties.

He said he hoped to be at the Progressive Conservative nominating convention next weekend.

E. Blanchard Plans To Seek City Nomination

Elmer Blanchard, Charlottetown lawyer, said last night he will definitely offer for nomination for the Liberals in Fifth Queens.

Alex. A. MacIsaac, former Labor minister in the Matheson government, said last night that "he cannot offer at this time as he is building up a new business, although he will be closely associated with the party in their campaign for re-election".

There was still no word on what other candidate might offer for the Liberals. The PCs have the two sitting members in Hon. J. D. Stewart and M. Alban Farmer.

It has been learned definitely that Alexander MacPherson, Bellevue is available again as a candidate for the PCs if the convention wants him. He ran last time in Fourth Queens with Wellington MacNeill, Southport, who has indicated he also is available again if the party wants him to run.
