

Honors On 41
Are Conferred
By Sir Alec

LONDON (CP) — Former Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home exercised the privilege of an outgoing government leader by conferring honors on 41 persons.

Nine new peerages are created. Three of the new peers were elevated from the House of Commons, meaning that three by-elections will be needed. All will be in safe Conservative constituencies, and they will enable the Conservative Party to find Commons seats for three former ministers who were defeated in the October election.

The three new peers from the Commons are Col. John Morrison, former chairman of the Conservative backbenchers' committee and a power in Tory politics; Mrs. Evelyn Emmet, the daughter of a baron, who becomes a life peeress; and Frederick Erroll, former power minister.

The three Commons vacancies will give a chance for former ministers Anthony Barber, Geoffrey Rippon and Maurice Macmillan to be elected.

Sir Hugh Fraser, chief of the huge Fraser department store chain and chairman of the board of the Glasgow Herald newspaper, was created a baron (peer) "for political and public services."

Lord Tweedsmuir, son of the late author John Buchan, one-time Canadian governor-general, was made a commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Former Home Secretary Henry Brooke was awarded membership in the exclusive companionship of Honor, which carries no title.

His wife, Dame Barbara Brooke, former joint vice-president of the Conservative Party organization, became a life peeress with the title of baroness.

Lord Tweedsmuir, 53, has retained close Canadian connections. He spent some time in the Canadian North in 1937-38 and later wrote a book about his experiences called Hudson's Bay Trader. He revisited the North on the business trip in 1953.

Many Refugees
In Miami Are Double Style

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Many persons in Miami's exile colony of 100,000 might be called double refugees — first from China then Cuba.

More than 1,000 Chinese who fled to Cuba after Communists took over China 12 years ago packed up and moved a second time with the advent of Premier Fidel Castro's Red regime, says Ramon G. Chiong.

Chiong, president of Cuba's Chinese colony for 12 years, came here with Chinese embassy personnel in 1960 when Nationalist China and Communist Cuba severed relations.

All, he says, more than 1,000 Chinese have left Cuba since 1959. There were 30,000 Chinese there, he says.

Those remaining, Chiong says, sometimes run into difficulties that he attributed partly to a new Chinese Communist colony.

Ninety-five per cent of the old Chinese colony in Cuba is anti-Communist, he said. Many of them are in prison; others have been sent to concentration camps.

"Many others must report to the Communist Chinese embassy every week to be brainwashed. The idea is to try to make Communists out of them."

Pope's Crown
Goes To U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pope Paul's jewel-studded gold and silver crown, which he surrendered in a symbolic gesture of help for the poor, has been given to the United States for permanent display.

Francis Cardinal Spellman has revealed to a gathering of Roman Catholic clergy that the crown had been given to the United States in gratitude for all that Americans have done for the poor of the world. In the past 20 years, a spokesman for the cardinal said, Catholic relief services have distributed $1,300,000,000 in food, clothing and medicine.

Cardinal Spellman said the crown, valued at $10,000, will be displayed first at St. Patrick's Cathedral here, later at the Vatican pavilion at the world's fair. After an subsequent U.S. wide tour, it is to be placed permanently in the national shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C.
