BLAME 23 DEATHS YESTERDAY ON HEAT WAVE OVER MUCH OF THE U.S.

CHICAGO (CP) — At least 23 deaths were attributed Wednesday to a record heat wave which hit large sections of the United States.

However, a cool front out of the Rockies was tugging the heat across the west and brought hope to states hard-hit by the scorching weather.

Oklahoma recorded 11 heat deaths, Missouri 7, Colorado 4 (all drownings), Illinois 3, Kentucky 2, and Iowa, Louisiana, Nebraska, Kansas and Pennsylvania 1 each. The drownings were mostly deaths of persons seeking relief from the extreme heat.

Temperatures in the 100s stretched across the country from Iowa to the Atlantic coast and in the 90s across the northern tier of states to the east coast as far north as Boston.

The Rochester area was in its 41st drought-ridden day. Jacksonville, Ill., recorded 113.5 degrees by early afternoon, a record for the city.

St. Louis hit a record of 112.3, breaking a mark of 110.2 set July 24, 1934. Four deaths were attributed to the heat.

Springfield, Ill., had its hottest day ever, 113.8, and Fulton and Mexico, Mo., had a record 115.

But as cool breezes swept in over the upper Mississippi valley and the Great Lakes regions, thermometers dropped quickly into the 70s.

Cooler spots in the country were Seattle where the weather bureau reported the temperature as 56 degrees.

Giant Iceberg Near Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., (CP)—A giant iceberg 275 feet above sea level is floating near the shores of Conception Bay on Newfoundland's east coast.

The berg, a freshwater glacier with one-eighth of it above water, is about 14 miles from shore. Another iceberg, 150 feet high, is also in the bay. Warnings have been issued to all ships in the area.

Report Heavy Flood Damage In Czechoslovakia

VIENNA, (Reuters)—Entire villages in Czechoslovakia were reported Wednesday night to have disappeared beneath the waters of the rising Danube as the angry river's crest passed eastward through the Iron Curtain.

In Austria, where flood damage has been the worst of the century, the crisis was believed past. The Danube's water level started to fall in Vienna in mid-afternoon after flooding many sections of the capital.

But Russian and United States troops still were fighting to protect threatened land. Near Tullin air force base servicemen of the two countries were working together to shore up weakened dikes.

Churchill, Attlee Clash Over Seat For Red China In U. N.

Attlee Says Dulles Plays Into Red China Hands

By RANALD MacLURKIN

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill Wednesday accused Opposition Leader Attlee of damaging Anglo-American relations through his stinging criticism of United States policies in the Far East and Europe.

Churchill rose in wrath immediately after Attlee told the House of Commons the Korean problem could not be solved without seating Communist China in the United Nations and without "penalizing off" Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Formosa.

Attlee also said that the failure of U.S. State Secretary Dulles to return to the Indo-China talks to Geneva is "playing right into the hands of the Communists."

In addition, he demanded a House discussion on Churchill's announcement of an Anglo-American plan to grant West Germany sovereignty if the European Army treaty is not ratified next month.

ANGRY RETORT

Aroused in particular by Attlee's criticism of the U.S. stand on Communist China, Churchill said: "I can assure him the speech which he had made will undoubtedly leave a bad impression in America and make more difficult a settlement of the many awkward questions with which we have to deal in common with the United States."

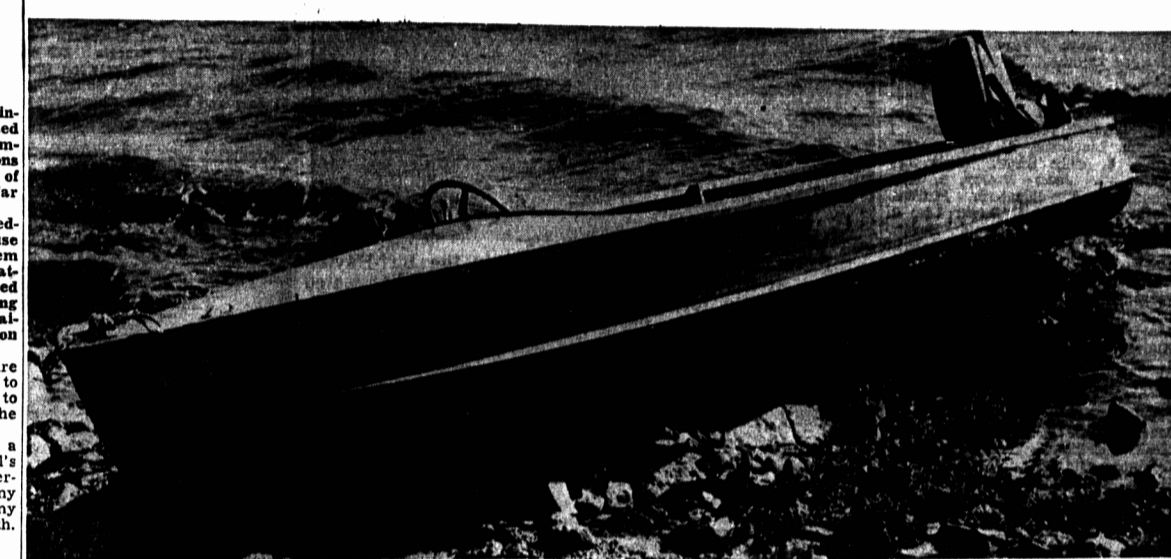

Churchill was more specific than Monday in speaking against a UN seat "at the moment" for Communist China. He said Wednesday the first date that the question could be raised would be in September when a new UN General Assembly session begins.

"We feel it might be better for all concerned and for all interests represented that it should be postponed until a later period," Churchill said that forcing the issue now would "complicate altogether" the grave international problems and would be regarded as "a most harsh and uncalculated" action by the United States.

Attlee jumped up to deny he had called for Communist China's entry into the UN at "this very moment." Earlier, Attlee had said his party felt it was wrong, unwise and contrary to the principles of the UN to keep Communist China out.

Launch Involved In Death Of 12 Youngsters

The launch from which 12 youngsters perished Tuesday while on a pleasure cruise on Lake of Two Mountains, 20 miles from Montreal, is shown here after it drifted ashore. The tragedy occurred when a large wave tipped the boat, spilling 16 children and two adults into the choppy water. Five youngsters were rescued.

Fails In Move To Seize TCA Plane

SEATTLE, (AP)—A husky 21-year-old Tacoma farmhand was seized by deputy sheriffs and state patrolmen at the Seattle-Tacoma international airport Wednesday after an attempt was made to commandeer a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane and two shots were fired at a stewardess.

The man was identified as Edmund Andrew Eddie Marmur.

The man said later in a signed statement, County Detective Jack Appel reported, that he "wanted to go to Africa and live in the jungle." The stewardess, Isabel Abraham, 24, of Vancouver was not injured.

Sheriff's officers and state patrolmen surrounded the plane after he escaped to give the alarm. They ordered the man inside to throw his weapon out and come out with his hands up. It discharged as it hit the runway. Marmur was seized and taken to the county jail.

Miss Abraham was alone in the plane, preparing to start loading passengers, she said, when she saw the man sitting in a front seat. He mumbled something, then pulled the gun, a .45 calibre automatic pistol.

"He told me to sit down," she said. "I ran down the aisle. Just as I rounded the last seat he fired the first shot. I thought he had me."

Ontario's Wellington County Celebrates 100 Years of Scottish Background

FERGUS, Ont. (CP)—A century of growth on farmland laid by sturdy pioneers will be reviewed by 45,000 Wellington county residents during a three-day celebration starting Friday.

One hundred years ago, the county was a strip of land stretching from Mount Forest to Guelph. Today, from the stout Scottish settlers who gave it birth, Fergus has grown into a prosperous centre of industry engaged in everything from short-horn-raising to the manufacture of washing machines.

Throughout the county, buildings which went up in settlement days still stand. Lacrosse and curling are "the" sports and in Fergus, where many families are in the fourth and fifth generation, the average passer-by on the main street has a name beginning with Mac.

OLD FLOUR MILLS

Dotting the banks of the Grand river, which slices through the county's rich central Ontario farmlands, are old flour mills. Many of them operate in the way they did when grain was pulled by horse-carts.

Adam Ferguson will be honored in toast and speech this week-end. He was the fiery Scot after whom the town was named, the man who discouraged any but Scottish settlers from building in the region which he had decided would be a second Scotland.

There will also be a toast to 82-year-old "Stubby" Graham, in his youth a skating champion and still a curler of renown. He remembers the first car that came to Fergus.

LOOKED LIKE BUGGY

"It didn't seem to be the real article," he said, "it looked too much like a buggy."

To commemorate the centenary, a new museum is being opened at Elora, and beauty queens are being chosen for Miss Wellington County, 1900 and 1954.

Bathing suits have been ruled out in the modern contest—only evening dresses will be worn—the girls entering the 1900 parade will have to bring their own crinolines.

PERFORM SECOND THORNE AUTOPSY

CHICAGO, (AP)—A team of eight pathologists Wednesday performed a second autopsy in an effort to learn what caused the mysterious death of Montgomery Ward Thorne 20-year-old heir to a mail order fortune.

Dr. Jerry Kearns, physician for coroner Walter E. McCarron, told reporters after the autopsy that "the preliminary examination was completed."

"A subsequent examination consisting of microscopic and toxicological tests are necessary," Dr. Kearns added in a statement. "It is hoped this will be complete in two weeks."

A previous autopsy report indicated Thorne died violently from a combination of narcotics, alcohol and sleeping drugs. This report was questioned by some pathologists, however, and Thorne's body was exhumed.

MAKE BUYING EASIER

LONDON (Reuters)—The government Tuesday relaxed restrictions on installment buying. The board of trade revoked down payment and full payment within 18 months on all installment plan purchases. Goods affected will include radios, television sets, phonographs, refrigerators and motor vehicles.

Conservative Quits Party In Revolt Over Suez

LONDON (Reuters)—A revolt within the Conservative party over the handling of Suez canal base negotiations with Egypt reached a climax Wednesday when one of Prime Minister Churchill's supporters resigned from the party in protest.

The resigning Conservative, Maj. Henry Legge-Bourke, 40, who will now sit as an independent, told reporters his action was "precipitated by the government's decision to reopen negotiations with Egypt on terms which include the total evacuation of British troops from Egyptian territory."

"My disagreement with the present Conservative party lies deeper than this," he added.

Unofficial reports from Cairo Tuesday said that long-standing differences between Britain and Egypt over the evacuation of British troops from the strategic base have been narrowed.

Capt. Charles Waterhouse, leader of the 40-strong Conservative back-benchers group, which opposes withdrawing all British fighting troops from the Suez, said in Wednesday's House of Commons foreign affairs debate that the Anglo-Egyptian talks were coming too soon.

Waterhouse said the time was not ripe as long as Salah Salem, Egyptian minister of national guidance, suggested that Egypt "could not fight Palestine with the British lurking behind our backs."

Churchill made only brief reference to the issue when he spoke in the debate. This evidently left many of the critics still frustrated, though there were no hints of further resignations.

Hottest July 14

TORONTO, (CP)—Toronto sweltered through its hottest July 14th on record Wednesday as the mercury climbed to a sizzling 98.3 degrees. Previous record for the day was established in 1888 when the temperature reached 93.

Two more days of hot weather are forecast for the Toronto area. But after that cold air from the north may bring relief.

Boy Dies In Dentist's Chair

OTTAWA (CP)—A 12-year-old boy, Raymond Whissell, died under anaesthetic Wednesday while having teeth extracted in the office of a dentist in suburban Eastview.

An autopsy was made immediately but the results of the post-mortem were not immediately announced. Coroner Dr. Harry Dover said an inquest undoubtedly will be held.

Dr. Dover said the boy apparently died in the dentist's chair in the office of Dr. P. D. Brunet after the first of four teeth to be extracted was pulled.

Announce Plans For New Highway

TORONTO, (CP)—Eighty miles of four-lane controlled-access highway will be built from a point 4 1/2 miles west of Brockville, Ont., Highway Minister Doucet of Ontario announced Wednesday at a meeting of provincial government officials and representatives of St. Lawrence River municipalities.

He said the road, part of Highway 401, is expected to cost $30,000,000. The project would be rushed through initial planning stages because department engineers classed it as urgent.

See French Taking Firmer Stand Against Peace At Any Price Deal With Reds

By SEAGHAN MAYNES
Reuters Staff Writer

The United States decision to have ministerial representation at the final phase of the Indo-China peace talks at Geneva is seen by diplomats in Washington as proof that France now is ready to take a firm stand against a "peace at any price" deal with the Communists.

This reasoning is based on the belief that President Eisenhower would not have agreed to the return to Geneva of Walter Bedell Smith, undersecretary of state, if he thought the French were preparing for a "sell-out" as some congressional critics of French policy have suggested.

The president himself made it plain at his weekly press conference Wednesday that he considered high-level United States representation at Geneva would be helpful to the allied negotiators, particularly France's Premier Mendes-France, who has pledged himself to get an Indo-China ceasefire by next Tuesday or resign.

Both France and Britain would have preferred to see State Secretary Dulles return to Geneva and there was considerable disappointment in Britain and dismay in France when Dulles at a press conference last week said neither he nor Smith had any plans to go back to the negotiations.

The fact that the Paris talks resulted in the decision on Smith's return is regarded in Washington as a partial diplomatic victory for the French premier who had apparently convinced Dulles that, with the support of the United States, he would be in a stronger position to resist unreasonable Communist demands in the Indo-China settlement terms.

It had been generally accepted in Washington that the United States reluctance to have high-level participation in the closing stages of the Geneva negotiations was based on a feeling that they would result in a settlement which would be extremely distasteful to the United States.

PRESSURE EXERTED

This viewpoint was given prominent expression in Congress where a powerful bloc, headed by the Republican majority leader, Senator William Knowland, was exerting pressure on the White House and the state department to shun all further negotiations with the Communists on the grounds that the British and French were bent on appeasement.

To Use Mice In Stratosphere Test

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (CP)—Helium-filled plastic balloons will carry crews of mice and fruit flies 17 miles into the stratosphere this month from bases in Michigan as part of a scientific research project to obtain cosmic ray data.

The tests are being run by the United States air force working with the Winzen Research Inc., of St. Paul, Minn.

The balloons carry radio equipment with special cages for the biological specimens.

If the animals survive their first trip, proving them resistant to cosmic radiation, they will be launched again.

Eden, French Premier Return To Conference

GENEVA, (Reuters)—British Foreign Secretary Eden flew back to Geneva Wednesday night from Paris and told Russia's Vyacheslav Molotov that the Indo-China peace negotiations should be resumed here as soon as possible.

Eden returned with French Premier Perre Mendes-France from the Paris meeting with U.S. State Secretary Dulles and called on Molotov 45 minutes after his arrival.

Eden assured Molotov that nothing had happened in the three-power Paris talks to interfere with the negotiations here, authoritative sources said.

Molotov was reported to have been angered when Eden and Mendes-France quit the conference here on short notice to meet with Dulles. A formal statement issued here Tuesday by Tass, the Soviet news agency, denounced the Paris meeting.

Eisenhower Appears Trying To Rebuild Co-operation Among Western Powers

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday the Geneva Conference in response to urgent pleas from British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Premier Mendes-France.

Eisenhower spoke out at a press conference about the time that State Secretary Dulles was agreeing at Paris to restore high-level American representation at the Geneva Conference in response to urgent pleas from British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Premier Mendes-France.

Eisenhower said the United States has a great concern to keep a united front on fundamental principles with its chief allies, Britain and France.

REBUILD CO-OPERATION

Thus the Eisenhower administration appeared to be striving to rebuild the co-operation of the western powers into some of its old effectiveness. These developments fitted into the picture:

1. Eisenhower announced that South Korean President Syngman Rhee will visit him July 26 for a discussion of Korea's future in view of the failure of the Geneva Conference to agree on Korean unification.

2. Congress was asked in a letter from State Secretary Dulles to approve splitting the issues of West German independence and West German re-armament so that sovereignty may be granted even if France fails to approve the European Defence Community this summer.

CONFER WITH DULLES

3. Eisenhower said that he will confer with Dulles immediately after the secretary returns here and the state department announced he is due to arrive at 9:30 p.m. today.

4. Following the president's press conference, the White House announced that Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith will fly to Geneva late Friday to join Eden and Mendes-France in negotiating with Russia's Vyacheslav Molotov and Red China's Chou En-lai for peace in Indo-China.

Dulles' decision not to return to Geneva himself kept him free to assess an American hand-off policy if any Indo-China plan agreed to by the French proved impossible for the American government.

Dragging For Missing Bodies 's Continued

MONTREAL, (CP)—Dragging operations continued Wednesday for the bodies of seven of the 12 Negro children drowned Tuesday when their pleasure boat capsized in the wind-whipped waters of Lake of Two Mountains.

Silent knots of spectators watched from the rocky beach, 20 miles northwest of Montreal, as police and volunteers criss-crossed the spot 100 yards from shore where the 15-foot boat sank, taking 12 of the 16 youngsters on board to the bottom of the picturesque lake.

Only five bodies have been recovered late Wednesday. Police fear the others may have been carried away from the spot by undercurrents.

Latest body to be recovered was that of Doreen Walton, 8, whose 11-year-old sister, Estelle, is one of those whose body was still being sought.

PICNIC PARTY

The children set out Tuesday in a group of 62 from the Negro community centre, at Montreal for a picnic on the lake.

A vacationing Montreal banker, Jack Seligman, 44, saw the children playing on the beach and decided to take them on a tour of the lake "just to give them a happy time."

On the third trip out, Seligman said, he "couldn't stop the children from getting excited and frightened at the waves."

A wave rocked the outboard-motor-powered craft as it rounded a raft and water spilled in. Seligman and Phil Harrison, a counselor at the centre, who were on board, were rescued.

LABOR BOARD REFUSES BARGAINING RIGHTS

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec Labor Relations Board has announced final rejection of a request by a Montreal French-speaking Roman Catholic teachers' group for bargaining rights.

L'Alliance des Professeurs Catholiques de Montreal made the request June 5 following a six-year-long legal fight with the labor board. The group was decertified following a strike of 3,000 teachers in Montreal in 1949.

The Alliance appealed the board's decertification in 1949 and the Quebec Superior Court upheld the appeal.

The labor board carried the case to the Quebec Court of Appeals where the board's action was upheld. Teachers then decided to carry the case to the Supreme Court of Canada whose judges declared the board had overstepped its powers.

ACT CHANGED

The Quebec board appealed to the Imperial Privy Council at London. But, before the case came up for argument, the Quebec Legislature changed the Labor Relations Act. The Privy Council as a result decided that the dispute no longer fell under its jurisdiction since the act had been changed.
