Local Weather Records During 1951

The total rainfall for 1951, 46.35 inches, as compiled from weather records taken at the Experimental Station, Charlottetown, was 3.79 inches, higher than the average over a 42 year period of 42.56 inches.

The wettest month last year was that of August, when 7.11 inches of rain fell and the driest was October with 1.57 inches, compared with the 42 year average of 3.14 and 4.16 inches respectively. The wettest month on record was September 1942 when 12.40 inches of rain fell and the driest was May 1911 with .32 inches. It was also in 1911 when the lowest annual rainfall was recorded, when there was only 31.8 inches of precipitation. The heaviest was 54.56 inches in 1941.

1951 also set new records for two of the months in the summary of high mean temperatures. February, with a mean temperature of 25.9 and April, 43.1 were new marks. In the low temperature column, no new records have been recorded since 1941, the coldest month last year being January, 24.1 mean temperature.

The highest daily temperature on record was 98 on August, 1935, the lowest, 23 below, January 15th, 1923. The warmest month on record was July, 1947, with 71.8, and the coldest was February 1923 with 6.7 degrees.

A total of 1590.2 hours of sunshine were recorded last year against the 42 year average of 1854.6 hours. July, September and December were slightly above average, while a decided drop occurred in August where the average is 227.3 hours. Last year only 128.1 hours were recorded. The remaining months of the year were down in hours recorded, ranging from two hours in January to 40 in April and May. May, 1920 had the most sunshine with 312.4 hours and December, 1950 the least with 27.9 hours.

Settlement Of Toronto's Transit Strike Looms

TORONTO, Jan. 21 - (CP) - Settlement of Toronto's transit strike appeared closer tonight than at any time since it began Jan. 4. As the clock ticked off the hours on this 18th day of the wage dispute negotiators for the 4,756 striking streetcar and bus operators and the Toronto Transportation Commission were meeting to discuss the remaining points of difference. One main point apparently was decided: the Street Railway Employees' Union (A.F.L. - T.L.C.) was willing to submit the question of wages to arbitration. There were its and but - the union held out for a one-man board, acceptable to the union, providing fringe benefits - but it was felt that this was an easy hurdle.

Lecture And Presentation At Highfield

The people of Highfield and vicinity enjoyed a rare treat on Tuesday evening, Jan. 15, when Major Andrew MacRae recently returned from Korea and on leave at his home in Winsloe, vividly portrayed many incidents and experiences of his journey to and from Korea and of the months he spent there.

The large audience was captivated by the talk which Major MacRae presented and it was an educational feature for many of the older school children.

Following the lecture Mr. Sydney Taylor who acted as chairman, called on Mr. Albert Weeks to read an address to Major MacRae and he was presented with a beautiful glassstone by Mr. Ambrose Rodd on behalf of the people of the community.

Major MacRae expressed his deep appreciation of this gesture and said he looked forward to his return to Winsloe. Tea was served by the ladies to all present and a most enjoyable social hour was spent.

Plan New Radio System For Local San Patients

The installation of a new radio system for the patients in the Provincial Sanatorium is expected to commence in March, as the result of a meeting last night of the Radio Fund Committee at the home of the Chairman, Mr. B. Earle MacDonald, M.L.A. From the money collected to date, it was decided by the committee, composed of Dr. P. A. Creelman, Robert Large, Neil Hodson and John Trainor, to purchase the necessary equipment from Dominion Sound Equipment Company, Halifax. The new equipment will com-

Annual Meeting St. Peter's Cathedral

The annual meeting of the St. Peter's Cathedral congregation was held last night with Canon E. M. Malone presiding. The attendance was one of the best on record and following the opening prayer, reports were heard from the Priest Incumbent, the Church Warden and the Church organizations.

In spite of a large amount of expenditures on major repairs to the fabric, there was a comparatively small debt increase. It is planned to attempt further debt reduction this year. A particularly encouraging report was presented by Miss Helen Acorn, President of the A.Y.P.A.

The following were elected to serve two years in the vestry: Major H. M. Simpson, Major W.A. Smith, Victor Williams and J. A. Brady.

Delegates elected to the Diocesan Synod were: Judge H. L. Palmer, Major G. E. Sherran, Col. J. R. Paton, and Major F. W. Hyndman. The delegates elected to the Diocesan Church Society were: G. R. Brady, S. G. Bryant, and Major G. E. Sherran.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Canon and Mrs. Malone, Rev. W. G. Hogg, the Vestry Clerk, the envelopes clerk, the organist and choir, the ladies who attend to the flowers on the altars, the vestments, and the choir boys. Also to A.B. Cosh, for his work in connection with Church collections, and to the H.R. Doane and Company for auditing the Church accounts.

After the close of the meeting with The Grace, a pleasant social gathering was held at which refreshments were served by a group of ladies of the congregation.

Card Of Thanks

Sincere thanks to the Boxholders who remembered me at Christmas and the New Year. Robert L. Smith, Mail Courier. I prize the master set and the individual headphone sets for the patients, replacing the present inadequate and outmoded facilities.

Describes Korean Experiences At Rotary

The International Service Committee of the Charlottetown Rotary Club arranged the program yesterday in which the club was addressed by Major Andrew MacRae, Winsloe. Chairmen at yesterday's meeting were Dr. Frank MacKinnon and Justice George Tweedy. Greatly enjoyed to were the solos of Mr. John Hards, Toronto.

"The Korean farmers and their families are mostly happy," said Major MacRae. "They greet you with a smile and offer hospitality in their mud walled and thatched cottages. It may be because they have never known anything else, but it might be that they are conscious of doing a good job with the materials they have at hand."

"Agriculture is indeed primitive in Korea," continued Major MacRae. "Crude plows drawn by oxen work little plots of land, not a quarter the size of this room" (the small dining room in the Charlottetown Hotel). "Land is of such value that houses may not be built upon land that might be cultivated. Instead they are built on slopes or other terrain that cannot be used to produce crops. South Korea by such means produced a surplus of food and exported large quantities of rice prior to the war."

Major MacRae described the dress and some of the customs of the Koreans. One curious trait is their seeming unconcern for a neighbor's trouble. Several times Major MacRae had seen their shacks catch fire and while the owner would fight furiously to save his home neighbors would not make the slightest move to be of help.

The Canadians were doing a good job in Korea. As soldiers they are second to none and they have helped make the Commonwealth Division highly respected among the troops of the United Nations. Major MacRae spoke very highly of the medical services in Korea. It was not uncommon that within a few minutes after a man had been hit, front line medical services have given first aid and if necessary the soldier taken back to a base hospital by helicopter, and within a matter of hours

Big Hit Made By Royal Sapphire Fur

The Royal Sapphire fox, the fur which fashioned the cape presented to Her Royal Highness, evacuated to Japan. Such attention to the wounded is a marvelous achievement and undoubtedly has a great deal to do with the fine moral of the United Nations forces.

Guests yesterday included Dr. W. R. Barton, Richard Found, Tyne Valley, Commodore G.M. Hibbard, Messrs Frank Andrew Noel H. Deblols, Thomas D. DeBlols, Jerome O'Brien, George Nichols, Peter Rogers, Lester Johnston, E.W. Johnstone, D.L. Inwood.

Princess Elizabeth, by this Province, and made in Montreal by Morgan's, is already receiving acceptance and bids fair to make a tremendous hit among the fashion-wise, according to fur officials in Montreal.

Next month, the famed furrier, Leo Ritter of New York, is presenting a whole series of garments made from this fur at a showing at the Everglades in Florida. A cape from this fur, according to the experts, sells at around $500.

Fur experts in Montreal also say that the fur business has picked up considerably in the past three to four weeks, with people buying the medium priced furs, such as good quality muskrat and Persian Lamb, in quantity.

First white men in Illinois were the French missionaries and traders late in the 17th century.
