NEW ELECTRONIC INVENTION HIDES DEAFNESS

Revolutionary Discovery Transmits Even Whispers With Startling Clarity

CHICAGO (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered obsolete overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires.

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear."

It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1450 West 19th Street, 997H Belmonte Building, Chicago 8, Ill. A penny postcard will do.—Adv.

Oil Tanker Unloads Cargo At Montague

Yesterday the Irving Oil tanker arrived in port in Montague to discharge approximately 80,000 gallons of gas and oil. Docking here in the early afternoon, the boat left again in the evening after discharging its cargo into the five 20,000-gallon tanks on the south bank of the river.

On questioning many old-timers, none could recall any year in which a large ship had come up this river as late as the 21st of January, before which time the river is usually frozen over.

This year, however, with its unusually mild weather, there is still no sign of ice in the river, and yesterday the streets were a flood of water in the wake of melting snows at a temperature in the sixties.

From reports from Georgetown, the ferry between there and Low-ry Montague is still making its regular trips, and holds a good chance of breaking its former record of January 26th, made several years ago.

As further evidence of the unseasonable weather, several have noticed the re-growth of shrubs and pussy-willows along the road sides, and the presence still of bluejays indicates that the winter has not yet come to this locality.

Major Changes In Canadian Football Seen Possible

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (CP)—The Big Four Football Union, in two unprecedented decisions that could have far-reaching results, Saturday set in motion plans that may end in major changes in Canadian football.

Secretary D. Wes Brown of Ottawa announced following the Union's annual meeting that it has decided to establish a players' waiver system and to consult with the Western Football Conference for joint action in seeking greater autonomy in the Canadian Rugby Union.

Brown said newly-elected president C. C. Lawson of Hamilton and past president Eric Craddock have been appointed to discuss with Western Conference officials "mutual problems" and the possibility of obtaining greater voting control of their affairs in the C. R. U.

Craddock said the two leagues are the strongest groups in the C. R. U. but are handicapped by the system of voting used for C. R. U. decisions.

Both the Big Four, the Western Conference and the Ontario Rugby Football Union have two votes; the Eastern Inter-Collegiate Union and the Western Intercollegiate League, now inoperative, and the Quebec Rugby Football Union have one vote each.

The other leagues have too great a voice in major matters largely affecting the Big Four and Western Conference, Craddock said. It is time the two major leagues were left to decide themselves how they should be handled.

Craddock and Lawson will leave next month to meet the Western Conference officials and they hope definite proposals will be placed before the C.R.U. annual meeting in March at Winnipeg.

Dean Ravenhill, assistants, Eric MacMillan and Keith Bryenton. For study Everett Gray gave a reading entitled "Treasure of Great Bear Lake."

Collection amounted to $166. Two paid their fees. For recreation, period games were played, after which lunch was served by the hostess. A short sing-song brought the meeting to a close. Music was furnished by Mrs. Malcolm MacLean.

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Iranian Government has lightened restrictions on travel for Americans and other foreigners. It was disclosed Saturday. The action was widely but unofficially interpreted as a further move to soften the anger of neighboring Russia over American economic and military help to this country.

New Canadian Sports Organization Launched

By H. L. Jones OTTAWA, Jan. 21 (CP)—A new national body, the Canadian Sports Advisory Council, has been launched on the stormy sea of Canadian sport.

It represents three years' work by a majority of sports governing bodies. But just how unanimous its advisory voice will be in dealing with the many-sided problems of sport — particularly finances — remains to be seen.

At the close of a two-day meeting Saturday, delegates from 23 of the 46 sports governing bodies in Canada finally agreed on a constitution for the new body and elected a provisional slate of officers.

Its objectives, they decided, should be confined to providing an annual forum for an exchange of views, to promoting the physical, intellectual and moral development of Canadians through participation in sport, and to act as a liaison between the sports governing bodies and government agencies which might lend a hand.

Actually the council won't be official until May 1, the date set for the coming in force of its constitution. Between now and then the 46 sports organizations will be polled as to whether they want to belong and pay the $10 annual enrolment fee.

Even if a majority hold back, James Worrell of Montreal, elected as the association's first president, said it would try to carry on anyway.

A number of jobs already have been earmarked for the new body.

To Consider Financing The two-day meeting, convened by the National Council of Physical Fitness now withdrawing from the scene, endorsed moves to seek $3,000 from the Federal treasury to study the whole problem of adequate financing and coaching services for amateur sport in Canada.

The resolution was proposed by meeting chairman J. H. Ross of Calgary, a member of the N. C. P. F. In a further memorandum he said it was believed sports and athletics could be self-supporting and suggested one way might be to levy a one-cent tax on all paid admissions to sports events. The money could be used to further amateur sport on which professional sport was dependent for much of its talent.

Another resolution asked Federal provision for coaching courses and for adequate financing of Canadian participation in Olympic and other international competitions.

The revised constitution adopted was one sponsored by the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, it was approved over another which would have provided much broader powers to a federation-type organization. Delegates expressed fears this second constitution went too far and bordered on control and interference.
