Interest Seen In Satellites

ROME (AP) — U.S. officials said Thursday that Canada and a number of European countries "have now expressed serious interest in joining as co-partners" in a private American venture to set up a world-wide communications system by space satellites.

This is "the most significant result" of a three-day conference in Rome of representatives of 19 countries, said Abram Chayes, legal adviser of the U.S. state department, and Leo D. Welch, chairman of the U.S. Communications Satellite Corp.

Welch's corporation, created by an act of the U.S. Congress, plans a $300,000,000 common stock issue to be floated within two months, U.S. sources said. The Rome conference ended Wednesday.

"We look forward to further discussions with these countries, and with others as well, to work out the terms and conditions for this participation," said Chayes and Welch.

The nations which took part in the three-day conference, were Austria, Belgium, Canada, Cyprus, Denmark, West Germany, France, Greece, Italy, Ireland, Monaco, Holland, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Britain and the United States.

A global communication satellite system is expected to be in full service by 1967, serving the North Atlantic, the Pacific and Indian oceans.

Atlas Missile Blasts In Silo

The U.S. Air Force said the missile, housed in an underground silo, was not equipped with a nuclear warhead.

An air force spokesman said there were no reports of injuries. Crews apparently evacuated the launch control centre.
