He ran a mile,
and so would many a young lady, rather than take a bath without the "Albert."

Baby's Own Soap.

It leaves the skin wonderfully soft and fresh, and its faint fragrance is extremely pleasing.

After.

After the tear of April
Cometh the smile of June;
After the budding sunrise,
The flow'ry life of noon.

After the drought of evil
Cometh the righteous rain;
After the poisoned arrow,
Balm for the sting of pain.

After the rose and ribbon
Cometh the cap and frill;
After the valley seeding,
Harvest upon the "hill."

After the crash of battle
Cometh the victor's song;
After the birth of Justice,
Death to the cause of wrong.

After the night of trouble
Cometh the dawn of peace;
After the final struggle,
Sweetest of all—release!

Prayer.

Why are our prayers inefficacious, even if we pray for the gifts of the spirit? Because they are not pronounced in the unity of the one, but in the multiplicity of our desires. Our thoughts and will are not one; but we pretend to desire one thing and will another; we have not yet arrived in that natural state where will and thought and word are one and which it is necessary to enter before we can expect to come in possession of the spiritual power of prayer. True prayer means sacrifice; it is a going out of the soul to the infinite, a giving one's self up to God entirely, and without any reservation. In the German language the word for prayer is "Gebet," from "geben" to give; there is no asking for favors. The soul sacrificing itself to God, and giving up its self-will, becomes one with the Spirit of Truth, and receives from Him all His blessings in return. Far better would it be if men, instead of philosophising about the existence of God and His qualities, would learn the nature of true prayer. They would then practically know that there is a personal God, for they would feel His presence within themselves, and by attaining the knowledge of self they would become self-conscious of this Divinity.—Franz Hartmann.

Troubles Refine our Grossness.

With more than a father's affection, with more than a mother's love, God sends pain to men. Suffering comes under Divine commission. Sorrows do not riot through life. Men are not atoms buffeted hither and thither. Troubles are appointed to refine away our grossness; to transmute selfishness into self-sacrifice; to destroy vice, to transfigure all our life. Refused, troubles bruise without softening; crush without maturing. Accepted and rightly used they change their nature and become joys. Tears are seeds; planted the blossom into joy and gladness. In his celebrated painting Delaroché has assembled a court of universal genius. Around an imaginary art tribunal stand the sages, orators, philosophers, reformers and martyrs who have achieved eminence.

Strange, passing strange, that those who stand in the forefront, preeminent for their ability, are alike preeminent for their sufferings! Denied his ambition and the promised land, Moses leads the immortal band. Blind, Homer feels his way. Then comes Paul, flogged and stoned out of all semblance of a man. Exiled, Dante, too, is there, whose Inferno in life best interprets his Inferno of death. There too, is Milton, broken-hearted and blind. Now comes one who leads all that goodly company. His name is "above every name." And whence His supremacy? This is His secret. "His visage was so marred more than any man, and his form more than the sons of men."—Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, D. D., in the June Ladies' Home Journal.

The Religion of Penitence.

There are two and only two kinds of goodness possible—the one is the goodness of those who have never erred, the other is the goodness of those who having erred, have been recovered from their error. The first is the goodness of those who have never offended, the second is the goodness of those who having offended, have been reconciled. In the infinite possibilities of God's universe it may be that there are some who have attained the first of these kinds of righteousness. It may be that amongst the heavenly hierarchies there are those who have kept their first estate, whose performances have been commensurate with their aspirations, who have never known the wretchedness and misery and degradation of a fall. But whether it be so or not is a matter of no practical importance to us. It may be a question speculatively interesting, but it is practically useless, for it is plain that such righteousness never can be ours. The only religion possible to man is the religion of penitence.—Canadian Churchman.

Tortured by Itching

Women are almost driven insane.

Instant Relief in Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment

One of the most distressing symptoms imaginable is the almost unbearable itching which is an accompaniment of Leucorrhœa or whites. The nerves are irritated by the poisonous discharge, and the result is an itching which is only rendered more excruciating by rubbing or scratching.

Especially at night, when the body is warm, the patient is tormented beyond the powers of human endurance. Sleep or rest is out of the question. Nervousness, irritability and despondency are a natural result.

In these offices there are on the file thousands of letters from grateful women who have found in Dr. Chase's Ointment a quick and certain cure for this itching to which women are subject.

During the expectant period many women suffer similar agony from itching of the parts, or itching piles, which are absolutely cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

The first application of this great discovery of Dr. A. W. Chase will afford prompt relief. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

HIS NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience
With Dodd's Kidney Pills

SHARBY LAKE, Ont., May 29—No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually than, is Mr. JOHN N. BABCOCK.

Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words:—

"After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me."
