Creditiste MP Urges Winter Works Probe

OTTAWA (CP) — Creditiste MP Raymond Langlois has told the Commons the RCMP should be sent to the Quebec village of Notre-Dame-de-la-Guadaloupe to investigate use of winter works funds.

There have been seven suicides there in 18 months, said Mr. Langlois, member for Megantic. Something was wrong.

He said $194,000 had been poured into the municipality this winter without any results that he could see.

He urged that a federal investigation be made "before it's all covered up."

Immigration Minister Marchand confirmed in an interview that the provinces have winter works funds are used properly and to report to Ottawa

He had asked the Quebec government to report on Notre-Dame - de - la - Guadaloupe and was also studying whether a federal investigation can be made

Mr. Langlois said he can't see why the RCMP couldn't investigate when federal money is involved.

"Why wait for the solicitor-general in Quebec to make an inquiry? I don't know if he even wants to."

If this was a case of fraud involving federal money, it came under the Criminal Code and the RCMP could intervene no matter what the provincial or municipal lines.

Under the winter works program, the federal government pays part of the labor costs for work on approved municipal projects.

LBJ Acts To Tighten Control Of Election Campaign Funds

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Johnson acted Thursday to tighten control over the election campaign funds of presidential and congressional candidates as a senator of his Democratic party sued two columnists for alleging he had misused campaign money.

In a special message to Congress the president did not mention the case of Connecticut Senator Thomas Dodd, who was alleged to have used tax-free funds raised for election campaigns to help his personal finances.

But Johnson said the present laws regulating campaign financing had failed.

He called for new legislation that would require all candidates for federal office—for the presidency, vice-presidency and Congress—to report every campaign contribution and expense exceeding $100.

Members of Congress also would be required to report all income they obtained from such activities as speeches, consultant or legal activities, gifts or donations, or any other sources apart from investments.

FAVOR SMALL DONATIONS

Under the new legislation, about 36,000,000 average Americans would be encouraged to $100 to their political candidates.

The proposed bill calls for the active encouragement of widespread public participation in the financing of political campaigns through tax deductions."

Johnson wants to separate line on every income tax form for contributions up to $100 to any candidate or organization in any federal, state or local election campaign or primary.

The bill would also for the first time make effective the ceilings on the size of contributions.

It would place a $5,000 limit on the total financing that any candidate may receive from any one source.

Existing ceilings on total expenditures by candidates for public office would be repealed. The limits are $25,000 for senatorial candidates and $5,000 for house of representative nominees. Johnson said "artificial limits breed artificial disclosures" and these limits are decidedly artificial.

Officials, Directors Of Firm Made Money Trading Shares

TORONTO (CP)—The president and vice - president and most other directors of Commodore Business Machines (Canada) Ltd. made large stock market profits trading shares in their own company, a royal commission was told.

Bertrand Wolfman, a chartered accountant working with the royal commission investigating last year's $150,000,000 collapse of Atlantic Acceptance Corp., said one of the biggest profits went to J. Aubrey Medland, a Commodore director, who also was president of Corporate Investors Ltd., a large mutual fund.

Mr. Medland made $251,000 trading Commodore between 1961 and last year, Mr. Wolfman said.

Mr. Medland stepped down from the presidency of Corporate Investors after the mutual fund suffered a loss on investments in preferred shares of Atlantic.

Jack Tramiel, Commodore president, and his wife had a net profit of $364,225 from Commodore trading between 1958 and 1965, Mr. Wolfman said.

MADE $347,376

Commodore Vice - President Manfred Kapp and his wife made $347,376 trading the shares, the commission was told.

Mr. Wolfman qualified the profit figures by saying that part of the Tramiel profit was in the form of shares of Associated Canadian Holdings Ltd., a private company formed by Mr. Tramiel, Mr. Kapp and C. Powell Morgan, former president of Atlantic Acceptance.

If the Tramiels had not exchanged 100,000 Commodore shares for shares of Associated Canadian Holdings, their profit would have been $17,529 plus 93,859 Commodore shares without cost.

The Kapps also exchanged some of their Commodore shares for Associated Canadian Holdings shares. If they hadn't done this their profit would have been $11,177 plus 114,000 Commodore shares without cost.

Another director of Commodore, Carman King, a Toronto stockbroker, made $229,822 trading in Commodore shares between November, 1958, and October last year, Mr. Wolfman testified.
