Lie Confers With British And Canadian Officials

LONDON, Sept. 11—(Reuters)—Trygve Lie, Secretary-General of the United Nations, held lengthy talks today on the Korean problem with the foreign ministers of Britain and Canada.
Lie lunched with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and saw him a second time tonight. He also had a private talk with L. B. Pearson, Canadian External Affairs Minister, who arrived here Wednesday.
Lie described his trip here as a routine visit to discuss item on the agenda of the forthcoming session of the U. N. General Assembly, which opens in New York on Oct. 14. He is leaving London tomorrow for similar talks in Paris.
Main issue in the London talks is believed in diplomatic quarters to be the manner in which the Korean armistice deadlock should be discussed by the United Nations.
Britain and the United States are known to be considering raising the matter before the full Assembly should no armistice be concluded by the middle of October.
Today's diplomatic discussions centred on proposals put forward by Mexico for breaking the deadlock.
Mexico proposed that both sides solve the issue of repatriation of prisoners of war in Korea by agreeing to return all prisoners would be granted provisional asylum in the territory of member states of the United Nations.
A foreign office spokesman today described the Mexican proposal as "a sincere and genuine effort" to reach agreement and said that they would be studied with the attention they deserve.
Other topics whose possible inclusion on the Assembly agenda Lie may discuss in London or Paris are understood to include Morocco, Tunisia, and the position in South Africa.

Death Yesterday In Grandview Notes Conditions In Newfoundland

The death occurred at her home in Grandview, yesterday morning of Mrs. Allan J. Finlayson, after a lengthy illness in his 62nd year. Mrs. Finlayson nee Christina MacKinnon, was born in Brooklyn the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacKinnon. Left to mourn her passing besides her sorrowing husband, is one son Robert, Port Hope, Ontario, and one daughter Olive at home. One brother Hector MacKinnon, Elliston, Mass., and one sister, Mrs. Peter MacPhee, Elliston, Mass., also survive. Funeral arrangements were not complete at time of writing.
Better packing for shipment and better marking of our farm produce could mean a great increase in the trade between this island and Newfoundland, said Mr. William Agnew, Provincial trade director, who returned this week from a tour of the Old Colony.
One of the things Mr. Agnew definitely noted was the poor shipping of eggs, of which he said the crates should be stronger, pigs and poultry. In the latter cases he said there were too many of each crammed into the containers.
He believes that there are excellent opportunities for Island produce as Newfoundland is experiencing an industrial boom of tremendous proportions with millions of dollars of United States capital being poured into the Province. However, he noted that packaging of the items shipped from here would have to be improved in order to meet the competition of Nova Scotia shippers.
The trade director did not think it would be good policy to ship Island potatoes to Newfoundland for the next few weeks. The growers there are now marketing their own product at good price and would not welcome competition.
With regard to butter sent from here Mr. Agnew said it was of high quality but he expressed the belief that shippers would be better off if they packed the butter in one-pound prints. If this were done for convenience sake, he believes that the amount exported to Newfoundland could be doubled.

Car Accidents In City Yesterday

Mr. James MacEachern was taken to the P. E. Island Hospital by ambulance shortly after 7 a.m. yesterday suffering from facial, rib and leg injuries received when the car which he was driving went out of control and crashed into a tree.
The accident occurred on Elm Avenue near Passmore Street while the car was being driven northward. On swerving to the left side it collided with a tree. The steering gear and wheel, in addition to the whole front of the car, was badly damaged. The hospital advised at a late hour last night that the patient was not seriously injured.
At 6:15 last evening two cars were in collision on Great George Street just north of Kent. The northbound car had the left parking light, fender, grill and engine grill badly damaged, while the radiator of the car going south received the brunt of the impact. No one was injured.
Little Unemployment
He said the Province has made great strides under its present government and unemployment is virtually unknown. He remarked the great amount of work of a military nature going on and also the large number of Newfoundlanders who are currently employed in the iron ore areas of Labrador. There is a big development taking place at present in the fishing industry with new filletting plants going up all the time.
All of these industrial developments, Mr. Agnew said, mean that the province is ready to accept practically everything we can ship in the way of food. However, he added, good food must be shipped, and properly packed.
Mr. Agnew paid calls at both the gypsum and cement businesses at Corner Brook as well as the hardwood plant in Saint John's. To the latter he had previously sent samples of Island hardwood and in return had received samples of the wood of the plant. He is now planning a reciprocal arrangement which will permit of an exchange between the provinces.

Floral Display At Curling Club

Flowers of every size and colour were the keynote of a lovely tea yesterday sponsored by the Ladies Branch of the Charlottetown Curling Club.
There were many arresting floral displays in the reception hall as a magnificent fan shape array of tall yellow and white gladioli. Other outstanding exhibits were achieved by using sage, lamb's quarter and dry grass in combination with the more conventional fall flowers—zinnias, roses, asters, larkspur and carnations.
All the flowers on display were donated by garden owners throughout the Province.
Mrs. E. C. Evans, an enthusiastic gardener, gave many useful tips and demonstrated the art of floral arrangement. Interesting coloured slides were shown of the various summer and fall flowers from the lovely gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon MacMillan, Cornwall.
Afternoon tea, sandwiches and cakes were served in the two upstairs club rooms. Exquisite red and pink roses in a pyramid arrangement formed the centerpiece with lighted tapers in candelabra on the side.
The tea was convened by the president, Mrs. W. R. MacNeill, with the following ladies of the club pouring: Mrs. Stirling Macdonald, Mrs. William Johnston, Mrs. Wylie Allan and Mrs. J. P. Campbell.

which the Reds poured 30 shells a minute at the R.O.K. positions on Capitol Hill.
The U. S. Eighth Army communique reported 200 dead Chinese were counted on the muddy slopes after the Reds were hurled back.
The communique said another 300 Reds were estimated killed—raising estimated Communist casualties in the Capitol Hill fighting to at least 2,700.
In graphic but brief detail, the communique gave this account of the Chinese assaults:
"An enemy company attack newly-recaptured Capitol Hill, west of the Pukhan River, at 12:30 a.m., climbing up the north slopes of the hill. A Chinese platoon came up from the west at 1:40 a.m., but by 2:15 it was raining and the Chinese were withdrawing.
"At 2:30 the enemy attacked again, and came screaming at the positions. Shortly after they were locked in hand-to-hand combat with R.O.K. capitol division troops on the hill.
"At 4:35 a.m. the position was reported surrounded with hand-to-hand combat continuing. Fighting continued until dawn when the R.O.K. troops came out of their foxholes to bayonet the Chinese down to the bottom of the slope."
About 1-1/2 miles to the west of Capitol Hill, other South Korean troops held firmly to the south slopes of Finger Ridge, but the Chinese still were dug in on the crest which they seized Wednesday night.
Elsewhere along the battlefield only patrol contacts were reported.

United Church Council Considers Union Report

HAMILTON, Sept. 11—(CP)—Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, Chairman of the United Church of Canada's Commission of Church Union, warned today that the move towards eventual union between the United Church and the Church of England in Canada is in a "precarious position."
Dr. Sisco, Secretary of the General Council, told the 400 commissioners to the Church's General Council that the negotiations or discussions as they are termed in church circles, are in a precarious position because both churches "have taken stands through the pronouncement of their respective church courts that are too far in advance of the thinking of their people."
Dr. Sisco, a leader in the union movement, gave his address in presenting the report of the church union commission. The report, in addition to recommending a form of union, sets forth specific fields in which the two communions can co-operate until that union is achieved.
Dr. Sisco said he did not think there is the same conviction about church union among the rank-and-file members of the resolutions passed by the General Council would indicate.
"There is a good deal of misunderstanding and prejudice on both sides that has to be removed before progress towards constitutional union can be made . . . and the full implications of corporate union should be studied throughout the two churches at local levels."
He added: "I see no hope of success as long as we are forced to turn to the past to find the key that unlocks the door to real catholicity. It is very easy for the Anglicans to make claims that cannot be substantiated. The branch of theory of the church which asserts that the true apos-
