Text Of Queen's Christmas Talk To Commonwealth

SANDRINGHAM, England (Reuters)—Following is the text of the Queen's Christmas radio and television broadcast to the commonwealth:

A happy Christmas to you all. Every year I look forward to opening the letters, parcels and telegrams that come to me from all parts of the world. My husband and children join me in thanking all of you who have sent us your good wishes for Christmas and the New Year. Some of you have written to say that you would like to see our children on television this afternoon. We value your interest in them and I can assure you that we have thought about this a great deal before deciding against it.

We would like our son and daughter to grow up as normally as possible so that they will be able to serve you and the Commonwealth faithfully and well when they are old enough to do so. We believe that public life is not a fair burden to place on growing children. I'm sure that all of you who are parents will understand. Very soon now we shall be entering into the uncertainty and promise of a new year. I hope very much that it proves to be a year of progress and happiness for us all. My family and I are looking forward to it, especially because many of us will be travelling to different parts of the world and hope to see more of you than ever before. In three weeks time my husband goes to India and Pakistan and then on across the Pacific.

My mother is going to East Africa and my uncle, the Duke of Gloucester, and his wife, will be travelling as my representatives to Nigeria.

My aunt, the Duchess of Kent, and my cousin, Princess Alexandra are also undertaking long journeys. Together they will be visiting Central and South America in the spring and later Princess Alexandra goes to Australia to attend the centenary celebrations of the state of Queensland. In June, my husband and I will be going to Canada once again. You'll remember that my sister, Princess Margaret, was there earlier this year.

This time we're primarily to open the great St. Lawrence Seaway but we shall be visiting many other parts of the country as well. Before I return to mine let me once again wish every one of you a very happy Christmas from all of us here at Sandringham, and may God's blessing be with you in the coming year.

So, between us, we are going to many parts of the world. We have no plans for space travel—at the moment. To Christians all over the world, Christmas is an occasion for family gatherings and celebrations, for presents and parties, for friendship and goodwill.

To many of my people Christmas doesn't have the same religious significance, but friendship and goodwill are common to us all. So it's a good time to remember those around us who are far from home, feeling perhaps strange and lonely. My own thoughts are with the men and women and children from other parts of the Commonwealth who have come to live and work in the great cities of this country and may well be missing the warmth and sunshine of their homelands.

In recent years the Commonwealth countries have been making a great co-operative effort to raise standards of living. Even so, the pace of our everyday life has been such that there has hardly been enough time to enjoy the things which appeal to men's minds and which make life a full experience. After all, our standard of living has a spiritual as well as a material aspect.

The genius of scientists, inventors and engineers can make life more comfortable and prosperous. But throughout history the spiritual and intellectual aspirations of mankind have been inspired by prophets and dreamers, philosophers, men of ideas and poets, artists in paint, sculpture and music, the whole company who challenge and encourage or who entertain and give pleasure. To their number I would add the teachers in church, school and university, whose enormous job it is to awaken the minds of the younger generations and instill into them the essence of our accumulated civilization. I am sure that many of you have thought about these things before. But it seems to me that Christmas is just the time to be grateful to those who add fullness to our lives.

Even so, we need something more. We all need the kind of security that one gets from a happy and united family. Before I return to mine let me once again wish every one of you a very happy Christmas from all of us here at Sandringham, and may God's blessing be with you in the coming year.

Accident Free Christmas Reported In Summerside

SUMMERSIDE — Summerside was accident free over the Christmas holiday, at least until a late hour last evening as none had been reported to the police at that time. A few reports of minor accidents outside the town were due to the icy road conditions, were received but, although some vehicles sustained heavy damage, no injuries were reported.

A winter wonderland prevailed everywhere as dazzling white snow and Christmas lights and decorations combined to create a Christmas-card scene of true beauty. Many residents attended church services Christmas eve while others played host to relatives and friend at house parties. Special services were also held at the Christmas Day in some churches.

The needy families were not forgotten as the Summerside Legion, Kinsmen, K. of C. and others distributed well filled boxes to the less fortunate to provide some Christmas cheer.

AMONG THE FARMERS

Federation of Agriculture Newsletter

While pessimistic people may claim that this province is not making the progress it should or may even be going back in some respects, there are plenty instances of real progress and certainly much evidence of improved living standards during the past twenty years.

Possibly the most striking improvement has come about during the past five years with the advent of more general electrification in the days of the kerosene lamp the winter country side was one of almost complete darkness only broken by the moon and the stars and the feeble glimmer of the kerosene lamp in the farm kitchen window.

However, wide areas of this province are now assuming in the winter evening the appearance of a scattered village. Yard lights show up the farm buildings and the brightly lighted rooms of farm homes are a cheerful contrast to the darkness of the night.

It is judged by the Christmas trade, by purchases of new automobiles and by the fact that some farmers were even paying their bank loans before due, 1958 appears to have been an improvement over the previous two years in economic activity. The big potato crop of 1957 kept over until the first half of '58 and while the market ended up flat on its face yet potatoes did put substantial money into circulation both at the beginning and end of the year.

The dairy people had an excellent season with butter production probably being the greatest on record and satisfactory amounts of fodder on hand. Cattlemen enjoyed good income from the sale of beef, dairy cows and breeding stock generally. Hog prices were encouraging until the end of the year and good prices for breeding purposes sold readily not only on this continent but even as far away as Europe. Adding it all up there had been certainly worse years than one thousand

Among the numerous farm organizations in this province the Federation of Agriculture continues to be the one in a position to maintain a provincial office financed by the voluntary contributions of individual farmers and supporting organizations. In its present form of organization the Federation dates back to 1950 at which time we recall a prominent public man making the statement that the organization could look forward to a life expectancy of three years. Prominent as the year draws to a close there are always those who are determined to prove prophecy wrong.

While the Federation did suffer a decline both in interest and financial support following the difficult developing out of attempts to aid the potato industry. That trend now appears to have been reversed. More farmers are apparently disposed to recognize the Federation as a necessary piece of farm equipment and to recognize also the influence which it exerts not only on provincial levels but on the National one as well. This acceptance is demonstrated by a marked increase in membership, by improved financial support and a sounder financial position as the year draws to a close. However no one should be complacent so far as the future of the organization is concerned. Much remains to be done, greater support financially and more interest on the part of individuals and developing will be required if farm people are to stand in the light of continued progress rather than in the shadow of apathy and stagnation.

On behalf of the President and of all directors very sincere appreciation of the support proffered, for confidence displayed in the Federation is expressed at the close of this old year.

Pilot Killed In Labrador

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (CP)—Daniel Clifton McKinney, a United States citizen living in a nearby Happy Valley, was killed Christmas Eve when his single-engine Aeronca aircraft crashed 15 miles east of Goose Bay.

The RCAF said McKinney was en route to Happy Valley from Northwest River, Lab., a 20-mile flight, when the crash occurred. The aircraft was owned by the Newfoundland Labrador Outpost Mission.

The crash site was located by an RCAF aircraft Thursday after an unsuccessful overnight search and the body was recovered by a helicopter team from a United States Air Force unit.

Order Probe Of Statement Re US Atlas

OTTAWA (CP)—Mines Minister Comtois' office has ordered an inquiry into a reported statement at Victoria by a departmental official that the launching of the United States Atlas space satellite was just a "rubbishy propaganda stunt."

Edward Argyle, a member of the staff of the Dominion Observatory at Royal Oak, B.C., near Victoria, was quoted as making the statement. "We are looking into the matter and will have a full report as soon as possible," said Jacques Richer, executive assistant to Mr. Comtois.

He described Mr. Argyle as a junior technician in the astrophysics branch of the observatory. Mr. Argyle was quoted in an interview at Victoria as saying the "Atlas is a gross misrepresentation done deliberately to deceive the U.S. public."

The Atlas has broadcast back to earth a recorded message by President Eisenhower. He described Mr. Argyle as a "very junior technician" and lacks the staff standing and professional stature to make "any statement on such a subject."

Mr. Dunn said this is "not correct" in that no final decision has yet been made on the whole Canadian itinerary of the Queen, let alone her participation in the Seaway opening. Discussions still were being conducted by Canadian and U.S. officials.

Man Who Prevented Accident Is Commended By CNR Pres.

CORNER BROOK, Nfld.—A resident of nearby Curling who flagged down a freight train to prevent what could have been a serious accident has been commended and thanked by the president of Canadian National Railways.

Elm Critch of Curling has received a letter of appreciation and tangible expression of thanks from Donald Gordon, CNR President.

A loaded oil tank truck, slipping along the highway which runs parallel to the rail line on Newfoundland's west coast, slid down the slippery road and slipped over a 50-foot embankment, coming to rest on the main track.

The impact crippled two rails and threw the track out of alignment by as much as nine inches. Mr. Critch, who saw the incident, heard train No. 52 blowing immediately after the accident. He ran towards the train and flagged it down.

In commending Mr. Critch for his alertness and prompt action, Mr. Gordon referred to the fact that because of a heavy curve near the scene the engineer would not have been able to stop in time had he not been warned.

Mr. Dunn said this is "not correct" in that no final decision has yet been made on the whole Canadian itinerary of the Queen, let alone her participation in the Seaway opening. Discussions still were being conducted by Canadian and U.S. officials.
