Tignish Aces Display Form

By NORMAN MacDONALD

The Tignish Aces came back to town Tuesday night and showed the fans that they can play top-notch ball when the weather is right. They spotted the winless Summerside Intermediates a 4-0 lead, and then stormed back to win 5-4. We were correcting exams and couldn't make the game, but fans who did, tell us it was a thriller.

The RCAF Eagles, for the most part a softball team converted into a baseball aggregation, may need a little spit and polish to bring their fielding up to par, but they have a lot of slugging potential in those bars of theirs. In each of the three games they've played, and they lost one, they did not score less than ten runs. As the season advances, it might be expected that those softball sluggers will be getting more accustomed to the change of distance from slab to plate in the softball and hardball games, and if they get much better at the plate, heaven — and some fleet-footed outfielders — help the other teams.

Charlie Hogan played a lot of world hockey before the Second World War when he was a youth. He has since then kept in close touch with the game as a rink manager and promoter. Now Charlie seems to have taken up another sport — the sport of Kings this time — harness racing. His mare, Adloway Logan, came, as the turf scribers term it, "from nowhere" to nip two other horses at the wire last Wednesday evening. Charlie we read or listen to the sports news hoping the New York Yankees will win in our day, or rather in their day, we were as strong a Yankee hater as you could find and we spent a lot of time gnashing our teeth when they were playing. We seem to have crossed over to their side, now that they've taken over the "underdog" role. We'll bet a lot of fans feel the same way.

Ron MacArthur is another hockey player of note who has gone in for the harness game. He has a stable of horses, called "Photo this and photo that" and Ron sincerely believes one of those "photo" horses will come through in a big way one of these nights. If his horses score as well as Ron used to, and if they have that extra "giddy-up" for the home stretch, one or more of them might do all right. In the meantime Ron waits — and hopes.

We find ourselves in an unfamiliar role these days. Every day we read or listen to the sports news hoping the New York Yankees will win in our day, or rather in their day, we were as strong a Yankee hater as you could find and we spent a lot of time gnashing our teeth when they were playing. We seem to have crossed over to their side, now that they've taken over the "underdog" role. We'll bet a lot of fans feel the same way.

Soviet Union Officials Not Sure Of Camp Plans

HANOVER, West Germany (AP)—The Soviet Union still has not decided the best way to train its athletes for the 1968 Olympic at Mexico City, a leading Soviet sports physician said Thursday.

Professor Seraphin P. Letunov said a Soviet scientific committee on acclimatization was set up last year to devise high-altitude training techniques for Mexico City, which lies 7,500 feet above sea level.

Joe O'Brien Booked Up

WASHINGTON, Pa. (CP)—Joe O'Brien, 48-year-old native of Alberton, P.E.I. and one of harness racing's driving greats, has a full weekend ahead of him with three horses, all owned by Elgin, Ted and Charles Armstrong, of Brampton, Ont., in races here tonight and Friday night at Liberty Bell Park in Philadelphia.

Armstrong's four-year-old trotting mare, Armbrø Flight, winner of $435,287 in 2½ years on the track, drew the outside post in a $15,000 invitational at Philadelphia Friday night.

PRACTICE

There will be a ball practice at Memorial Field, Friday, at 6 p.m. for all intermediates who wish to play ball this summer. A full turnout is urged as many interested intermediates are planning to attend.

Unknown Pro Has Lead In U.S. Open Golf Classic

By WILL GRIMSLEY
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Al Mengert, a strapping club pro out of the Pacific Northwest, shot a spectacular string of threes at the Olympic course Thursday for a three-under-par 67 and a one-stroke lead in the opening round of the U.S. open golf championship.

The 35-year-old veteran from Tacoma, Wash., who never has won a pro event, was never over par in a brilliant round that saw him put six threes on his card in the space of eight holes, starting with a 25-foot putt at the ninth.

With more than half of the field in the club house, including favorite Jack Nicklaus, Mengert took a one-stroke advantage over former titleholder Gene Littler and Don Massengale, who were tied at 68.

Littler and Massengale overcame the 6,719-yard, par-70 Olympic Country Club course with defensive golf-taking new chances.

BIRDIED 3 HOLES

Littler birdied three holes on the incoming nine and had only one hole over par as he shot 36-32. The 28-year-old Massengale started with birdies on three of the first four holes and then hung on going over par on the ninth and playing the last nine holes in par.

Nicklaus, reigning Masters champion and favorite here, hit a patch of bad golf starting at the ninth, and settled for a 71. Two shots behind Mengert was Bill Casper, former Open champion, with a 34-35-69.

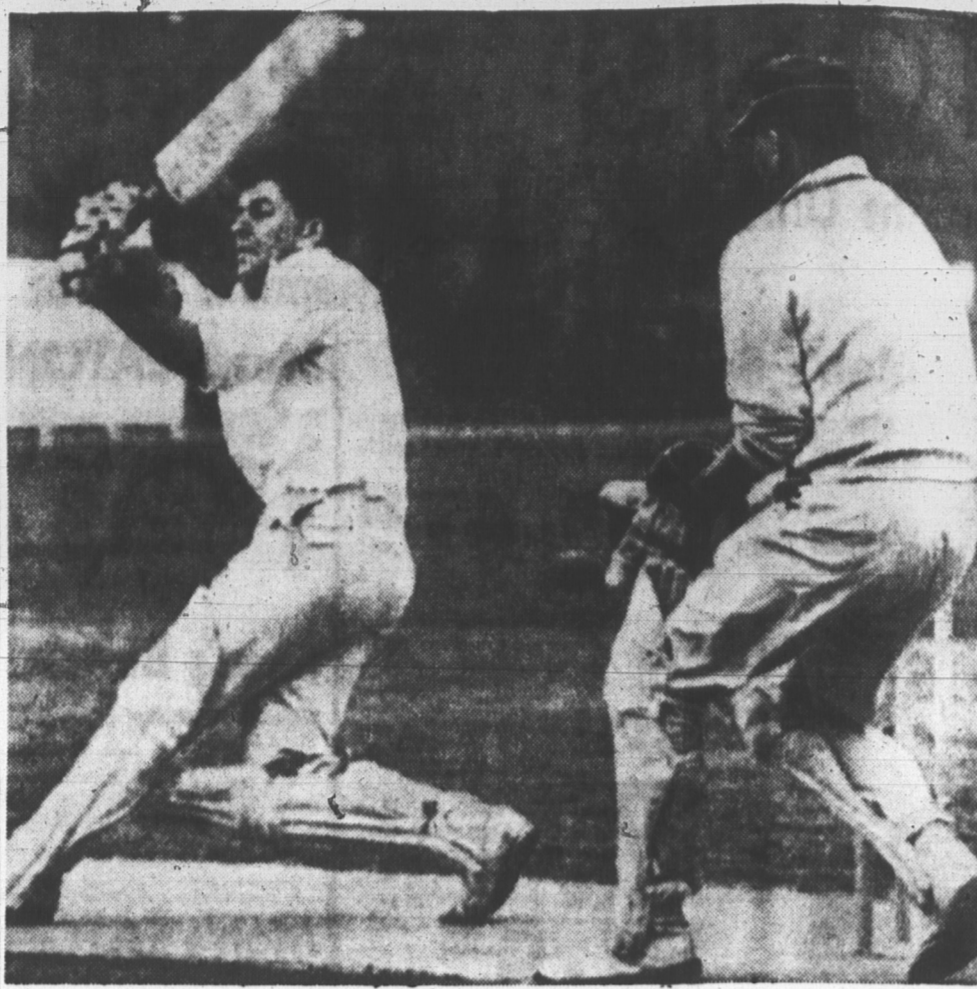

He was followed by Phil Rodgers, Australian Kel Nagle and 19-year-old John Miller of

PLAYER PLAYS TRAP

San Francisco, a student at Brigham Young University who signed up to caddy for the tournament over his home course but qualified instead.

Nicklaus was tied at 71 with the Professional Golfers' Association champion, Dave Marr, former British open king Tony Lama, Bob Goalby and Wes Ellis and Arnold Palmer.

YOU'RE NOT OUT

All-Stars, and wicket keeper Roger Takaoka was right on the spot for a possible stumping chance. Chadban, a fast bowler scored 12 however before losing his wicket at Riley Park in the one day match which the Aussies won by 146 runs. (CP Wirephoto)

Tigers Mangle Red Sox; Marichal Wins 12th

BOSTON (AP)—Willie Horton drove in six runs, including three with a homer, and Al Kaline and Jim Northrup contributed four hits each in helping Denny McLain breeze to his 10th victory Thursday as Detroit Tigers routed Boston Red Sox 16-4.

The surging Tigers pounded four Boston pitchers for 20 hits in posting their 10th triumph in the last 13 games.

Horton drove in two runs with a third-inning single, hit his sixth homer with two on in the fourth and then singled home a tally in the fifth.

Kaline had a perfect day with two doubles, a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly before he retired for a pinch runner.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Juan Marichal became the first 12-game winner in the majors this season by stopping Houston Astros 2-1 on four hits Thursday as the National League-leading San Francisco Giants won their fifth straight.

The Dominican right-hander didn't allow a hit until Lee Maye singled with one out in the fifth. John Bateman put men on second and third with a two-out double but Marichal got pinch-hitter Bill Heath to foul out, ending the threat.

Tom Haller hit his 11th homer and third in as many days for San Francisco in the second inning with none on.

Ollie Brown and Hal Lanier followed with singles off starter and loser Bob Bruce. Brown scored when third-baseman Bob Aspromonte threw Marichal's tapper to home too late.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Norm Siebern, led off the seventh inning with a tie-breaking home run and Frank Malzone cracked a three-run shot in the ninth as California Angels slugged Minnesota Twins 7-2 Thursday night for their fifth straight victory.

Left-hander George Brunet scattered eight hits in gaining his fifth victory against four losses. Jim Grant, victim of Siebern's homer and a two-run shot by Jim Fregosi, took his eighth loss in 13 decisions.

Pistons Triumph; RCMP Top Kings

The Power Kings continued their slide into the basement and the Pistons took over top spot in the Commercial League last evening. The Mounties walloped the Kings 25-17 and in the Pistons-Bankers match, a head on duel for first place, the Pistons walked over the Bank 18-6.

The first inning went smoothly in the Pistons game but in the second stanza they bombed starting pitcher Derrill Doyle (2-1) from the mound and went on to score two more runs off of his replacement Gerry Payne. They added more runs in every inning when they scored five of their six runs in the fourth.

Pitcher Dick Murley (2-1) set the Bank down on six hits while the combination of Payne and Doyle allowed 14 hits. Fielding did not help their cause any great deal as the Bankers committed seven errors.

For the Pistons Dick Murley helped his own cause as he swatted two hits in four at bats

Pitchers Are Main Item In Last Minute Trades

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Atlanta, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and New York Mets reached out for pitching help in the final flurry of baseball trades before the Wednesday night deadline.

The Braves, with only nine complete games from their pitching staff to back up their home-run power, added Joey Jay from Cincinnati and Don Schwall from Pittsburgh.

Jay once was a bright young Traded to Cincinnati after the 1960 season, Jay went on to win 21 games for the pennant-winning Reds in 1961 and added 21 more in 1962. However, he did give the front office some anxious moments in his holdout campaigns.

The 30-year-old right-hander completed only one of 10 starts this year for Cincinnati but that one was a 1-0 shutout over the Phillies, a five-hitter June 9.

Schwall, manager Bobby Bragan's other acquisition, has been used as a starter and reliever man to Pittsburgh where he had 3-2 record but no complete games in four starts.

TRADED TO PIRATES
The 28-year-old right-hander never did live up to the promise of his 15-7 season with Boston Red Sox in 1961 when he was Rookie of the Year. The Sox traded him to the Pirates after the 1965 season.

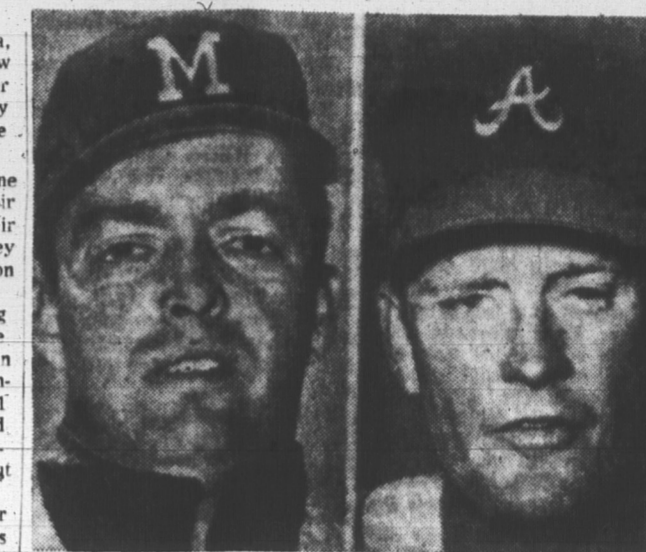

In order to get Jay and Schwall, the Braves sent Hank Fischer to the Reds and reliever pitcher Billy O'Dell to the Pirates.

Fischer, a 26-year-old right-handed pitcher from Yonkers, N.Y., has been taking a regular turn most of the season plus some relief work and has a 2-3 record.

O'Dell, 33, a whiz for San Francisco Giants in 1962 and 1963 when he won 19 and 11 games, has a 2-3 record with the Braves for 15 relief appearances. He originally was a Baltimore bonus baby.

The Mets acquired Bob Friend, the veteran pitcher, from New York Yankees in the first deal between the two clubs.

The Mets surprised some fans by asking waivers on first baseman Dick Stuart, the $47-

BILLY O'DELL

500-salaried first baseman, for the purpose of giving the home-run hitter his unconditional release.

Provided that all clubs waive on him, Stuart can make his own deal for his services but probably not at the same salary. He hit only four homers for the Mets and was riding the bench behind Ed Kranepool.

Many Fans See Covehead Races

Well over 1,200 people were treated to an evening of fast and exciting stock car races at Covehead raceway on Wednesday evening. A roly-poly free-for-all, in which seven of the fifteen cars entered flipped over, one of them smashing into a lamp-post, was the feature race of the evening.

Despite the rough and tumble action there were no injuries to any of the drivers, though a couple of the cars were a little worse for wear.

In races one and four, the six cylinder class, the three place winners were the same for each race. George Thorne, driving a Plymouth, was first in both races. Alan MacRae in a Pontiac finished second and Mill Drummond came in third both times in a Ford.

In the flathead V-8 classification for race two, Melvin Fraser flashed across the finish line in his Ford to take first place. Elwood Payne, also driving a Ford, came second and another Ford driven by Kevin Power placed third.

Race five, another race for the flathead V-8s, had Dez Driscoll in first and Elwood Payne and Kevin Power placing the same as they did in race two, second and third.

Ralph Brown driving a big 318 cubic inch DeSoto V-8 was the winner in races three and six, both for overhead valve V-8s. Second in both of those races was George Boyle in a 57 Plymouth. In race three Austip MacQuaid in a Dodge placed third and third place in race six was taken by Merrill MacLean driving a Ford with a Chev engine in it.

In the consolation race for non-winners Raymond Birt in a Chev took first place honors, second was Norman MacSwain and third was Revell Newport in a 53 GMC half-ton.

trade shortstop Tony Martinez sold the Cuban to the St. Louis Cardinals farm at Tulsa in the Pacific Coast League. The Cards, who have been changing shortstops, might bring up Martinez later in the season.

Baltimore shuffled its reserve catchers, farming Camilo Carreón to Rochester of the International League and recalling Vic Roznovsky from the same club. As Andy Etchebarren, the rookie, had caught 56 of Baltimore's 59 games, the move was prompted by the need for another left-handed pinch hitter.
