

OLD SCHOOL BEING DEMOLISHED

The old brick structure which housed school classes for close to a century is coming down slowly. Shown above is the shell of the building on Upper Prince Street which stands adjacent to the new

Prince Street School. Because of the proximity of the new building demolition of the old building has to be carefully made so as not to damage the new structure. The huge beams in the foreground were removed from the roof area last week. When the demolition is completed, work will commence on another section of the new school.

Driver Is Found Guilty On Negligence Charge

On a charge of criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle, William Roy Murnaghan, Charlottetown, pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence until Feb. 17 by Magistrate A.J. Haslam in city police court yesterday.

Also remanded until Feb. 17 for sentence was Harry Matthews Jr., Charlottetown, who pleaded guilty to damaging private property.

Evidence of Const. Sydney Hurry revealed the arrest of the accused came following a police chase which extended over a wide section of Charlottetown, starting at Elm Avenue and ending on King street, shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

NOT REPRESENTED
Not represented by counsel, Matthews, is charged with breaking windows in the home of Emery Blackett, to a value of less than $50, on the evening of Feb. 10.

ROUTE OF CHASE
During the chase, the police followed the car of the accused south on Elm Avenue, west on Bayfield street, south on Spring Park Road, south on Pownall, and west on King, swerving from side to side.

Appearing for sentence on the charge of failing to stop at the scene of an accident, Kenneth L. MacDonald, Covehead Road, was fined $25 and costs or 10 days in jail.

The accused failed to stop at the "stop" signs at the intersections of Upper Queen and Bayfield, and Spring Park Road and Euston. During the chase, the speed of the accused's vehicle was estimated at about 35 mph. Arriving on King street, the police stated that Murnaghan jumped out of his car and ran into a gangway in the middle of the most westerly block of that street. It was in the gangway that the accused was arrested.

James Garry Gormley, Charlottetown, failed to appear in answer to a similar charge, and the magistrate ordered that a bench warrant for the arrest of the accused be issued.

The accused was counselled by Lester O'Donnell at whose request Murnaghan was released on $100 cash bail.

On Friday the accused made application before Judge Trainor for a speedy trial in County Court, which was granted. Following his re-arrestment before the judge, McKenna entered a plea of guilty to the offence, and received the jail sentence.

Failure to stop for a red traffic light resulted in another charge of five days.

At his original arraignment McKenna had elected trial by judge and jury, and following the completion of his preliminary hearing Thursday evening, he was committed for trial in Supreme Court by Magistrate James B. Johnston, QC.

Reforestation Is Planned

Industry and Natural Resources Minister Leo Rossiter said last night that his department will soon launch a program to reforest the burnt out areas of the province where forest fires raged in the summer of 1960, particularly Prince County and portions of Kings County.

Mr. Rossiter said he hoped the program would be started this year.

It was also indicated by Mr. Rossiter that the development of winter sport facilities at Strathgarny Park is planned by the provincial government.

As minister of fisheries, Mr. Rossiter pointed out that the former Liberal administration in its last year budgeted $35,000 for fisheries, while last year the budget of fisheries was about $70,000.

"It is the hope of my department," he said, "that in the coming year the budget for fisheries will be in excess of $70,000."

"I will definitely state that expressions of this kind are not founded on recent developments in adult education. At present there is a most important expansion going on now through the policies involved in our resources extension program. "An outstanding example of this was the recent graduation of over 100 persons in a course of community development. Persons from all parts of the province received diplomas in ceremonies at Montgomery Hall. This is an indication that training had been given for broad investigation over the adult education field. It also indicates the tremendous interest now active by a large number of our people in adult education."

Two of these will be staged at St. Dunstan's auditorium, where St. Thomas College and Mount Allison University students will provide the opposition. These go on Sunday and Monday nights at 8 o'clock. The third is at St. Mary's University in Halifax, and is set for Monday night Feb. 19.

OPPOSE ST. THOMAS
Sunday night at St. Dunstan's, when the local students oppose St. Thomas, Edward Benson, senior arts student from Halifax, and Paul Batchelder, freshman arts, Charlottetown, will uphold the resolution "that it is practical for the average Canadian family to build a fallout shelter."

Judges will be Hon. Melvin J. McQuaid, attorney-general Dr. J.H. Maloney, and Lt. Col. Leo F. MacDonald.

Monday night's session at the SDU auditorium will find Vibert Rosemay, junior arts student from British Guiana, and George Chaisson, sophomore arts student, Minto, N.B., opposing Mount Allison debaters. The Red and White scholars will support the affirmative of the resolution "that the United Nations made a wise decision in the use of military force in the Congo."

Judges on this occasion will be Eugene Gorman, deputy minister of fisheries; J. Frank MacMillan, Prince of Wales College, and Gerald R. Foster, Charlottetown barrister.

Travelling to Halifax to debate Monday night are Harry Callaghan, junior science student, Charlottetown, and Colin MacMillan, sophomore arts student, also of Charlottetown. Mr. Callaghan and Mr. MacMillan will argue in favor of the resolution "that surrender to the USSR is preferable to risking the destruction of humanity in war."

St. Dunstan's has a most impressive record in debating circles and won the Canadian intercollegiate championship on two occasions. Two years ago they won the Maritime crown but lost out in the Dominion semi-finals in Edmonton.

Adult Education Policies Outlined

Premier Walter R. Shaw said yesterday it has come to his attention that there are suggestions that adult education policies have not been expanded as rapidly as possible in the province and that some vacuum exists in this field.

"I will definitely state that expressions of this kind are not founded on recent developments in adult education. At present there is a most important expansion going on now through the policies involved in our re-

Ch'town Teachers Discuss Grouping

Teachers of Charlottetown city schools met yesterday in semi-annual convention at Prince Street School. After brief introductory remarks, the president of the institute, Mrs. Alex MacIsaac, introduced the members of a panel who discussed the subject "Homogeneous vs. Heterogeneous Grouping."

Those taking part in the discussion were: Rev. Owen Sharkey, St. Dunstan's University; Miss Elinor MacDonald, liaison consultant for city schools; Lt. Col. Leo F. MacDonald, principal of Birchwood High School; and Stewart Williams, principal of Queen Charlotte High School.

The panel was chaired by Dr. K.A. Parker, superintendent of Charlottetown schools.

The next panel, discussing the same topic, was composed of teachers who have had teaching experience in the field of homogeneous grouping: Miss Ann Matheson and Gordon Boyer of Queen Charlotte High School; Adelbert Roche, Birchwood High School; and Mrs. Alex MacIsaac, Queen Square School.

Chairman for this group was J. Reginald MacDonald, principal of Queen Square School.

After "coffee break" which followed the panel discussions, teachers met in groups to consider the pros and cons of the topic under discussion. Reports by spokesmen for these groups were given at the opening of the afternoon session, after which teachers again sub-divided into specified groups to discuss mutual problems, particularly those concerned with the promotion of closer liaison between grades. Findings were again reported when the institute reconvened.

An invitation was extended to hold the annual fall convention in the new school, now nearing completion, which is to replace the present Queen Square School.

Large delegations are expected to be present from Anglican, Baptist, Christian, Presbyterian and United Church, as well as representation from Y.M.C.A. groups at an interdenominational fireside in Hearts Hall in Trinity Church Sunday evening.

The fireside will be conducted under the auspices of the Canadian Council of Churches and invitations have been extended to all young adults in Charlottetown.

The program will open with a rousing sing-song followed by a welcome, introductions, and a roll-call of churches represented.

Following a brief film, buzz groups will be organized and a discussion period begun.

The closing worship will be given by Rev. Harold Milton.

SDU Social Dept. To Sponsor Course In Labor Relations

A labor relations course, sponsored by the university's social department, commences Monday evening, Feb. 19 at St. Dunstan's University.

Rev. Wendell MacIntyre said last night that the course is divided into 10 lectures, the first of which, entitled "The history of the labor movement in Canada" will be delivered by Rev. Vincent Murnaghan.

Other topics to be dealt with in the coming weeks are the rights of labor, the duties of labor, organization and government of labor unions, the psychological aspects of human behavior, collective bargaining, contract negotiations, settlement of grievances, P.E.I. labor laws, and unemployment.

Automation, communication, and compensation will be worked in under the 10 lectures. Father MacIntyre said that several members of the faculty will conduct the lectures, and it is hoped to inject some variety by securing speakers from outside the university.

Up to last night, approximately 25 persons had registered for the course, and it is hoped that more will do so.

The course is open to all, whether or not they are operating on an organized basis he said. Lectures are set for 8 p.m. each Monday night for the next 10 weeks in Room 2 of the administration building.

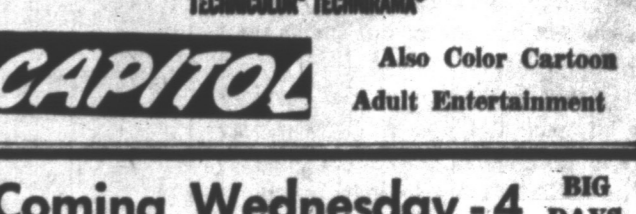

A similar course was conducted at the university last year.

Sports Grant To Be Sought
Hon. George Dewar, minister of education, and David Boswell, provincial director of physical education, plan to leave this weekend for Ottawa where next week they will meet with federal department of health officials to discuss details of what funds may be available from the federal grant of $5,000,000 for promotion of amateur sport and physical fitness.

Ministers of education and their technical advisors from other provinces will also attend. Mr. Boswell said that he hopes there will be a "straight, outright grant to the provinces." "Then," he said, "if there is to be a per capita formula applied, we hope it will be applied after the grant is given."

Dr. Dewar and Mr. Boswell expect to return to the province Tuesday.
