HAPPENINGS

Mrs. H. E. Miller, Charlottetown, left yesterday by car to spend Christmas and New Year's with relatives and friends in Halifax.

The Rainbow Club Christmas party was held at Sunset Lodge Monday evening with the president Mrs. P. Stramm welcoming the guests. Mrs. A. A. MacDonald read the Christmas lesson and Mrs. Etta MacEwen, guest of the lodge, read one of her own poems, entitled "Little Things are Big Things."

Bridaier E. Chandler gave a Christmas message and Mrs. G. B. Chisholm gave a Christmas reading. Carol singing was enjoyed and the highlight of the evening was the appearance of Santa with gifts for all the ladies of the lodge. Tea was then served to the guests by the members.

The annual White Gift Service was held in Kensington United Church on Sunday morning when the Rev. Gordon Perry was the guest. Mrs. A. A. MacDonald read the Christmas lesson and Mrs. Etta MacEwen, guest of the lodge, read one of her own poems, entitled "Little Things are Big Things."

Mrs. William E. Johnstone, Kensington, is a patient in the Prince County Hospital, Summerside, where he underwent surgery on Monday.

Larry Mayhew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Mayhew, Margate, is a patient in the Prince County Hospital, Summerside, where he is recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

Gerald Cameron, a student at Dalhousie University, is spending his Christmas vacation with his parents, Fl. Lt. and Mrs. D. E. Cameron, Sion Park, Summerside.

Monday night's session of the Charlottetown Duplicate Bridge Club, combined with the annual Christmas party, attracted 13 tables at the Charlottetown Hotel.

Mrs. Murray Bell and Mrs. J.N. Larabee led the north-south side with a slim margin over Tom Cauly and D.L. Rozman, while on the east-west side, Mr. and Mrs. E. Douglas piled up a substantial edge over the runner-up team of Mrs. Vera Andrus and Mrs. Walter Perry.

Sessions for the next two weeks will be held on Thursday nights, Dec. 27 and Jan. 3. They will revert back to normal after the end of the holiday season.

Baskets of Flowers Adorn S'ide Church For Marriage

St. Paul's Church, Summerside, was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Mary Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Arsenault, became the bride of Sylvere J. Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Bernard, Summerside.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Pierre Arsenault. The church was decorated for the occasion with baskets of cut flowers. Mrs. Clarence Stewart was in charge of the wedding music and accompanied the Junior Girls' Choir, who sang appropriate hymns.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Wilfred Arsenault, was lovely in her street length wedding dress of white nylon chiffon over taffeta, featuring scalloped neckline, short sleeves of Chantilly lace, studded bodice cinching with tiny self-covered buttons in back, and bouffant skirt. Her shoulder length veil of nylon tulle was held in place by a small hat of nylon trimmed with chiffon and indolent sequins. She carried a cascade of roses. She wore a single strand of pearls with matching garnet, gift of the groom.

Miss Gladys Gallant, as bridesmaid, was gowned in shimmering net over taffeta with matching bolero, head-piece and mitts.

MARY HAWORTH

Snob Appeal School Said Laxity's Seeding Ground

Dear Mary Haworth: We felt so fortunate when our son was accepted by the college of our choice, a small, private school with a high scholastic rating. We expected sound training on an "honors basis" plus spiritual development.

But now it seems he is caught in a web of partying, a life of dissipation and seeing how much liquor he can hold. He joined a fraternity and never missed anything spiritual. In fact, he says they seldom have chapel.

He decorated his room with a dance as bringing out more bottles than people, a real party for him. We oppose drinking.

Recently we visited the school, arriving in the evening, and we were told he was a fraternity party where we would be welcome. We entered a dimly lit room filled with twisting, dancing girls, nearly all with high ball glass and cigarette in hand. A white-coated bar man was dispensing drinks.

Later I learned that the girls have to be in their dormitories by 12:30, but there is no curfew for the boys, many of whom have cars. Liquor, plus a car, plus lounge, plus a party, plus desire for excitement are paying the way to possible disaster, except for a lucky few.

A faculty member told me that college students are considered adults and should be treated as such. He said children properly trained at home will adhere to family teachings.

I feel the colleges are doing a grave wrong to our youth by must they allow complete freedom of action? It isn't that students won't tolerate restrictions as the faculty claims. It is because college officials have become weak.

Today there are more applications for college admissions than space for them. There is a frantic race for college acceptance. Why? If they cared about it, they would not be so desperate.

By the administrative laxity, if they cared about it, they would not be so desperate. American character, they could differ the rules. For those students who won't temper there are plenty in life, waiting to take their place, who will.

We have such high hopes for our son. He seemed so bright, so full of possibilities. Now we wonder if college is worth it. A church-sponsored school of no inspiration to a student, where could he find it?

Dear T.D.: Well, have you

Gift Service Is Held At Church

KENSINGTON — The annual White Gift Service of the New London United Church was held on Sunday afternoon, December 16, when the leader was Mrs. William Cotton.

Hymns sung were "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Away in a Manger" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem." The organist was Mrs. Ivana Collicutt. Scripture readings were by Phyllis Somers and June Cole. A duet, "O Little Town," was rendered by Patricia MacGregor and Verena Lynn Montgomery, and was followed by a group recitation by Velva Paynter, Robert Campbell, Judy Cole and David Cole.

The Christmas story, entitled "What I Shall we Children Bring?" was read by the leader. A choir of the senior boys and girls led in the singing. The offering was received by Alan Paynter and David Cole.

The prizes were then presented. Prizes for perfect attendance went to Errol Burgoon and David Cole, prize for Primary Catechism to Isabel MacLeod, prize for proficiency in memory work to June Cole and Phyllis Somers. The pupils each received gifts from their teachers.

On the teaching staff during the past year were Mrs. John MacLeod, superintendent, Mrs. James E. Cole, Mrs. John MacLeod, Misses June Cole and Phyllis Somers and Mrs. William Cotton.

Garth Caspary, student minister, spoke briefly congratulating the pupils and Sunday School staff for carrying out the service, and those who had received prizes.

The benediction was pronounced by Mr. Caspary.

The mission staff was requested to be running an ambulance service and caring for the wounded.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. James Church, Edmund Bay, recently when Mary

Girl's Choir Sings For Recent Nuptials At St. James Church

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. James Church, Edmund Bay, recently when Mary

Joseph Alfred Hashe, son of St. Hubert, Rev. Mrs. Nazaria Poirier officiated. Mr. Edward Poirier directed the St. Chrysostome Girls Choir as they sang appropriate hymns during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white lace over satin, floor length, a shoulder-length veil of nylon tulle, and she carried a lace covered prayer book topped with a corsage of roses.

Miss Corrine Gallant, as bridesmaid, was gowned in aqua lace with matching jacket and she carried a bouquet of white flowers. Nancy Hashe, flower girl, wore a pink dress, and she carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Elton Arsenault, brother of the bride, was best man and John Hashe, brother of the groom, ushered the guests to their seats which were marked with white bows.

Mrs. Arsenault chose for her daughter's wedding a mauve dress with white accessories and the groom's mother was attended in navy with white accessories.

The reception for the guests was held at the home of the groom.

On the honeymoon trip the bride travelled in a beige suit with white and yellow accessories and with a corsage of yellow flowers.

HURRY!

Beat winter to the punch

You foot the bill for his tuition, board and keep at college. Of course. Thus, without your cooperation and backing, he can't continue his dazed pursuit of pleasure in the new environment. So what do you propose to do about it?

Has it occurred to you that you chose this school for its snob appeal, among other things? Because of this there is a status-society of sorts from the world's view? Isn't that a major consideration, even now, in leaving him there?

Instead of cursing the school under your breath for failing to satisfy your expectations, it seems sensible to apply yourself to finding a less social, less expensive campus life for your son.

Talk to educators, or consult the year-end directory service and the public library, in search of a broad range of detailed information about large, small and medium size colleges in different parts of the country.

Be specific as to the balance between work and play on each campus and as to the traditional pattern of "socializing" to determine if this is what you want for your son during the winter of his formative phase. Then make your choice and see what you can do to transfer him.

P.S. If a church-sponsored school fosters hedonism, it is a reflection on the environment and administration but not necessarily an indictment of all church schools.
