Linesman Drops Dead In Game At Saint John

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Nov. 20 (CP)—A Maritime Senior Hockey League fixture between Saint John Beavers and Halifax St. Mary's was called off after the first period tonight following the death of linesman Bill Gulliver from a heart attack.

Gulliver, a Saint John resident, suffered the seizure 40 seconds before the scheduled end of the period. He died in a dressing room a few minutes later. After a long interval, announcement was made that both officials and players felt the game should not be continued.

Gulliver, a former hockey player, was officiating as a linesman for the first time in the league. Ed. Larabee was the other linesman and Casey Bradshaw, Toronto, was making his referee debut in Maritime Big Four play.

Aged about 40, Gulliver played left wing for Beavers in 1939 when they won the Maritime championship. Earlier he had been with Charlotteville Abbies in the Big Four.

Beavers were leading 2-0 when Gulliver collapsed. Manny McIntyre and Jesse James having scored. Saint John is three points behind second place Halifax in the league standing.

Rangers Send Player To Hershey

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—New York Rangers of the National Hockey League today sent veteran forward Alex (Killer) Kaleta to Hershey of the American League.

The move was part of last week's deal with Boston Bruins. In that swap the Rangers obtained forwards Ed Harrison and Zello Toppazzini for Dunc Fisher.

Harrison, who had been playing with Hershey, will join the Rangers for Wednesday night's game here against Montreal.

Kaleta, extremely popular with Garden fans, is a 10-year man who can play any of the front-line positions. He came to the Rangers after the 1947-48 season in a trade with Chicago Black Hawks.

Kaleta remains the property of the Rangers but must stay at least two weeks with Hershey according to an agreement between the two leagues.

Seek Action Against Pros Not Reinstated

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20 (CP)—President Doug Grimston of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has been asked to take action against players returning to amateur ranks without being reinstated.

Al Leader, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, protested to Clarence Campbell, the National Hockey League boss, who complained to Grimston.

The latest case is that of Otto Schmidt, who recently moved from Vancouver Canucks of the P.C.—H.L. to Kerrisdale Monarchs of the Mainline-Okanagan League.

"Schmidt is the man I believe Leader had in mind," said Grimston. "If he plays again, someone will have to be suspended."

But it is a puzzle for Grimston, who doesn't know how he'll suspend Schmidt.

"I'm president of the C.A.H.A. and Schmidt's still a professional," he has ruled, however, that Schmidt can't play for Kerrisdale until he's reinstated as an amateur.

Grimston, too, hopes to settle another puzzle soon, the case of Quebec Leaguers Bill Heindel and Larry Zeidel now with Saskatoon Quakers in the Western Canada League.

The Quebec Hockey Association charged that the two players were spirited west without obtaining releases from their clubs.

The C.A.H.A. registration committee voted to allow the players to stay in Saskatoon, but on demand

As in the previous two years, many hockey enthusiasts throughout the Maritimes will be looking forward to the hockey school for coaches and referees to be held in Charlottetown again this year. Sponsored annually by the Department of Physical Fitness, the dates for this year's Third Annual School will be Monday, December 11 to Wednesday 13th inclusive.

Notices have already been sent out to many enthusiasts in this Province as well as those in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and a large representative body from all three Provinces are expected to be in attendance again this year. Although primarily held for the purpose of instructing prospective coaches and referees to handle hockey activities in their respective localities, a number of qualified coaches, referees and officials have been attending each year in addition to representatives of the Press.

Such well-known personalities in Maritime sporting circles as Judge J. Elliot Huson, President of the Maritime Senior Hockey League and "Ace" Foley, sports columnist for a prominent Halifax newspaper, were among the some 50 enthusiasts who attended the school last year. Such men as these and others expressed their thanks and approval of the fine work the school was doing to improve and strengthen the basic principles of hockey.

One of the main figures who made the school such a success last year, Mr. George Hayes of the National Hockey League, will be the chief instructor of the school again this year. Mr. Hayes is a referee of long standing on the N.H.L.'s refereeing staff and has a fund of knowledge at his command on the rules and fundamentals of the game. His friendly manner and ability to impart this knowledge to others in a clear and precise manner, made a big hit with attending students last season.

Another prominent hockey figure, Mr. Murphy Chamberlain, who handled the instructional duties of the school dealing with the fundamental skills and techniques of playing the game, both in theory and practical demonstrations, was also scheduled to take part in the school again this year. His release as coach of the Islanders Hockey Club, however, has ruled this possibility out. The Department of Physical Fitness is at present negotiating to find a suitable replacement to handle those duties. It is also the hope of the department to have one of the coaches of the Cape Breton Hockey League to act as a 60-instructor.

The names of these two men will be released when their services have been confirmed.

The sponsoring body has drawn up another comprehensive program of training for this year's school. It will include talks on hockey rules and refereeing by Mr. Hayes, fundamental skills, individual techniques of defensive and offensive play by Big Four and Cape Breton Hockey League coaches. They will also give instructions and talks on such other hockey subjects as psychology of coaching conditioning and practice and many other features of the game.

At the end of each session, free discussions will be held between instructor and student concerning the individual problems and topics under discussion, while special sessions will also be held for senior officials. These open periods proved a great success last year. It gives the individual student an opportunity to review what he has learned during the various periods and the instructor the opportunity to find out whether the topics have been interpreted in the manner in which they were given. Drillon Released As Moncton Coach

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 20 (CP)—Gordie Drillon, coach of Moncton Hawks of the Maritime Senior Hockey League, today was given his release by club officials.

Club officials said that George Bell, a former star of the M. S. H. L. and secretary-manager of the Hawks club, will be acting coach pending the appointment of a successor.

Announcement that Drillon, former scoring star with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, had been following the Hawks was made following a meeting of club officials with Drillon.

Hawks occupy the cellar in the league. They have won six of their 21 League games this season.

Drillon was the seventh coach released by the Hawks since the team was re-organized in 1946, under the name of the Moncton team which won the Allan Cup two years in a row in the early 30's. Others were Clarence (Windy) Steele of Summerside, P. E. I., Les Ramsay of Verdun, Que., now coach of Saint John Beavers, Harold (Dud) James of Moncton, Gordon (Doggie) Kuhn of Bedford, N. S., Jack McKinnon of Toronto and Harvey (Busker)

Jackson of Toronto. During that time ownership of the club has changed hands three times.

Team officials said efforts would be made to obtain a new coach for the Hawks. They declined to elaborate. Efforts also were being made to obtain new player material, it was said.

Drillon had no comment on his future plans. A native of Moncton, he said he regretted severing his connections with the club. He expressed the hope that the team would improve its performance under new guidance and said the decision to make a change was reached amicably with club officials.

"There are no hard feelings," he said. "I tried my best to give the fans a winning team with the material I had to work with. The Moncton fans deserve a winning team. Last season Drillon staged a hockey comeback with Saint John Beavers. He ended well up in the league scoring. This season he has been working out regularly with the team, and there was speculation here tonight that he might again don the blades with some Maritime team.

Churchill Adding New Horses To Racing Stable

EPSOM, England, Nov. 20 (Reuters)—A cigar-smoking cherub of 76 who writes best-sellers, paints pictures, exhibits Shorthorn cattle and led Britain's fight against Hitler is also a renowned racehorse owner.

Winston Churchill has just purchased another fine animal to five his string of un-age animals to five. He also owns a brood mare and a filly. He has only one colt in training but, like its owner, it's one of the finest stayers in Europe.

The Conservative leader bought his first horse last year. It was the French-bred Colonel II, which since has won 11 of its 16 starts and amassed stake money totalling more than five times the 1,500 guineas (about $4,500) Churchill paid for it.

It is a political game, bringing his string of un-age animals to five. He also owns a brood mare and a filly. He has only one colt in training but, like its owner, it's one of the finest stayers in Europe.

The animal has figured in House of Commons debates. Once Churchill was complaining that Government extravagance had eaten up all Britain's assets.

Jeered a Labor member: "Sell your horse."

Replied Churchill: "I could sell him for a great deal more than I bought him for. I'm trying to rise above the profit motive."

Meanwhile Colonel II is pointed for next year's Ascot Gold Cup — 2½-mile event generally considered to represent the stayers' championship of Europe.

Today Churchill bought the foal Gibraltar from M. E. Nominie who bred Colonel II. Gibraltar joins the brood mare Poetic, the filly Cybarine — full sister to Colonel II — and the foals Why Tell, Moll Flinders, Caballistic and Non-Stop at trainer Walter Nightingall's stables here.

Another Churchill colt, Canyon Kid, won his first start this year but died suddenly soon after.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Ed (Whitey) Ford, rookie pitching star of New York Yankees, was inducted into the United States army today. The 22-year-old New Yorker won pine games for the Yankees after joining them late in the season and then beat Philadelphia in the fourth and clinching game of the World Series.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20 (AP)—Cincinnati Reds finished the 1950 National League baseball season 879,683 in the red, president Warren C. Giles reported today. It was the first time since 1945 that the Reds had failed to show a profit.

Sport Echoes From Prince County

We were listening to an amateur game in Madison Square Gardens between the Atlantic Sea Gulls and the New York Rovers, which the New Yorkers won by the score of 7 to 3. Dennis Mooney, whom we saw between the pipes in the pre-season game between Garnet and Gold at the Forum, was in the nets for the Rovers. He seemed to be a fairly busy custodian and doing a good job.

In spite of match-misconducts by the referees, and suspensions by the President of the "Big Four", the hockey in this Maritime circuit continues to be sprinkled with a lot of unnecessary and more or less disgraceful rough tactics. Pushing referees around is a much too common occurrence. Worst of all, however, are the battles of swinging sticks that are beginning to develop. We don't think an occasional slug-fest hurts hockey a bit. The fact that the boys lose their tempers occasionally and throw punches at each other seems natural when you consider the rugged character of the pastime and it adds a bit of color to the game. But fans don't want to see players swinging sticks at each other's heads. Somebody could get seriously hurt playing it that way and that particular brand of entertainment is getting too close to the old gladiatorial combats of the Roman Coliseum to be relished by twentieth century spectators. In our humble opinion a man should be penalized the second he raises his stick in a threatening gesture and the rules support such summary action. The spectacle of three players, each with raised stick, pursuing one lone player is a scene we didn't expect to see in our national sport.

Leo Lamoureux has had a very auspicious debut as coach of the high-flying Islanders. For the first time since their winning of the first ten games, they are playing above 500 percentage hockey. They've won six and lost five games up to Saturday's game in Halifax. Their shut-out of St. John in Charlottetown was impressive, and their defeat of the runner-up St. Mary team right in their own ballpark was equally impressive. If St. Mary is the team to beat, then it takes the Islanders to beat 'em.

We have come to a very vital stage in the question whether we are to have a hockey and skating rink in Summerside. If something tangible does not come out of the present reviewing of the situation, there is little reason to hope that anything will be done about it for years to come. The Town Council has offered to lend $50,000 towards the building project and other generous terms have been added. But it seems likely that, if any group were going to take advantage of this offer, they would have done so before this. And if nobody comes forward to accept these terms, what then? On whom does the responsibility of seeing that Summerside has a rink like other Canadian towns rest? No one can question the fact that in building this type of recreation centre, the trend of late has been away from private enterprise and towards community effort. Perhaps it is because returns on such an investment take a long time catching up to the original capital that makes this project more suitable to community effort than to individual enterprise. In any case, we are still the "Rinkless Town of the Maritimes" and no amount of progress on other fronts can blot out the stigma of letting our youth down in the matter of winter recreational facilities.

Goalie Outstanding As Visitors Score Upset In Rugged, Bristling Contest

A hard skating band of Moncton Hawks pucksters pulled their second upset victory over the Charlottetown Islanders this season when they battled to a 4-2 victory here at the Forum last night before one of the smallest crowds of the season.

It was a bristling contest that saw hard checking and numerous outbreaks bringing about 10 penalties including two misconducts and four majors. George Bell handled the Hawks team from the bench in the absence of Gordon Drillon who was released yesterday as coach of the Moncton Club.

Shooting a goal each before the first two minutes of play had been reached, Moncton took the lead in the game with the only goal in the second frame. Garnering two goals to Islanders' one in the closing session gave the Monctonians their victory by a two-goal margin.

The Islanders outshot their rivals 30 to 20 on the night's play but outstanding goaltending by Les Colvin barred the door to pressing Islanders' snipers.

Holding a 3-2 edge in the closing minutes of the game, Moncton's final goal was scored by Lou Milani on a breakaway on a pass from Joe Delmonti after Coach Lamoureux yanked out Islanders' goalie Hal Gordon in an effort to get the tying goal. Moncton's two first goals were also scored while Islanders were playing a man short.

Walter Pawlynshyn scored the opening goal at the 38 second mark of the opening period of a beautiful two-man attack with Wes "Bucko" Trainor, while Dalton Barkwell and Mike Demchuk repeated the performance to tie the score just 69 seconds later, while Conway was off for charging, to end the scoring for the period. Both goalies, however, were called upon to make sensational saves to keep the scoring down during the frame. Hal Gordon turned aside six shots and Les Colvin 10.

Moncton pressed the attack in the early stages of the second frame to hem in the Islanders and force Gordon to come up with stellar saves. But as the period progressed the Islanders again took the upper hand on the play and peppered rubber at Colvin from all angles, but with no result. Taking advantage of an elbowing penalty to Favaro at 17:33, Lou Milani sent Hawks into a 2-1 lead when he teamed up with Ron Gaudet in a play around the net. Both goalies broke even on shots on goal in the frame with an even dozen apiece.

Despite the fact that the Islanders carried the play away from their rivals in the third period to outshoot them eight to two, Jean Jenneau opened the scoring at 3:57 when he golfed home a screened shot from just inside Islanders' blueline on Gaudet's passout. Both teams were playing a man short at the time, Trainor and Morrow off with a major and misconduct each for a prolonged fight. The incident occurred in the opening seconds of the period in the left corner of the Moncton zone, when Trainor and Morrow opened hostilities with bare knuckles after a roughing bout in the corner. But the scrap was allowed to go on by the presiding referee. Both boys pummeled one another for about three minutes, and were allowed to break out at it again as they skated to the penalty box, which took another two or three minutes before it was stopped. The fracas put Trainor out of the game for the night, having to have a number of stitches to his head and face.

Building up a terrific power attack inside the Moncton blueline around the five minute mark, the Islanders finally made it pay off at 13:52 when George McLagan fired home a hard screened shot halfway in from the Moncton blueline as Bruno Favaro's passout. The puck didn't quite come out to McLagan and he skated in to pick up the loose puck and fire home a very hard shot.

Trying to overcome the one-goal lead held by Moncton, coach Lamoureux took goalie Gordon out with about two minutes left in the game, putting on five forwards to garner the equalizer; both teams were playing a man short at the time. Hal Beaudry and Rod MacKenzie teamed up with majors for fighting. Lamoureux's strategy nearly worked out, when the Islanders hammered all around the Hawks' net, but young Les Colvin was unbeatable. The situation backfired at 18:36 for the final Moncton goal.

Being hemmed in at the time, with every Islander up, Joe Delmonti sent Milani away on a clear breakaway to skate down and push the puck into the empty Islanders' net, but it was too late then to do anything about it, the Hawks skating off a minute later with a 4-2 victory.

Best Player Award

Colvin's outstanding performance on the night's play gave him the "best player" award, a hat donated by Henderson and Cudmore, local men's wear store.

Islanders' hard-working left winger, Walter Pawlynshyn, was carried off the ice in the latter stages of the third period with a knee injury. Pawlynshyn received the injury when he crashed into the boards with Gus Gallepeau in the left corner of the Moncton zone. It is believed that the injury to the Islander's left winger is not very serious.

Moncton—Goalie: Colvin; defence, Delmonte, Dunville; centre, Barkwell; wings, Demchuk, Morrow, Subs, Jenneau, Gallepeau, Dem, Milani, McKenzie, Mousseau, Imonti, Gaudet, Larie.
