Canada-Wide Mixed Spiel Set For '64

The provincial curling association has been informed that plans are underway for staging the first national mixed curling bonspiel at the Royal Canadian Curling Club, Toronto, March 17 to 20.

Each rink will be composed of two men and two women curlers. Each province will select their own champions through a regularly operated bonspiel. Ontario and Northern Ontario will each be allowed to send rinks, the same as in the Brier and schoolboy competitions.

The national bonspiel will be a round-robin competition with each rink clashing with the other on one occasion.

It is not known whether all provinces will be represented at this first national mixed bonspiel but Prince Edward Island will definitely be sending a quartet. Mixed curling is decidedly popular in the Maritimes but the western provinces do not give it nearly as much prominence. In view of this, it is doubtful if all western provinces will send a representative to Toronto in March.

This national mixed curling setup has been advocated for several years but the great stumbling block was finding a national sponsor. The O'Keefe Brewing Company has removed such an obstacle.

Prominent Sportsman Dies Here

Following an illness of several months, Douglas K. MacLeod, one of Prince Edward Island's outstanding sportsmen died Saturday morning in the Price Edward Island Hospital, he would have been 70 yesterday.

Mr. MacLeod spent over 40 years as a railroad mail clerk. He retired from this position in 1958, being suitably honored by his fellow workers at the end of his final run.

His interest embraced practically all phases of sport but harness racing was the one which received his greatest attention. He was the president of Victoria Driving Club and the Horsemen's Protective Association and a former secretary of the Prince Edward Island Sports and Racing Commission.

Mr. MacLeod was also a most enthusiastic hockey fan and headed the Junior Royals' executive when that team was winning Maritime honors back in the late 30's. His son George was a defenceman on that outstanding squad which played those stirring battles with Perth Blue Wings in 1939 and 1940. George later joined the RCAF and was killed in action in 1943.

ADVICE SOUGHT

Mr. MacLeod's advice was sought by all race promoters in this province. His wide experience was highly valued by everyone connected with the harness racing game. He enjoyed this season of the year immensely because he was an ardent hunter for many seasons.

He is survived by his wife, the former Sarah Warry, one son, Robert, Charlottetown, barrister, and a daughter Elizabeth (Mickey) Mrs. Fred Cannon and his mother Mrs. John T. MacLeod, 93, Charlottetown.

Also surviving are the following brothers and sisters: Jean (Mrs. Rundle Seaman) Charlottetown, Allison M. Charlottetown, Fred, Gorham New Hampshire, Lillia (Mrs. Scott Cairns) Marshfield and Maude (Mrs. A.D. MacDonald) Bridgetown, P.E.I.

The funeral was held from the Cutcliffe Funeral Home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment was in the People's cemetery

Management's Refusal Said Stumbling Block

John Wedge, union representative from Toronto, said Saturday, that refusal of management of A. Pickard Machinery Limited, Malpeque Road, to deal directly with the International Union of Operating Engineers representatives instead of through legal counsel is the cause for the continuing strike that is tying up the plant.

"Main stumbling block to a settlement also," he said, "is the consistent refusal of management to meet with union representatives to discuss the issues of the strike."

Local 721C of the union has been picketing the plant for about a month. Negotiations on a working agreement broke down when the parties were unable to agree on premium rates for overtime work.

"The picket line will stay," said Mr. Wedge, who left for Toronto Saturday. "However," he said, "I am willing to remain if there is the slightest hint of opening negotiations. I think that the most important thing now is that we talk to someone in authority in the company. If there are problems regarding the paying of overtime rates then the thing to do is sit down and talk about them. If the company says paying overtime is not feasible we are prepared to talk about it, but we feel management should be in on the discussions. It is unusual to have negotiations carried out through a lawyer."

Mr. Wedge said the union has done everything possible to "get talking with management but it appears Pickard is not disposed to talk."

The union representative said "members of the local on strike are receiving marvellous financial and moral support from provincial unions. We didn't expect such generous support and are thankful for it."

Pole Sheared Off; Two In Hospital

Two city men were admitted to hospital Saturday night after their car left the highway and struck a power pole. The accident occurred about 11:50 p.m. at the corner of Malpeque Road and Belevedere Avenue.

The driver, Maurice MacIntyre, Charlottetown, was reported resting comfortably in the Charlottetown Hospital last night. His condition was described as not too serious.

Paul Kelly, 16, of Southport, the only passenger, was reported in satisfactory condition in the P.E.I. Hospital where he was being treated for lacerations and other injuries.

MacIntyre told police last night that he had no idea what had happened. He said he was proceeding south on Malpeque Road from the Towers Restaurant and had no intention of turning onto Belevedere as it was originally believed.

The power pole was sliced off causing an electric power failure in the immediate area and out to Bonshaw as high tension wires were also knocked down. There were some reports of appliance damage as the high voltage caused by the accident was transmitted to private homes.

Grant Given P.E.I. Project

William Benedickson, federal minister of mines and technical surveys, recently announced a $1,360 grant to the University of New Brunswick for a Prince Edward Island project.

The grant will go to professor D. J. C. Laming for a study of recent beach sand and harbor mouth shoal deposition at Rustico harbor. Object will be to find out the relation of sediment type to rate of sedimentation and the influence of burrowing organisms on the sedimentation.

This year the Geological Survey of Canada is making grants totalling $75,000 to 14 universities for 21 new projects and 22 continuing studies. The Rustico harbor project is among the new ones.

Mr. Benedickson said the grants are an investment in the future of young Canadian scientists from which the nation will be among the chief beneficiaries.
