

Sport Echoes From Prince County

Bedeque Rink School Sports

O'Leary has drawn first blood in the intermediate "B" hockey final for Prince Edward Island. Whether they can hold the 3-goal edge is another question. We think they should but they did better in Alberton and Borden than they did in the home rink.

Congratulations to the Borden Sisters who brought the Island ladies' hockey championship to Prince County. Now, perhaps, our And's Sisters won't feel so bad about the 8-0 trouncing they received at the hands of the champions. Here's hoping the O'Leary Maroons make it two for us Westerners.

Outside of those, we'd say our Summerside Midgets have about as good a chance as any group to rack up another Island championship for Prince County. Just what kind of competition they will stack up against in Charlottetown we don't know, but the team in Summerside is a little above average, we would say.

"Hub" Beaudry showed Monday night that he is virtually in a class by himself when it comes to successful forechecking, and killing off penalties. Beaudry broke up a lot of plays. He was a third defenceman when he was on the ice. Marcel Clements seemed more intent on settling old scores than in scoring himself. He sat with the timers for ten minutes, and his value to the team was naturally reduced considerably. A forward normally spends about twenty minutes playing in a game, and that meant Marcel was in the sin bin as much as on the ice. Clements is among the best when he pays attention to the little black waffer.

The Miners showed that they will be tough to take, but Chamberlain seems to have the boys to do the trick, with any kind of an even break from Lady Luck. They're a big, bashing crew, and should wear the Maceymen down in a long series.

Both teams, however, will know they've been in a tough series, and if Sydney is to offer only a token resistance to those high-flying Atlantics, as appears by their showing in the first game, then Halifax may be comparatively fresh coming against the survivor of what has the earmarks of a gruelling series between Islanders and Glouce Bay. Such a situation as this has happened in the N.H.L. when the Chicago Black Hawks, an admittedly inferior team, romped off with the

Variety Concert At Cherry Valley

On Wednesday night, March 11, the Cherry Valley Hall was filled to capacity as an appreciative audience enjoyed one of the finest entertainments of the season. Assisted by local and outside talent, the United Church Y. P. U. of Cherry Valley presented a program that held the interest of young and old for the entire evening.

The program, with the Minister, Rev. J. P. MacKay as chairman, began as the curtain rose to the strains of old familiar favourites being sung by a group of choristers seated comfortably on the stage in a homelike setting.

The program was brought to a close in the same setting as it began as the choristers sang several more numbers, after which a very happy evening came to a close with the singing of "The Queen".

Displays Show Red Cross Activities

Window space for displays depicting some of the activities of the Red Cross in Prince Edward Island has very generously been donated by several Charlottetown firms.

In Moore and McLeod's window during the past week were to be seen samples of the 1200 articles of clothing made up by the women of the province and shipped for the relief of flood victims in Holland.

Rogers' Hardware has an exhibit of dolls dressed in the costumes of many different lands by Junior Red Cross members in these counties. These are for exchange with Juniors to promote international friendliness, and there are also samples of handicrafts done by Juniors in this exhibit.

The display in the R. T. Holman Ltd. Hardware window shows some of the sickroom supplies which were loaned 750 times from the 17 different centres throughout the province in which they are located.

The scene in the Maritime Electric window depicts one of the 2,883 blood transfusions provided in 1952 being given to a patient in hospital. In S. A. MacDonald's window is to be seen a Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety Instructor and one of the 2,331 pupils who were enrolled in the 42 different classes held last summer.

The 34 Red Cross First Aid Posts established throughout the province at which over 300 accidents were treated last year are featured in the display in Prowse Brothers window.

Scout News and Notices

Sub Zero Weather

When 104 Rover Scouts camped out at Springwater Park, Midhurst, Ontario, recently, while attending the annual Winter Rally of Ontario Rover Scouts, the temperature dropped to 10 below during their overnight camp. These older Scouts, from 11 centres, cooked all their meals out of doors and enjoyed an adventurous programme of winter activities. Plans were laid for the 1954 Rover Scout Moot at Niagara Falls.

Despite the fact he is not a strong swimmer Malendy without hesitation went to the assistance of the other Scout when he got into difficulties out of his depth, brought him ashore, and administered artificial respiration, while another Scout went for help.

"KING OF PAIN"

Kay and Richards each sang a solo. Instrumental music was given during the intermission by Leigh MacEachern with the harmonica, accompanied by Mrs. MacEachern and Alan MacRae (guitars) and ... There ... accordian solos during the program by Marie Myers and by Peter, one of the young "newcomers" from ... Recitations were also given by Mrs. John MacKay, Kenneth MacEachern, and Freddy Richards. A monologue on being "cliniced" was given by Mrs. John MacLeod. Four comical skits by members of the Y.P.U. brought a great deal of laughter and applause.

The program was brought to a close in the same setting as it began as the choristers sang several more numbers, after which a very happy evening came to a close with the singing of "The Queen".
