New PC Senator Challenges View Held By Liberals

OTTAWA (CP)—In his first address to the upper house, Senator Wallace McCutcheon challenged the Senate opposition's contention that it must scrutinize legislation from the Commons more carefully now that a minority government is in power.

The new minister without portfolio in Prime Minister Diefenbaker's cabinet said Liberal senators were directing their remarks "to the electorate rather than to the question."

"There is no such thing as minority legislation," he said in the throne speech debate, answering remarks made last week by Senate Opposition Leader W. Ross Macdonald who said it would be necessary for the Liberal majority in the upper chamber to give "all legislation even more searching investigation than has been our custom."

Speaking in a deep, rolling and relaxed voice, Senator McCutcheon said any legislation that reached the Senate from the House of Commons would have been passed by a majority of the members "and that legislation deserves no more or less attention from the present parliament" than from any of the previous 24 parliaments.

Senator McCutcheon defended Mr. Diefenbaker's part in the London conference of Commonwealth prime ministers by saying "he would have been completely derelict in his duty had he gone to London and said: 'well, now, whatever you do is perfectly satisfactory to us.'"

Liberals Elect Caucus Chairman

OTTAWA (CP) — Alan Macnaughton, Liberal member of Parliament for Montreal Mount Royal since 1949, has been unanimously elected chairman of the Liberal party caucus.

He succeeds George E. Nixon, MP for Algoma West, who has been nominated by Opposition Leader Pearson to be Liberal party parliamentary observer on Canada's United Nations General Assembly delegation.

Mr. Macnaughton,a lawyer, will preside at the closed strategy meetings of the 161 Liberal members of the Senate and Commons.

Venus Probe Path Revised

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The United States Mariner II space probe will pass about 21,000 miles off Venus rather than the 9,000 miles previously calculated, the U.S. space agency announced here.

But a spokesman of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the spacecraft still would pass through the planned target area, extending from 5,000 to 40,000 miles from Venus—"well within the region where the scientific planetary experiments are expected to be very effective."

The Mariner space probe due to pass by Venus Dec. 14, is designed to study the physical and chemical makeup of that planet and its atmosphere.

Mariner was launched from Cape Canaveral on Aug. 27.

Experts assigned to the Mariner space probe told reporters satisfactory preliminary results had been received from the scientific instruments packed into the 447-pound vehicle.

NASA said Mariner's position Wednesday was: Distance from earth. 7,112,250 miles. Distance from Venus 31,153,377 miles.

Sewage Seen Top Problem In Pollution

TORONTO (CP)—It is essential that the public be educated to the dangers of uncontrolled water pollution and the costs necessary to combat it, D. S. Simmons, a director of Imperial Oil Ltd., said here.

Speaking to a luncheon meeting of the Water Pollution Control Federation, Mr. Simmons said it is the public that pays "whether the problem is brought under control or allowed to continue unabated."

"This is particularly true now when the big pro'lem facing us is not so much industrial wastes but domestic sewage. Every day, from Canadian households alone, more than 2,500,000,000 gallons of raw or partly treated sewage is dumped back into our rivers and lakes. The water we drink from our taps may already have been used, we are told, up to six times."

Slash Disposal Called Problem In Forest Care

WASHINGTON (CP)—A Canadian forestry expert has advocated here that steps to be taken to prevent forest fires from following in the wake of lumbering operations.

J. C. Macleod, associate director of fire research for the Canadian forestry department, told a working group of the North American Forestry Commission—an organization sponsored by the United Nations—that controlled use of fire could be used to remove the serious fire hazard from slash accumulation in forest operations.

Such a method already was in use in British Columbia, he said, and might become necessary as a last resort in other Canadian provinces.

Mr. Macleod also advocated a campaign to make citizens "act as watchdogs" over the forests.

The two-day meeting is attended by delegates from Canada, the U.S. and Mexico.

The bidding:

Pass	Pass	1♥	Dble.
Pass	1♠	2♣	Pass
Pass	Dble.

Opening lead—ace of clubs.

Part score contracts are not as exciting as games and slams, but they provide just as much opportunity for skillful play. Here is an exceptionally well-defended hand played in the inter-city match between Los Angeles and New York two years ago.

The Los Angeles South opened the bidding with a heart and West (Howard Schenken) doubled. East (George Rapee) responded one spade. East's hand was much better than his spade bid indicated, but it wasn't quite good enough to justify a jump response.

South then bid two clubs, and West and North passed. Rapee had to do something to show his values, so he doubled.

Schenken had no clear - cut opening lead to make and decided to open a trump to protect any heart strength East might have. After leading the ace, he continued with the eight. Dummy played low and so did Rapee!

If Rapee had taken the eight and returned a trump, South would have made the contract. Dummy's nine would have given declarer the entry to take a heart finesse to bring home the contract.

South won the club with the ten and led the king of spades, hoping to force his way into dummy. But West ducked the king and then took the ace when declarer continued with a spade.

Schenken now underled the A-Q of diamonds. Rapee won with the king, cashed the king of clubs, and returned a diamond. Declarer ruffed and played the ace and another heart. Rapee took the jack and netted with his last diamond.

Declarer ruffed with his last trump and played another heart. Rapee won with the king— the sixth trick for the defense— but then had to concede two spade tricks to dummy.

East-West didn't score much on the deal— just 100 points — but they earned every point they got. At the second table, where the defense was less inspired, South bid and made three clubs.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
