Communications Satellite Said Perfect During Test

By AUSTIN SCOTT
NEW YORK (AP) — The trail-blazing Early Bird communications satellite performed faultlessly Sunday during a spectacular, full-scale test of its ability to relay television signals across the Atlantic.
For the first time, pictures were relayed simultaneously in both directions across the ocean.
The same program was shown on screens in Europe and North America, but technicians used a split screen technique to show pictures from both continents at the same time.
"Over-all, I think it was an incredible job," Bill Leonard, a vice-president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, which coordinated the show for the three major U.S. networks, said in New York.
Matthew Gordon, public information director of Communications Satellite Corp. which boosted the $3,300,000 Early Bird 22,300 miles into space last April 6, called it "a rather spectacular demonstration."
Originating at a dozen different locations in North America and Europe, the hour-long production was carried off with few flaws. The three principle

The floods have taken 14 lives and caused $150,000,000 damage in five states thus far in the Mississippi's worst spring rampage in history.

15 Scientists Delighted With Ocean Floor Study

By DON McLEOD
DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — Fifteen scientists returned here aboard the floating oceanographic laboratory Hudson Saturday, overjoyed at the success of home-grown gadgets for studying the ocean floor which were given a major six-week test.

The researchers already were taking of similar equipment for other ships based at the three-year-old Bedford Institute of Oceanography on the outskirts of Dartmouth.
Armed with an automatic recording and computing system developed at the institute by Dr. Clive Mason of St. Thomas, Ont., the scientists used a standard computer installed in the ship to assemble detailed maps of the ocean floor in mid-Atlantic and in the western approaches to the English Channel.

Dr. Mason's invention automatically transforming the readings in character on punch-tape, fed directly into a computer installed aboard the 4,500-ton Hudson. The computer used for the experiment was considered invaluable for oceanographic research after the test.

In Nova Scotia, forestry personnel battled 12 separate fires Saturday and a bush fire was reported out of control Sunday in the McGill Lake area, about 25 miles northwest of Shelburne.

In New Brunswick, Sunday, three bush fires were also reported out of control along the St. John River, between Mactaquac and Keswick Ridge. Another was burning across the river near Kelly Creek.
The Saint John fire department responded to 16 separate calls, most of which were for grass fires.

Personnel from the RCAF station at Baccaro, N.S., joined Nova Scotia lands and forests fire fighters to battle the outbreak near Shelburne.
Firefighters feared the fire would jump the Clyde River and a call was made for small boats to carry equipment across.

Ceasefire In Effect; Peace Effort Pushed

By LOUIS UCHELLE
SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — U.S. forces doubled their strength in the Dominican Republic Sunday and took up positions facing military and civilian rebels demanding the return of former president Juan D. Bosch. A cease-fire went into effect and a major inter-American peace effort was under way.

U.S. military planes landed and took off at San Isidro air base, 20 miles east of here, every two minutes. About 2,000 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division arrived overnight and more flew in during the day, despite a sharp let-up in the fighting that had raged in Santo Domingo for a week.
Dominican troops loyal to an anti-Bosch military junta dropped into rear guard positions.

The U.S. defence department reported in Washington that 9,500 marines and 82nd Airborne paratroopers now are operating in the Dominican Republic. It said another 2,500 marines had set sail on the helicopter carrier Okinawa and five other navy ships from Moorehead City, N.C., for undisclosed destinations. It was assumed they would be sent directly to the Dominican Republic or would hold offshore as a back-up force.

MARINE FORCE 3,000
The reinforcements announced by the defence department increased the marine force here to 3,000 and the paratrooper strength to 6,500.
At San Isidro a huge stockpile of armament, supplies and trucks was building up as plane after plane landed.

The U.S. Navy cruiser Newport News joined a fleet of 13 American warships anchored off Santo Domingo and army Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer arrived to take command of all U.S. land forces operating here.

Secretary-General Jose A. Mora of the Organization of American States and a five-man OAS commission made their initial contacts with the pro-Bosch rebels and the three-man military junta established last week by military leaders seeking to prevent Bosch's return.

Mora entered rebel territory—a 15-block commercial and residential area in the heart of the city—Sunday morning for a conference with Col. Francisco Caamaño Dengo, leader of a claimed rebel force of 18,000 soldiers and armed civilians. Mora then went by helicopter to San Isidro where he conferred with the military junta.

LBJ Comments On Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Sunday night the lives of thousands of people, the liberty of a country, and the principles of the inter-American system are at stake in the conflict in the Dominican Republic.
Johnson, reporting to the nation on the Dominican crisis, said at times great principles are tested in a conflict of order and danger—this is such a time.
The president spoke after conferring with top administration advisers several times during the day and briefing congressional leaders earlier Sunday night.

Fidel Castro Assails Landing Of U.S. Forces

HAVANA (AP) — Premier Fidel Castro, assailing the landings of U.S. forces in the Dominican Republic, told a cheering crowd Saturday night U.S. marines are doing there "like miserable and traitorous dogs."
"What has been proved is that marines are of flesh and blood and that bullets will pierce that flesh and blood," he said in a May Day address to the nation.
He charged U.S. leaders "are nervous and they have lost control and serenity of thought."
The dispatch of American forces to Santo Domingo was a slap in the face to Latin American members of the Organization of American States, he said and called it "one of the most vandalistic acts of the century."
Castro expressed "admiration and profound respect for the heroic fighters" opposing the military junta established last week to keep military rebels from bringing former president Juan D. Bosch back to power.

of optimistic reports from his munio's efforts to mediate in the embattled Dominican Republic.
Vatican sources said transatlantic telephone calls came to the Vatican's secretariat of state from the Caribbean nation about 3 a.m. The calls in the middle of the night were regarded as a sign of urgent developments concerning Msgr. Emanuele Clarizio's attempts to bring clashing elements together.
Msgr. Clarizio, the papal nuncio in Santo Domingo, has been credited with playing a major role in cease-fire efforts in the Dominican Republic.
UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Cuba asked permission Sunday to join in United Nations Security Council debate on a Soviet complaint of U.S. armed interference in the Dominican Republic.
The United States, while not opposed to the debate, was expected to urge the 11-nation council to leave any action to the Organization of American States. Many diplomats believe the council finally will do that.

"We know Juan Bosch has never been and possibly never will be a Communist," Castro declared. "I say 'possibly never' because who knows if after all that has been done to him some day he might decide to become a Communist."

A denunciation of the U.S. landings was also made by Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China. A Peking broadcast said Chou extended Chinese Communist support and demanded an immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces.
In Mexico, Foreign Secretary Antonio Carrillo Flores said in a statement: "The people and government of Mexico cannot approve of the landings of U.S. marines in the Dominican Republic."
Mexico's two chief political parties—the Government Institutional Revolutionary Party and the Opposition Party of National Action—accused the United States of interference in Dominican internal affairs.

Mayor Of St. Pierre Re-Elected

ST. PIERRE, St. Pierre-Miquelon (CP) — Mayor Joseph Lehuenen and almost his full municipal council were returned to office in elections held on the island Sunday in the midst of political and economic turmoil.
On Thursday, just three days before the elections, a citizen's committee called the "committee for the defence of the interest of St. Pierre," issued a public proclamation that stated in essence a vote for Mayor Lehuenen would be a vote of non-confidence in the governor, the highest administrative power in the old colony.
The committee was the instigating power behind demonstrations and a three-day general strike last week against the action of the French government in sending in 130 militiamen (members of the French Garde Mobile), a trouble-shooting unit. Spokesmen for the committee have publicly called for the recall of Governor Jacques Herry, blaming him for all trouble and unrest on the islands 10 miles south of Newfoundland.
