You've mental powers
you're not using

True, top limits of intelligence are probably fixed at birth — but science is discovering most of us never use half the mental resources
we're born with.

June Reader's Digest tells what recent studies reveal about the mysterious workings of the mind.
Know scientists now believe it may even be possible to learn while we sleep?

Read six ways you can stretch
your mental powers.

IN MEMORIAM

ROBERT J. GRIFFIN

The death occurred in the Charlottetown Hospital on April 20th of Robert J. Griffin of South Shore in his 60th year. The deceased was a veteran of the first World War and after his discharge carried on farming at Rocky Point.

The many Mass Cards, floral tributes and messages of sympathy testified to the esteem in which he was held by his many friends. He is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Richard and John at home, Thomas in Vancouver, Gertrude (Mrs. Smith) in Charlottetown, Margaret (Mrs. Lafferty) and Jane at home. His remains were forwarded from the Charlottetown Funeral Home to his late residence, South Shore, from where the funeral took place to St. Martin's Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father McLellan of the Holy Redeemer Parish, who also conducted services at the grave. The Kensington branch of the Canadian Legion attended in a body. Pall bearers were Norman MacDonald, Edmund Handrahan, Walter Quilty, Ernest MacNeill, Wilfred Doiron and Iyor Smith.

May his soul rest in peace.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Robert Griffin, wish to thank the Clergy Sisters, Doctors and Nurses of the Charlottetown Hospital and all those who sent Mass Cards, messages of sympathy and floral tributes, and all those who in any way helped them in their recent sad bereavement.
