CAPITOL SUMMERSIDE

The Jones Family Now Playing At Capitol Theatre, Summerside

JONES ON FARM

The incomparable Jones Family packs up and goes "Down On The Farm" for a vacation in the latest of the 20th Century-Fox series, opening today at the Capitol Theatre. The film introduces a hilarious new comedy team—Louise Fazenda, as Aunt Ida, and Eddie Collins, her hired man and perennial sulter.

BOYS TOWN

"Boys Town" starring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney, brings the most colorful human and exciting of real-life stories to the screen, proof again that "truth is stranger than fiction." The picture opens Monday for three days engagement at the Capitol Theatre.

More than a year ago, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer became interested in Boys Town, the only incorporated village of its kind in the world. This city of little men has a population of 275, of which 200 are boys, and is situated on the main highway west of Omaha, Nebraska. It is twenty-one years old, a dream come true, the dream of one of the greatest and most kindly humanitarians of our time, Father Edward J. Flanagan.

Reports were received from sub-committee chairmen and indicated steady progress towards providing a week crammed with outstanding programs.

Eight yacht clubs had been contacted and would probably send boats here for the regatta. Water sport events were beginning to take definite shape. In all these programs sailors from the three naval ships, two Canadian and one American, scheduled to be in port here at that time, were expected to play a part.

Not the least interesting part of the whole week would be the Firemen's Tournament with teams from the mainline cities and towns participating, it was said.

Possibility of a band concert with entries from the mainland included in the list of competitors was seen as a possibility yesterday.

The historical parade and street carnival arrangements were fast taking shape, the general committee was informed.

Yesterday's session was presided over by Mr. Justice A. E. Arsenault, committee controller. In addition Premier Thane A. Campbell, chairman of the general committee was present for a portion of the meeting. Owing to press of other business he had not been attending general committee meetings previously.

Sub-committee chairmen present included: V. A. Ainsworth, Angus MacEachern, Walter Grant, Ivan York, Reddin, Superintendent of the R.C.M.P., George W. Tweedy, P. W. Clarkin, E. W. MacKinnon, J. M. Murley, J. E. Harris, and R. C. Chandler.

Arrangements could probably be made to have the car ferry Prince Edward Island available for a double service during the week of the right to conquer smaller and weaker neighbors "we reject it and must reject its application." But if Germany meant by "lebensraum" to expand her trade influence by negotiating and co-operation, Britain was willing to meet her half-way.

Co-operation Not Compulsion

"Nations extend their wealth and raise the standards of living of their people by gaining the confidence of their neighbors and thus facilitating the flow of goods between them," he added.

The very opposite is likely to be the consequence of action by one nation in suppression of the independent existence of her smaller and weaker neighbors.

"Through co-operation, and we for our part, are ready to cooperate, there is ample scope for extending to all nations the opportunity of larger economic life with all that this means, which is implied in the term 'lebensraum'."

She said the League was gratified to learn the Dominion Government in the past year had confiscated 2,639 magazines and suppressed 2,887 newspapers, 10,400 pamphlets, 53 books, 155 photographs and 3,917 publications of a subversive nature.

Mrs. Hanway declared the government's home training course for women included in the youth training scheme, had developed young women into good Canadian wives and mothers instead of leaving them to the inevitable fate of a "deplorable marriage and the further breeding of undesirable citizens."

The request of the League of Nations Society of Canada that the Catholic Women's League should continue to be represented at the society's national executive was a great triumph, Mrs. J. A. McCabe of Ottawa, convener of the League of Nations Committee, said in delivering her report.

A warning against international societies which opposed religion, came from Miss Josephine Lynch, Saint John, who reported for the International Relations Committee.

"Through association with the international union of the Catholic Women's League, it has been impressed upon us how the youth movement, called the World Congress of Youth, has become more and more dominated by communistic elements and how the World Union of Free Thinkers is inspired by methods of Soviet propaganda," she said.

"The latest formula, which has gone from London and Paris to Moscow, is the victim of the proposed aggression against one of the smaller states."

The latest formula, it was said, would bind the three major powers to come to each other's assistance in the same way that they would cooperate in meeting aggression against one of the smaller states.

Reports Are Presented To C.W.L. Meeting

WINNIPEG, June 29—(CP)—Mrs. J. A. Hanway of Amherst, N. S., appeared today for suppression of what she described as "salacious magazines" when she presented her report on legislation at the Catholic Women's League annual convention.

She said the League was gratified to learn the Dominion Government in the past year had confiscated 2,639 magazines and suppressed 2,887 newspapers, 10,400 pamphlets, 53 books, 155 photographs and 3,917 publications of a subversive nature.

Red Sox Win Fifth Game Defeating Kensington 12-7

Pitchers must have some sort of affection for each other, at least it seemed in a game at the school diamond last evening in which the Red Sox outthrew and out-scored Kensington 12-7, Walter Arsenault, pitcher number one for the Sox, held the Kensington squad to one earned run in four innings but errors in the clutches gave the losers six unearned runs and they were leading 7-6 at the end of the fourth. With two on and two out in the top of the fifth W. Arsenault was lifted for a pinch hitter and Gerard Bernard second member of the Sox hurling department pulled a "Red Ruffing" by slamming a single to left field to drive in both runners and tuck the game away. Ray Arsenault, the third pitcher to be used by the Sox, promptly relieved Bernard and shut the losers out for the final two frames.

"Boo" MacCallum pitched nice ball for Kensington but allowed the Sox nine hits, three of which were doubles, and this more than the speedy right hander usually gives up to an opposing squad.

Darrach provided one of the highlights of the game when he snagged "Buff" Morrison's stolen base in the fifth. A Clow hit two doubles and a single in four trips and Dods collected two singles and a double in the same number of times at bat.

On Saturday evening at 6:15 Summerside All Stars under the leadership of Fred Daley and L. Monley will play the Victorias of Charlottetown at the school diamond.
