

'Side Club Hears Talk On The Four-Way Test Of Rotary

Choosing as his subject "The Four-Way Test of Rotary" the program yesterday at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club delivered an inspiring message to the members of the Summerside Club. He said that Rotary was an association of business and professional men banded together with the idea of service. "Rotary," he said, "has come a long way since 1905 when it was founded by Paul Harris. We are at all times remember that we are the guardians of a sacred trust. The watchword of Rotary is the service and we must keep burning the torch which has been passed along to us."

HONEST CHILDREN — The honesty of two Summerside children resulted in a monetary reward from a grateful lady visitor from Newfoundland who lost her wallet containing money and valuable papers while shopping in a Summerside store yesterday afternoon. When the loss was reported to the Summerside Police Station, the police were happy to tell the lady that her purse had been found on the street outside the store, by nine-year-old Kay Newton and her ten-year-old Deryll Morrison. Another visitor of Summerside was not quite so lucky. His loss of a wallet containing travellers cheques to the amount of $150., some cash, and plane tickets, is believed to have occurred near a Summerside service station. The loss was reported to police but no information as to its recovery had been received at a late hour last night.

Much Travelled Young Lady Visiting Mother in Albion

Miss Helen Kerr of Montreal, a much travelled young lady, is at present visiting her mother, Mrs. Helen Kerr, and her ninety-eight year old grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Wilkinson, at Albion. Just over one year ago Miss Kerr returned from a transcontinental tour which took her to Australia, India, South Africa, the Belgian Congo, Egypt, the Holy Land, Syria, Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia, Italy, and a number of other European countries during the past summer she visited Alaska, her travelling companion being an Australian, a youth whom she met first at a youth hostel in Paris and later in Madrid where they attended a bull fight together. Their next meeting was in Montreal from where they began their journey to Alaska.

"Although I had seen much of my own country before," Miss Kerr says, "I never looked more beautiful to me than when I was showing it off to my Australian friend. The breath-taking spectacle of Niagara Falls, the woods and lakes of Ontario, the vastness and beauty of our prairie lands, fortunately at their greenest as we passed through early in July. "We travelled by car from Toronto to Edmonton with a lady whom I had met at Victoria Falls in Africa. When leaving Toronto she had planned to drive with us right through to Anchorage but turned back at Edmonton, feeling another two thousand miles would be too much for her. So my friend and I hitch-hiked up the Alaska Highway. "Any traveller on the Alaska Highway must marvel at its construction which began in March, 1942 and continued for about three years. It was cut through a great wilderness area. No adequate or accurate maps were available when the U. S. Army and Public Roads Administration charted the route through virtually unknown country of forests, muskeg swamps, hills, mountains and valleys. More than a hundred rivers and streams were bridged. "Today the Alaska Highway starting at Dawson Creek, B. C. (mile 0) to Fairbanks, Alaska (mile 1, 524) is an excellent gravel road (1,222 miles in Canada and 302 miles in Alaska) which takes one through scenery of unsurpassed grandeur — vast forests, bold mountain ranges, streams of game fish, glorious lakes. What a tourist attraction when the whole is paved! The highway is kept open all year and many travellers say they prefer driving on a good snow surface to that of summer. There are gas stations and modern hotels all along the route, and a surprising amount of traffic. "It was interesting to pass through such places as Fort St.

John founded in 1793 as a trading post for the Sikan Indians and now noted for its natural gas field, and Whitehorse, capital of the Yukon, where still may be seen evidence of early gold mining days. Just over one year ago Miss Kerr returned from a transcontinental tour which took her to Australia, India, South Africa, the Belgian Congo, Egypt, the Holy Land, Syria, Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia, Italy, and a number of other European countries during the past summer she visited Alaska, her travelling companion being an Australian, a youth whom she met first at a youth hostel in Paris and later in Madrid where they attended a bull fight together. Prince County Branch Potato Producers Ass'n. Has Meeting

Mr. William Lefurgey of Summerside East and Mr. Neil Bradshaw of Sealton were elected directors of the Potato Producers Association for a two-year term at the annual meeting of the county branch of the association last evening in Summerside. The new directors replace the two retiring directors, Charles McCordle of Middleton and Major Moase of St. Eleanors.

The meeting, attended by about a dozen members, was presided over by the president, Reuben Large of Wilnot Valley, and a challenging address on self improvement in farm affairs, and a report on assistance available to farmers through governmental departments was delivered by Mr. R.C. Parent, superintendent of the Charlottetown Experiment Station.

During a membership discussion on the work of the producers organization, Archie Robinson commented that the association had fallen down in its role of leadership because decisions affecting growers had been made by the Marketing Board officials without consultation with the Producers Association, and he urged that the matter be brought to the attention of the Premier.

Mr. Brent Clark was of the opinion that other farm organizations were permitted a more flexible administration of the business, and which they were concerned, and wondered why the producers organization was not accorded this same right. He expressed a criticism at the Government in regard to the omission of representation by the association at a meeting party from the Island who transported potatoes to N.S. and asked for a specific price. The buyer produced a Guardian which listed the market price, and Mr. Dawson claimed that the trucker lost $20. off the price he had anticipated on the load.

Considerable concern was expressed by the members for a strict supervision of a grading standards, and a tough policy by authorities to prevent and eliminate any presence of communicable potato diseases.

In his address Mr. Parent suggested that Island farmers should concentrate on seed production and a more attractive packaging of table potatoes. He compared the rich Island soil in contrast with the rocky ground which existed over much of the eastern coastal area, and pointed out the increasing market potential developing in areas surrounding the province.

In conclusion Mr. Parent described the governmental services through Experimental farms, inspection services, science services, freight assistance or subsidies on lime, feed grain, butter, and grants to exhibitions, cold storage plants, and other forms of assistance of direct and indirect benefit to farmers.

Mr. John Dawson expressed opposition to the publication of potato prices in the Guardian. He indicated a belief that more money would be obtained from the industry if the market report indicated only an increase or a decrease in the market price. He told of an experience of a

Five Fined For Unnecessary Horn Blowing

In a move to end unnecessary tooting of horns by youthful motorists parked on the near Water Street, members of the Summerside Police Department issued Court summons to five Sunday night offenders who appeared before Magistrate E. H. Strong yesterday, and each paid fines of $5, in addition to court costs.

The court also began hearings resulting from a Saturday night brawl in which three men from Carleton, Albany and Nova Scotia were involved. The three had been arrested following a fight on Spring Street, and while one was being escorted to cells at the jail, a resident of Wilnot Valley allegedly leased the two remaining prisoners from the police patrol, enabling them to escape before the police returned. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the two escapees, while the two men charged with aiding their escape appeared yesterday morning and after evidence was heard they were remanded until this morning. The case was concluded against the Carleton man who was charged with obstructing a police officer and he was fined $100, and costs.

As the sequel to another disturbance which took place on Water Street, a New Annan man was fined $10 and costs for his part in the disturbance, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of the other man who allegedly provoked the resulting disturbance.
