In this modern age, nickel helps a lot to grow up strong and healthy. Cod liver oil, tooth paste, medicines and toilet preparations are all processed in equipment made of pure nickel or nickel alloys.

Today bicycles are being made stronger, more durable - but lighter in weight - with the help of alloys made strong and tough by the addition of nickel.

In the dairy, the purity of milk is protected by the use of nickel-alloy materials in the pasteurizers, coolers, bottling machines and other equipment.

Nickel is on the job most everywhere

Hundreds of everyday uses for Nickel have been developed by the Nickel industry through a planned program of research. Today a large share of Canada's Nickel production is being diverted from peacetime uses into channels for preparedness. So the Nickel mine facilities, greatly expanded over the past decade, are again being operated at peak capacity. There is actually more Nickel now being delivered by Canada to the free world than in any peacetime year.
