

Publics Invited To Aid In Program

Urban McQuaid, executive director of the P.E.I. Mental Health Association, urged greater public participation in mental health programs.

Mr. McQuaid said yesterday there was a greater need because of the expansion in programs for the Riverside Hospital patients over the last few years.

Mr. McQuaid has invited the general public to attend the annual meeting of the association Wednesday night when the activities sponsored by the CMHA will be outlined.

Guest speaker at the meeting, scheduled for the Charlottetown Hotel at 8 p.m. is Dr. R.G. Forsythe, director of mental health services for P.E.I.

Mr. McQuaid said that in addition to its services to patients program, the CMHA has embarked on a program of public education this year.

It is the first workshop for clergy was held in association with the Institute for Pastoral Training when between 60 and 70 members of the clergy from various parts of P.E.I. took part.

Workshops for teachers are being planned for later this year and other workshops will be undertaken next year.

Since its beginning in 1960, the association has undertaken numerous activities to brighten the otherwise drab existence of the mental patient.

Included in these services - ten patients programs are weekly bingo and card parties; a special monthly dance; an apparel shop opened at the hospital where patients choose their own clothes and can get dressed up for special occasions.

The CMHA has also organized a bowling league and has installed two alleys at the hospital for patients not well enough to take part in the league held in Charlottetown alleys.

The bowling season is climaxed in the spring with a big banquet at which prizes are presented.

In addition regular outings to the North Shore and picnics are organized during the summer months and patients who are well enough are regularly taken to drive-in theatres during the season.

BRIDGETOWN SPAN UNDER CONSTRUCTION

This new steel and concrete span at Bridgetown which is nearing completion is being erected by the provincial government to replace a temporary bridge. The original one was washed out during the heavy spring runoff in 1962.

The new span which is 27 feet wide and is being built by H.J. Phillips and Son, Charlottetown was started late in August.

The charge of driving without due care and attention against Elwin Burke, a salesman for the company, was dismissed after Mr. Burke, the informant Karl Perry and two other members of the picket line testified.

Mr. Perry stated that he had been bumped by the vehicle driven by Mr. Burke while on picket duty but Magistrate A.J. Haslam ruled there was no evidence of carelessness on the part of the driver of the car, and dismissed the charge.

In other cases before the court, that of James Solomon Sterling Fall was remanded to Nov. 26 with bail to stand. Fall is accused of the theft of a truck worth valued at over $50, the property of Stanley Foster.

Crown Prosecutor is Allan Seales and counsel for the defense is Allison Gills. Information was laid by Cst. J. Maynard Roy of the RCMP.

David Donald Morton, Charlottetown, was remanded on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Bail was set at $50.

An accused was fined $30 and costs or 90 days for being in possession of liquor in a place other than his residence.

Two men were fined $10 and costs or five days when they pleaded guilty to going through red traffic lights. Herbert Cole, Meyfield was fined $10 and costs or five days for operating a motor vehicle on the highway with inadequate brakes.

Glen McGuigan, Ocean View, was fined $15 and costs for speeding. He was clocked doing 55 miles per hour on Elm Avenue, a 30-mile speed zone.

One man pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and incapable and was given a 20-day suspended sentence.

Light Project Going Ahead

The lighting which is designed for the 1964 centennial year will be used this Christmas as the main streets in time for the Dec 15 deadline.

Mr. Higgins said the lights being strung along the highway are continuing the work while the weather lasts. On the rainy days the men have been making new strings to be ready for hanging when the weather permits.

He had also been a strong supporter of the Liberal party. One of his major achievements in Charlottetown was to organize the raising of funds to have the Prince Edward Island Hospital built on its present site on Brighton Road.

He is survived by five sons and daughters: Wallace, Charlottetown; Neil in Tampa, Florida; Doris (Mrs. William D. Leal) of Saint John; Avis (Mrs. J.E. Stevenson) of Ontario; Cal, Charlottetown.

Two sisters who survive him are Mrs. Albert Stevenson of Charlottetown and Mrs. Ethel Higgins of Dorchester, Mass.

Youth Choir Sings During 'Crusade'

The evangelistic crusade at First Baptist continued last night with the youth choir in attendance. The choir rendered "Heaven Came Down and Glory Filled My Soul. Only to be what He wants me to be, I just keep Trusting My Lord and a duet, "I'll be True to You".

Later it sang "Jesus is Coming Again".

Rev. Harry Taylor the evangelist spoke on "How to be saved". The services continue tonight and Thursday and Friday evenings.

Ch'town Site Of '64 Session

Mayor A. Walthen Gaudet said yesterday that it was agreed by the executive of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities to hold the 1964 meeting in Charlottetown.

Mayor Gaudet returned Monday night following a week in Montreal and Ottawa attending the 1963 session of the Federation. He noted the city could not handle the full membership convention involving approximately 1,000 people.

However, he extended an invitation to the executive and expects about 30 members, many of them with their wives, to be here in the late fall next year.
