WATERING BEER CHARGES ANNOY BRITISH DRINKERS

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — A science writer's charge that beer is being "baptized" with water in pubs raised a thin edge of foam in English drinking circles.

Dr. Michael Winstanley, in an article on the science page of the Manchester Guardian, brewed the controversy a few days ago. He wrote that beer was being watered in the so-called baptizing process by substituting about a bucket of water for a bucket of beer in a 36-gallon barrel.

Worse still, Winstanley said that when a pub-keeper pulls the pump and lets the beer overflow the glass in a generous gesture, he isn't being generous at all.

What he's doing is feeding it into a drain, or "economizer," which takes it back to the barrel—to be sold again. This, said Winstanley, could be dangerous to health in the pickup of germs.

Tuesday The Guardian published a letter from pub-keeper A. Challenor-Chadwick in Chisworth, declaring:

"Far from putting up with a dilution in the ratio of one to 18, I am quite sure that my own customers could detect a tablespoon of water to a hogshead of ale. Equally, old toffee papers, orange peel, or tadpoles in beer are out."

C. L. Shaw of the Brewers Society, writes that over-spill, under proper control, is not harmful but it is "distasteful" and thus the society has recommended against its use and the practice is "disappearing rapidly."

Arthur Boardman general secretary of the Licenced Victuallers' Defence League of England and Wales, says there is no known case of infection "ever having been conveyed by beer." He adds:

"The late Professor Henry Armstrong maintained almost throughout his life: 'Beer is the safest drink the world over.'"

Sealing Season Has Started For Landsmen In Nfld.

ST. JOHN'S (CP)—The 1963 sealing season for landsmen has started in Newfoundland.

Federal fisheries officers in various parts of the province have reported seals being killed by men going out on the ice from shore or catching them in nets. About 500 seals were seen last week in Green Bay.

At Fogo, also on the northeast coast, several seals were seen in the harbor. Fogo landsmen have killed some. Thirty were taken in nets at Twillingate, near Fogo.

Each year, thousands of seals are taken by landsmen, who use nets if there is ice in it. It provides a supplement to their annual fishing wages—the pelts usually are sold here for about $10.

But while the landsmen have started the harvest, sealers operating from vessels have to wait until March 5 when the season officially opens in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and until March 10 when they can hunt at The Front, the great southward - drifting mass of ice stretching along the eastern Labrador coast.

HALIFAX (CP) — Six ships are being prepared by Halifax owners for participation in this year's seal hunting expeditions. Most are expected to take part in the Gulf of St. Lawrence hunt, which is set by international agreement to open March 5, five days before the hunt begins off the coast of Labrador.

The North Star VI, owned by North Star Shipping Limited, is expected to leave by the end of the week to pick up part of her 65-member crew at Port aux Basques, Nfld.

Also preparing for the hunt are the Theron, Theta and Mina, owned by Karlsen Shipping Company Limited.

The Arctic Sealer and the Arctic Endeavor are expected to carry Shaw Steamship Limited colors in the spring hunt.

SPINSTER IS RULED WEALTHY

CHICAGO (AP)—A judge has made an elderly spinster, who had been living on relief, into a well-to-do woman—something she said she did not seek.

Robert Malquist, acting probate court judge, ruled that Alice Colton is the sister of the late Mrs. Marie Lonergan and is entitled to all Mrs. Lonergan's $160,000 estate.

Miss Colton, 59, refused at first to testify on her behalf in court. She made her appearance under court order.

During testimony, the annoyed Miss Colton snapped: "I didn't go after this thing. They came after me."

She said she liked her way of life and didn't care about the money.

She was found living in a small apartment after a long search by Edward Ackema, administrator of the estate Htr living expenses were provided by the county public welfare department.

ENVOY DEPARTS

OTTAWA (CP) — Viscount Amory, British high commissioner to Canada, left by air Wednesday for London for "routine consultations" with the government, returning to Ottawa early in March.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3NT	Pass	4NT	Pass
6NT

Opening lead—queen of clubs.

Here is a remarkable hand in which the declarer made six no trump. West led the queen of clubs, innocently enough, the suit never having been bid, and from then on found himself caught in a vise from which he could not escape.

It is not easy to make twelve tricks with this hand against the best defense, even with the advantage of seeing all 52 cards, but South managed the affair so uncannily well that he could not be stopped.

He took the ace of clubs and cashed the A-Q-J of spades, West discarding a heart and a diamond. Then he led a low club.

West could not afford to play low, which would have allowed declarer to finesse the eight, so he put on the ten. South took the ten with the king and cashed the king of spades discarding a diamond from his hand as West discarded another heart.

Declarer then cashed the A-K of hearts, and West, who could not afford to discard a club, which would have made declarer's task easy, was forced to part with a diamond. That brought about this interesting five-card position:

	North
	♥9
	♦J88
	♣8
West	East
♠Q9	Immaterial
♦J75
	South
	♠AK
	♦964

South now cashed the A-K of diamonds, felling the queen and establishing dummy's jack. Then he led the four of clubs, whereupon West found himself in a hopeless position.

West could not afford to duck, because the eight of clubs and jack of diamonds would provide declarer with the eleventh and twelfth tricks.

So he won the club with the jack, but was then forced to return a club away from his 7-5 into South's 9-6.
