Belgian Prince Awed By Snow Removal Cost

MONTREAL (CP) — Belgium's Prince Albert was visibly awed by Montreal's snow removal problem as he began the Quebec phase of his Canadian tour Tuesday.

Settling down for a brief informal chat in Mayor Jean Drapeau's office, he asked: "How much of your budget do you have to spend for snow clearance, Mr. Mayor?"

"This year, we have authorized spending of close to $6,000,000," the mayor said.

"Wow $8,000,000! Did you hear that?" he said, turning to Belgian Ambassador Guy Daufresne de la Chevalerie.

The 28-year-old heir to the Belgium throne had plenty of opportunity to see Montreal in its best winter outfit as the royal car moved through downtown traffic from one engagement to the next.

SNOW GREETS PRINCE

Slippery streets, a wind-whipped snowfall, and in some places huge banks of snow, provided the setting.

In the course of conversation at city hall, Prince Albert asked the mayor if the city had considered it feasible to try heating certain principal streets.

"Under the present circumstances, it would be too costly," the mayor replied.

Earlier the prince visited the University of Montreal, largest French-speaking university in the western hemisphere, where he was received by the rector, Msgr. Irenee Lussier and some 50 Belgian professors and students.

In an address later to the Chamber of Commerce of Belgium and Luxembourg in Canada, Prince Albert said Belgians and Canadians should strive to develop further a "spirit of frank and friendly collaboration" for the mutual development of the two countries.

"I am strongly convinced," he said, "that one of the fields where considerable possibilities are offered to both our countries is that of industrial cooperation."

Belgium, ranked only behind the United States and Britain among countries with investments in Canada, had been able "to make an important contribution to the gigantic effort undertaken by Canada to further increase her industrial potential," he said.

But, in 1961, the balance of trade between the two countries was $31,000,000 in Canada's favor.

"If Belgium is in a position to participate to a large extent in the industrial development of Canada," he said, "it is also certain that our merchandise exchanges could be further increased."

LAC Gallant will be stationed at the Summerside RCAF Station.

ATTACKS DECREASE

CHICAGO (AP) — The president of the American Heart Association says the death rate among middle-aged men from cardio-vascular diseases is decreasing. Dr. James V. Warren says six-per-cent fewer deaths were noted in the 1950-1960 decade in men 45 to 64 years old, terming this "the first relatively sustained improvement we have seen in this field."

responsibilities, assure our defences, assure our security, and do our part to bring about the only solution for mankind today —disarmament."

"If war comes," he added, "18,000,000 Americans and 1,500,000 Canadians will die in a few hours, and there is no answer to the ICBM. There can be no victory in a nuclear war."

In the only part of his speech for which he issued a prepared text to reporters in advance, Mr. Diefenbaker declared that his policy of national development will be extended to a $400,000,000 program of urban development. But he skimmed through the text, cutting that part of his speech short to return to Ottawa by a late afternoon train.

He said that if re-elected, his government would introduce amendments to the National Housing Act authorizing the federal treasury to bear the full initial cost of eradicating urban blight. The government now pays half the cost.

His government, he said, is also prepared to pay a subsidy to help the operating losses of public housing projects for low-income families. It now contributes to the capital cost of the projects.

an invasion of fairly large proportions.

He estimated that some 300 persons connected with the games will come into the city. These will include the members of the 11 teams and representatives from more than 20 curling clubs across Canada, along with their wives, plus Brier officials, company officials, and the press, radio and television representatives.

He also mentioned the fact that several hundred more persons may come in a spectator capacity, which is a big reason why a building such as the Arena or Coliseum is necessary.

TO CALL ON MAYOR

This morning, Mr. Pattee, accompanied by Gordon Bennett vice-president of the Charlottetown Curling Club, will call on Mayor Gaudet.

Mr. Pattee plans, that in addition to making it his courtesy call on the mayor, he will also try to convince His Worship that he should, if possible, attend the Brier meeting as his city's representative.

He felt that the presence of a city's chief magistrate always carries an enormous amount of weight when the committee makes its final decision on awarding the next year's games.

The meeting this year will be held in Brandon, Manitoba on Saturday, March 9.

pletely was in the wide range of capital equipment materials and components used in Canadian industry.

The surcharge had been eliminated earlier from most machinery of a class or kind not made in Canada. Monday's measure eliminates it on virtually all machinery and capital equipment used in Canadian industry.

LIST EXEMPT ITEMS

Some of the items no longer subject to a five-per-cent surcharge include metal products such as sheets, angles, wire, pipes and tubes. Aircraft and engines also became exempt.

The surcharge of 15 per cent is being completely withdrawn and most of the goods which were subject to it now will be assessed the reduced rate of 10 per cent.

The extra levy on certain imported consumer goods also were either withdrawn or eliminated. The 10-per-cent surcharge on china and soap powder was done away with. On sanitary ware, washing machines and parts, radios, certain cameras and furniture it was cut to five per cent from 10.

The five-per-cent charge on certain quality shirtings and on cotton for the manufacture of bandages also was eliminated.

Mr. Nowlan's announcement said the remaining surcharges will be eliminated as soon as further improvement in Canada's external accounts makes it possible.

Police Round Up Four On Break, Entry Counts

SUMMERSIDE — Three Tignish men appeared before Magistrate W. Chesley S. MacDonald yesterday morning in Prince County magistrate's court and each pleaded guilty to six charges of break and entry.

The trio are Gerald James Aylward, Edwin Joseph Desrochey and Wilfred Joseph Richard. All three plus a fourth man, Peter Joseph Buote also of Tignish, appeared before Magistrate MacDonald last Friday and pleaded guilty to a charge of break, entry and theft from Alberton liquor store.

Sentence was deferred to yesterday morning, but during that interval, the six new charges were laid against three of the men.

The charges to which they pleaded guilty yesterday are break and entry on two counts at Tignish Co-op service station, two counts at Frank Shea's general store in St. Louis, one count at Tignish Co-op grocery, and one count at a cottage in Kildare, property of Thomas O'Connor.

Sentencing was deferred for a week in all three cases.

Peter Joseph Buote pleaded guilty to the charge of break and entry at the Kildare cottage and his case was adjourned also for sentencing to next week.

Ulric Matthew Gallant, Saint John, N.B., pleaded not guilty to a charge of unlawful possession of a power drill, property of Tanton Accessories, valued at less than $50 and the case was adjourned to Feb. 26 for hearing.

PLEADS GUILTY

Martin Joseph Gallant, Egmont Bay, yesterday altered his plea to guilty on a charge of break and entry at Wellington Centres school house, and also a charge of theft of a blanket, property of Schurman Peters, Lennox Island, and the cases were adjourned for sentencing to Feb. 21.

RCMP stated that Jan. 14 Gallant and two others, Dieu Donne Fournier and Edward Joseph Heath of Summerside had gone to Port Hill in Gallant's car. There they took the spare tire and jack from a parked car property of Mrs. Agnes Myrtle Campbell of Kinkora. They are said to have jacked up the car and took three tires from it, then made off with the four tires, jack and a battery they removed from the vehicle.

The trio then broke into a car of Schurman Peters, Lennox Island, stole a blanket, and unsuccessfully attempted to remove the radio. They hit other cars as well, with intent to steal articles from these vehicles.

On their return to Summerside, RCMP said the trio broke into the Wellington Centres school house. There they upset the teacher's desk, students' desks, the stove, ripped up books, including a new dictionary, and left the place in a state of havoc.

Gallant in a statement to RCMP later said he had met Fournier in Prince County jail, and Fournier had promised to pay Gallant if when they got out he would drive him around. Gallant insisted he did not enter the school house or the cars.

Crown prosecutor George McMahon asked for a jail term. Magistrate MacDonald said a penitentiary sentence would do accused much more good. Because while there he could learn a trade and "come out better equipped". The case was adjourned to Feb. 21.

ALSO CHARGED

Wayne Reginald Lapointe, 18, RCAF Station, also had his case adjourned to Feb. 21. He is charged with break, entry and theft from the RCAF station curling club rooms. RCMP stated he stole some liquor and cigarettes that were not recovered, and they were of the belief that they were sold locally. Defence Counsel is J. Watson MacNaught, QC.

With this portion of the program completed students then formed up in front of the college for a huge torchlight parade through the city streets. With good intentions the torch bearers started out on foot, but their hiking enthusiasm apparently waned with dying out of their torches. Here some of the foot sore marchers crowd aboard a trailer for the trip back to the college.
