

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

AUGUST 26, 1895.

THE VICTORY IN WESTMORELAND.

NOTWITHSTANDING the heroic efforts of the Maritime Leader and Treasurer of the great Election Fund, in spite of the oratory of a dozen special pleaders drawn from abroad, with Davies and Fraser on the one hand and Tarte and Chloquette on the other, and after all the bluster, the boodle and the brag, the majority of the Government candidate is upwards of seven hundred -- or two hundred more than it was in 1887 when Mr. Wood was opposed by Mr. Emmerson, when the National Policy was yet on trial, and when the great Sir John Macdonald was in the heyday of his power! This is a fact to be particularly noted. The Government majority in Westmoreland in 1891 was abnormal, inasmuch as the personal popularity and influence of Mr. Wood was then overwhelming, while his opponent (Mr. George) was comparatively unknown and so weak that he was abandoned by the Opposition in the country, and was unable to command the votes of any but the thick and thin Oppositionists. But with every circumstance against him, with many men arrayed against him on the stump and as canvassers on the field who must of necessity be employed elsewhere at the time of the general election, Mr. Powell has been returned by a majority much larger than that of Mr. Wood in 1887 and much larger than that of Mr. Wood in 1881. From all the facts and circumstances, we are not justified in drawing the conclusion that the Government party in Westmoreland, in reality, at least as strong now as it ever was? Admitting that Mr. Powell is personally an abler man than his opponent, admitting that his popularity has grown since he was, upon Provincial issues, defeated by Mr. Killam in 1891, and admitting that the support which he received from the Finance Minister and the Hon. Donald Ferguson was stronger and better than that of the dozen or more outsiders who assisted Mr. Killam in the recent contest, yet the margin of the increased majority is still sufficient to warrant the deduction that, despite the changes in its leadership, the party of the National Policy has suffered no real loss, but on the contrary has gained strength. If this be so, are we not justified, also, in the inference that the party of the National Policy is as strong as ever it was throughout the whole of Canada? At all events the result of the election in Westmoreland, taking everything into consideration, will encourage the Liberal Conservative Party in this Province and elsewhere to perfect their organization in anticipation of the general election of 1896.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Will the Patriot say that "Donald did it" this time? Mr. Powell had the same policy at Shediac that he had at Peticodiac, and he obtained a majority of -- well, about 800. The Pioneer says that in its influence upon the young men of Charlottetown the Club is a curse. What has the worthy President of the Club to say to this utterance of the Press County organ? What says Premier Peters? About six o'clock last evening Mr. Isaac W. Wadman, entered into rest. His death was the result of injuries sustained about two weeks ago. Mr. Wadman removed from Southport about twenty-five years ago, and has since resided in Charlottetown. He was well known and deservedly respected. He was a prominent member of the Sons of Temperance, and was ever ready and anxious to promote the good cause. His bereaved widow and relatives have the sympathy of all. The Guardian says that "The Examiner seemed to express an opinion on Friday that Killam would be elected." Not so, we never doubted for a moment that Mr. Powell would secure a majority even though the Liberal Conservatives of Westmoreland were surprised by the grand army of outside grits led by Mr. Davies and Mr. Tarte. But we supposed that the contest would have been a tight one, and we gave the Opposition speakers greater credit than they deserved. We never imagined that the government majority would be 715, and away ahead of the usual majority.

MARRIED.

At the Methodist Parsonage, on August 23rd, by Rev. R. W. Weddall, Albert Peters, of Summerside, to Ella Green, of the same place.

DIED.

In Charlottetown, Aug. 25, Isaac W. Wadman, aged 65 years. [Funeral Wednesday, from his late residence, Gratton St.]

GUTHRIE, Ok., Aug. 23.--Rev. Frank Whitham, a prominent Congregationalist preacher, of Eastland, Va., has applied for a divorce in Oklahoma District Court. He alleges his wife has an ungovernable temper and would at times break up the furniture and drive him from the house, and that she left her home and neglected her children to deliver lectures.

ADLAIDE, August 24.--Hon. W. Holder, Treasurer of South Australia, in making his speech on the budget, said he regretted to announce a deficit of £93,000, despite the continued economies of the government. The chief decrease was in custom receipts. Mr. Holder declared that further economies, including reduction in the governor's and other salaries, gave an estimated credit balance of £7,000.

EDINBURGH, August 24.--The strike of jute workers in Dundee is still increasing. Over 25,000 men are now out. No disorder.

NOTICE.--All members of the Order of the Sons of Temperance are requested to attend the funeral of our late brother, Isaac W. Wadman, on Wednesday, at 2.30 p. m. --DAVID SMITH, G. W. P.

Bicyclists.--The Great Bicycle Tournament is drawing near. We hope that it will be a fine day and prove a success in every sense of the word. But in case of rain, provide yourself with one of the Bicycle Waterproof Suits to be had at the McKay Woolen Co.

This is the last day for receiving entries for the Labor Day races.

Say, boys, what about that torchlight procession?

THE WARRIOR'S RETURN.

The return of an unfortunate soldier of the first Napoleon from the freezing Russian campaign, carrying with him all the marks of defeat in heavy scars, a hungry stomach and an empty purse, intensified by the indifferent greetings of those who cheered him as he went forth to the fight, was not more pitiable than the sight that Mr. Davies presented as he stepped off the train on Saturday night on his return from the Westmoreland election. At the beginning of the week he left the shores of Prince Edward Island amid sunshine and applause. But on the fatal Saturday night, he returned to his home amidst darkness and dripping rain, "none so poor to do him reverence." Even the elements seemed to conspire to emphasize his defeat and humiliation. Far different was the news for which he had prepared his few faithful followers, and far different the reception they had arranged for him on his return. Had not his burning eloquence "captured" the French electors of Shediac and Cape Bonil? Had he not "crushed" Foster at Peticodiac and made a "powerful oration" on the night before the election at Moncton? That "last bolt" which he "shot" at Moncton was sufficiently "powerful" to consign all the Tories of Westmoreland, and indeed of the whole Dominion, to political perdition. Besides his own greatness, he was singularly happy in the weakness of his enemies. Wood and Ferguson held a very "tame" meeting at Sackville. That weakling, Foster, was "crushed" like a nettle at Peticodiac, and the paltry speeches with which Ferguson, Powell and Foster disgusted over 2,000 of the people of Moncton on the eve of the election were not worthy of even telegraphic mention. Can it be that the "last bolt" missed its destination and struck poor Killam instead of the wicked Powell? Can it be that the people of Moncton were so dazzled by the powerful oratory of Davies, and so disgusted with "tame" arguments of the Tory speakers that out of pure bewilderment they voted for Powell? The last time Killam was a candidate in Moncton he was at the head of the poll; now he is in a minority of 300! Davies' "bolt" did it. How strange, too, that great speeches by Fielding and D. C. Fraser and tame rejoinders by Wood and Ferguson should result in a Tory majority of nearly 300 in Sackville. What about that "special meeting" of the Young Liberal Association called with editorial prominence for Saturday evening in Charlottetown? Did it materialize? Was it the rain which prevented the torchlight procession?

EUROPEANS IN CHINA.

Their Lives Said to be Not Worth an Hour's Purchase. A despatch from Shanghai to the Pall Mall Gazette says the Chinese government has made most extraordinary appointments in connection with the outrages upon English missionaries. The formerly degraded Liu, who is generally regarded as the actual originator of the Chengtu riots, has been definitely appointed imperial high commissioner to investigate the circumstances which led to the outbreak and the facts connected with the outrages themselves. The appointment has caused the utmost dissatisfaction and indignation among foreign residents. The London Globe, in an article on the recent attacks upon foreign missions in China, says, "If outrages such as have occurred near Foo Chow, as reported yesterday, can take place with impunity near a treaty port, where foreign consuls are stationed, what may happen in the outlying stations throughout the country? The refusal of the Chinese to permit European consuls to assist in the inquiries into these outrages must have convinced Lord Salisbury that it is useless to expect satisfactory proposals from the T'ung Li Yamen. The court which tries the perpetrators of the outrages must be composed of English and American consuls with European consuls, and attended by an effective escort of British and American sailors, not only to protect the tribunal from violence, but of necessity to carry its decisions into effect." The Chronicle, treating on the same subject, wonders how much longer the outrages will be allowed to go on and whether more lives must be sacrificed before Prime Minister Salisbury loses faith in Chinese justice. The London Standard says it is becoming more certain that ever that the unchecked if not stimulated fury of the populace of China against foreigners will, unless means are found for meeting the danger, spread throughout the empire until the lives of whites will be nowhere safe. A lurid picture of the situation is critical and is one of extreme necessity. Resolute action of some kind is imperative. Whether in cooperation with other powers or not England clearly must find a way to compelling respect for the lives and properties of foreigners. The paper deprecates the assumption that the same evasions and deceptions will be practiced as before until the British consuls report. It discusses the possibility of a treaty, especially Mandarins, feel it worth while not to molest foreigners. China, it says, must be asked to make concessions to the country wronged. She must open an honor sort of inland trade. Great Britain wants more consuls in the interior and more markets for English goods. This would doubtless benefit other European nations. Information has been received at Hong Kong that a large mob of infuriated natives made an attack a few days ago upon the American mission near Fu Chang and wrecked the chapel and school attached to the mission. Four native scholars attending school were wounded, but the teacher escaped. The anti-foreign feeling which exists in Fu Chang, is spreading rapidly. Populace parade the streets shouting "drive out the foreign devils."

TELEGRAPHIC.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXAMINER. GREAT LIBERAL CONSERVATIVE VICTORY. Powell's Majority About 800. Moncton, Aug. 26. The Liberal Conservatives won a glorious victory in Westmoreland on Saturday. The usual majority of about 500 in this county, as shown by the elections of 1882 and 1887, has been increased to about 800. The grits are crestfallen. ANOTHER DESPATCH. Moncton, Aug. 26. The vote of Saturday by parishes was as follows: Powell. Killam. Moncton City..... 722 453 Sackville..... 297 350 Moncton Parish..... 369 478 Shediac..... 649 407 Robtford..... 276 227 Westmoreland..... 244 242 Sackville..... 585 305 Dorchester..... 500 365 Totals..... 3,552 2,837 Majority for Powell, 715. (Until 1882, Westmoreland was the stronghold of Sir Albert Smith. In 1878, Sir Albert's majority was nearly seven hundred. In 1882, after a few years under the N. P. Mr. Wood defeated Sir Albert by a majority of nearly four hundred. In 1887 Mr. Wood defeated Mr. Emmerson by a majority of about 500 and in 1891 Mr. Wood was practically unopposed. Now in 1895, after a strong contest, Mr. Powell has defeated Mr. Killam by a majority of 715.)

GREAT BRITAIN AND CHINA.

Decisive Action to be Taken. LONDON, Aug. 26. The Sun says: "It is rumored that the House of Commons has determined upon decisive action in regard to China. British fleet will occupy one or two Chinese ports, and perhaps land a number of marines in order to enforce Great Britain's demands in connection with the investigation into the recent massacres. Christian Brothers' Schools. OTTAWA, Aug. 26. Some of the schools taught by Christian Brothers opened to-day. In consequence of the refusal of the Brothers to reform their teaching methods according to the report of the Provincial Commission, the School Board has decided to dispense with their services and ordered that lay teachers be engaged.
