The numerous presents were opened by Misses Hazel Hopgood, Rosa Bell, Doris Dennis and Ellen Harrington, and Misses Thelma Woodside and Olive Gillespie read the verses. The bride-to-be fittingly thanked the donors for their beautiful gifts; then all joined in singing "God Bless a Jolly Good Fellow." The program will be carried out under the auspices of His Excellency Most Rev. J. A. O'Sullivan, D. D., Bishop of Charlottetown, at St. Peter's and the Vicar-General at Tignish. A similar rally was held last year.

—TENNIS AT SUMMERSIDE — Tennis at Summerside seems to be rather on the wane this year. This is a pity after the trouble that has been taken in the past to prepare the courts. Both the K. of G. and the Summerside Tennis courts cost considerable in time and money to prepare and are as good as anyone would find anywhere, and yet there does not seem to be enough interest in the game to make it worth while to keep the courts in order this year. It is understood that a court is being prepared on the High School grounds, which will bring the youngsters into line. When they feel proficient they will no doubt want to challenge the older players, which will in time perhaps bring back this fine old game to Summerside. It might be of interest to Tennis players, to learn that the Romans played tennis back in the days of the Roman Empire and that the writer, while on a recent visit to St. Albans, an old Roman town in England, where many relics of the Roman period is in evidence, saw some Roman coins, dug up where excavations were being carried on, on the face of which, through a magnifying glass, you could see Roman ladies playing tennis, just about the same as you see it played today.—S.

—VISITORS TO SUMMERSIDE — Mr. and Mrs. A. Garrett, Mrs. Wm. Whitlock, Mrs. Thorne, Mrs. Charles MacGregor and Mrs. A. E. Wood of Charlottetown were visitors to Summerside on Thursday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Boswell.—S.

—PERSONALS — Senator Creelman MacArthur returned on Friday night from Ottawa.—S.

—Miss Leonore Chapman arrived from Ottawa last night on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lefursey, Summerside.—S.

—Mr. F. J. Callaghan has returned from a business trip to New Brunswick.—S.

—Friends will regret to hear that Mr. S. M. Hicks of Summerside is confined to his home through illness. Mr. Hicks was taken ill while at Port Elgin, N.B. His many friends hope that he will soon be restored to his usual good health.—S.

"Girl Pat" Crew Not Detained

(C. P. Cable) (By Guardian's Special Wire) GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, June 21.—Captain George Osborne and his crew of the trawler Girl Pat, brought ashore Friday by the Government Cutter Pomeroy, left police headquarters Saturday for a boarding house where they remained incommunicado as far as newspapers were concerned.

The four-man crew, brought in by the Pomeroy after the trawler had steered an erratic course from Grimsby since early in April, were escorted to their boarding house by a Lloyd's agent.

Right along since the Girl Pat's capture, police have maintained the men were under "police protection" not detention. Significance of the new move was not immediately apparent.

The trawler's owners in Grimsby have claimed the ship was "stolen," but no criminal charges have been laid against her crew.

FORMER N. S. LEGISLATOR DIES

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) WELLSFORD, N. B., June 21.—Death came peacefully today to Henry Wellington Woods, 71, formerly Conservative legislator, councillor, director of postal services in New Brunswick, and prominent logjumper. He was ill for only two days. He was the son of Hon. Francis Woods, widely known in the public life of New Brunswick a generation ago.

INSTANTLY KILLED

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) JACQUET RIVER, N. B., June 21.—Walking along the main road here, Alexander Davidson, 79, was instantly killed when struck by an automobile. The driver was exonerated. The aged victim had poor vision and also was hard of hearing.

CRITICIZE GOVERNMENT

LONDON, June 21.—(C. P. Havas)—Enforcement of sanctions should be maintained by Great Britain even though it might entail war with Italy, Lord Ceell of Oheulwood declared last night as the League of Nations Union formally criticized the government in a resolution urging a united stand against its decision to abandon the anti-Italian economic blockade.

Sanctions "have not in effect been fully tried out," the Union pointed out in the resolution adopted in Scarborough, Yorkshire. This phrase was inserted in the resolution which originally read: "This council deeply regrets that His Majesty's Government have decided to propose at Geneva the abandonment of sanctions against Italy and urges the members of the Union to use all their constitutional means to obtain a reversal of that decision."

A brief debate preceded adoption of the resolution, which was offered by Lord Ceell as president of the Union. Sir Paul Latham, Conservative, citing a risk of war if the League assembly maintained sanctions, asked Lord Ceell whether he was ready for such a possibility.

"It is a consequence of carrying out our obligations under the Covenant, Mussolini makes war on me, then I shall be prepared to resist," Lord Ceell replied.

Sir Norman Angell, the economist, supported Lord Ceell's stand and declared the Baldwin Cabinet's "indecision" had betrayed the League. A clear statement of the Government position must be given, he said.

itary sanctions and, if necessary, to fight."

The Prime Minister, who spoke before a mass meeting of Conservatives, continued:

"Whatever the perils of the future may be, and whatever may be the ambitions locked in the breasts of dictators, they know as well as we know what another war in Europe would mean. It would be the end of civilization."

Stressing the inevitability of war if a "realistic" policy were not adopted, Mr. Baldwin said he did "not know a single country in Europe prepared for that."

Expressing hope that some measure of disarmament may yet be achieved, he said, "we must see that if we ever have to fight again our people have the best that there is to fight with, both in quality and quantity, and that no risks are taken beyond risks which might fairly be assumed by a gallant but far-sighted nation."

The forthcoming meetings of the League of Nations council and assembly will find Great Britain committed to an attempt "to see whether reality could be made of what has not proved a reality so far," he added.

He emphasized his own determination to avoid leading Great Britain into a conflict, and warned:

"If the fire of war is ever lighted again on the continent, no man can tell where it will stop burning and it is not a risk I for one am going to take for my country as I have any control in the Government."

Taking the stump at Wishaw, Scotland, yesterday the Prime Minister said, "I believe the horrors of another modern war in Europe might lead to the revolt of the peoples against all leaders. You might find Europe in a state of completely barbarous anarchy from end to end. Let us not underestimate the risks of sanctions and collective security."

He said the proposed oil embargo against Italy was impracticable because of the United States attitude.

The Prime Minister asserted: "Collective security is incredibly difficult with some nations out of the League. But we shall try to get them back into it."

"If we had Japan, the United States, and Germany in the League, collective security could be worked tomorrow."

TO STUDY TURKEY'S REQUEST

MONTEUX, Switzerland, June 21.—An international conference opening here tomorrow to discuss Turkey's request to fortify the Dardanelles will be turned into a general discussion of military and naval problems of the Mediterranean, officials said tonight.

Great Britain, they added is expected to ask a continuance of the mutual assistance guarantees given her by France, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey against Italy under the regime of sanctions.

An essential feature of the convention is that Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, acting in conjunction, undertake to guarantee freedom of the straits should liberty of navigation be impeded by surprise attack or some act or threat of war. This clause was inserted so that Turkey, which had agreed to demilitarize, should not have her military security endangered.

Alluding to failure of the League of Nations to halt the Italy-Ethiopian war, Turkey said political crises demonstrated "that the present machinery for collective guarantees is too slow in coming into operation." Alluding further to the fact Japan resigned from the League and that there existed a possibility of Italy resigning, Turkey asserted the straits convention had been upset because "the effective military collaboration of the guarantors has, to say the least been rendered doubtful."

Depression Over In September

HALIFAX, June 21.—Prediction that Canada's economic depression would be lifted in September of this year was made Saturday night by J. S. Eason of Vancouver, Canadian pyramidologist.

Speaking before a public meeting of the British-Israel World Federation of Canada, the editor of the Periopce, official Canadian publication of the movement, said the great Pyramids of Gizeh indicated this relief would come to the Dominion in the month he named.

MEIGHEN EXPOSES GOVT. STRATEGY

Sec. 98 Repealed, But Restored in Another Section of Criminal Code

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, June 21.—Adamant on his stand against sections of two government measures, and critical of others, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, enlivened Saturday's all day session of the Senate with a merciless attack on government methods.

Sitting from morning until near midnight in a fruitless drive toward prorogation, the Senate abandoned certain amendments the government had refused to accept. It adopted the new radio legislation, the Bank of Canada Act and the Criminal Code amendments involving repeal of section 98. The Senate will meet again at noon Monday.

Indication was given last night that the Senate, where the Conservative majority prevails, will adhere to amendments to the National Harbors Board Act which provide that tenders submitted to that body must be opened in public. It was also announced that amendments to the Combines Investigation Act would be insisted upon although Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced in the House of Commons that the government would insist on passage of the bill in its original form.

"Nothing but a roaring farce—resounding fake," Mr. Meighen declared when dealing with the bill to repeal section 98 of the Criminal Code. "The bill repeals section 98, it is true," Mr. Meighen said, "and it restores it in another section." Everything that could be done under section 98 could be achieved under the Criminal Code clauses dealing with sedition which are strengthened in the amending act, the Conservative leader declared.

Bank Legislation

Senator Meighen was equally critical of the Bank of Canada legislation and that with respect to national harbors, Canadian taxpayers were to be burdened with an additional $6,000,000 of expense to enable the government to implement its election promise to nationalize the Bank of Canada, he said.

The Senate had suggested amendments to the National Harbors Board that would place the staff under control of the civil service and that would require all tenders to be opened in public. These were rejected by the House of Commons but it was indicated that amendment requiring public opening of tenders would be adhered to.

The Senate's stand that harbor board employees should come under the civil service had been taken days ago without any indication of protest from the government. "Why does the Minister of Transport (Hon. C. D. Howe) wait to the dying hour of the session to take exception?" Senator Meighen demanded.

"I do not propose to be cornered, stamped nor browbeaten," the Conservative leader declared. Mr. Howe was taking the attitude that "all things must be under him and done at his own sweet will. I do not want these harbor board appointments filled by patronage."

Centralization of harbor board control under a national board would involve huge contracts, Senator Meighen went on, and he would insist on a clause that would ensure tenders be opened in public. The bill proposed that these tenders should be opened in private by members of the board and awarded by the minister through orders-in-council. This government leader Dandurand declared, was the usual custom. If it were wrong then the thing to do would be to amend the whole system of government tenders.

It is anticipated there will be a conference between joint committees of the Commons and Senate Monday in an effort to break the deadlock with respect to the national harbors board and Combines Investigation Act amendments.

I.R.A. And Police Clash In Dublin

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) DUBLIN, June 21.—The first clash between authorities and the Irish Republican army since the Government banned the political organization two days ago occurred today on College Green.

Followers of the I. R. A. began to address the public from a lorry, attacking the government for banning it. Police warned that "seditious" speeches were not allowed but the speakers continued, whereupon police seized control of the lorry and drove the occupants to Dublin Castle, headquarters of the detective force. After several hours of detention all were released.

CREW ESCAPES AS SHIP BURNS

Motorship Thelma K. Total Loss.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) DIGBY, N. S., June 21.—An explosion that turned the motorship Thelma K. into a ball of fire left the vessel a mass of blackened ruins tonight. The derelict could not be found by fishermen who went out to search for her and it was believed she had sunk.

Captain Harold Richard of Lathrop, N.S., and his crew of five climbed into the dory with the engines driving the lumber-laden craft full speed ahead, the blast giving them no time to slacken speed.

Bound for Boston from Annapolis Royal with 96,000 feet of lumber as cargo, the Thelma K. burst into flames late Friday night in the Bay of Fundy when gasoline used for a lighting plant aboard the ship exploded.

Engineer Alex Dumphy of Halifax suffered severe burns about both arms but the captain and remaining members of the crew escaped uninjured. The three others were James Guy, mate; and Fred Hatcher, seaman, and Newfoundlander; and Lindsay Armsworth, seaman, Halifax.
