Four Choices Available For Doctors, Patients

SASKATOON (CP)—A patient will have four choices and a doctor will have four ways of getting income under the government - doctor agreement signed Monday to end Saskatchewan's medical care dispute.

A patient has the following choices:

1. He may choose a doctor who is enrolled with the government's medical care insurance commission for direct payment. His doctor will bill the commission.

2. He may enrol with a voluntary (private) health insurance agency to which he will pay an enrolment fee, and at his option a further premium to insure for further additional fringe benefits. The patient may then choose a doctor who has entered into a service contract with the voluntary agency. The doctor will send the bill to the agency.

3. He may choose not to enrol with a voluntary health insurance agency and may choose a doctor who is not enroled with the Medical Care Insurance Commission for direct payment. The doctor will bill him and the patient will be reimbursed up to 85 per cent of the schedule of minimum fees by the commission.

4. He will be able to go to a doctor who elects to practise entirely for private fees. He will then pay the full fee himself and will have no claim on the Medical Care Insurance Commission.

The four avenues open to a doctor:

1. He may elect to enrol for direct payment by the Medical Care Insurance Commission. His payment will then be as he agrees with the commission: by fee-for-service; by retainer and a smaller fee-for-service; or by fixed remuneration only.

2. He may practise partly, largely, or entirely in association with one or more voluntary health insurance agencies. For patients who have enroled with such agencies, he will submit bills at the agreed figure (at present 85 per cent of the schedule of minimum fees). The agency will collect from the Medical Care Insurance Commission a reimbursement on the general 85 per cent basis and pay to the doctor the amount of that reimbursement in full payment of the doctor's bill.

3. He may practise partly, largely, or entirely outside any voluntary medical care scheme, and not be enroled for direct payment by the Medical Care Insurance Commission. He will bill such patients entirely at his own discretion. The only requirement will be the submission of his bill to his patient in an itemized form.

4. He may choose to practise entirely for private fees, provided that his patients also agree to make no use of the medical care scheme.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

Opening lead — seven of spades.

What you can't accomplish by regular means you can sometimes accomplish by guile. Look at this hand from a rubber bridge game where South stole three notrump.

West led a spade and declarer played low from dummy and won East's nine with the ace. South realized there was no chance of making the contract unless he could get some assistance from the defense. Winning the spade with the ace was the first step in a campaign to razzle-dazzle the opposition.

Declarer next cashed the A-K of clubs, trying to act like a man who hoped the queen would drop on the first or second lead of the suit. He then played the ten of spades.

West grabbed the king, and under the impression that his partner had the club suit stopped, returned a low spade to establish the suit. The grateful declarer discarded his queen of clubs on the queen of spades and ran the clubs to make three notrump.

Of course, South was lucky to have found the clubs divided 2-2 so that the chances of carrying off the bluff were increased, and he was equally fortunate to have encountered a gullible West.

If West had paid more attention to the cards his partner played, instead of what declarer was busy doing, he might have escaped his role as victim of South's machinations. East had played the 7-4 of clubs, in that order, as the A-K were cashed. This is the stock way of indicating a doubleton in dummy's long suit.

By interpreting East's plays correctly, West would have known what South was up to and would no doubt have found the answer to the situation. A heart return, after winning the king of spades, would have fixed South's wagon for good and left declarer hanging high and dry. South would have gone down a minimum of two tricks.

The result of the hand points up once again the importance of conventional signals to help the defending side overcome the natural disadvantages of defense.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
