Cornwall Youth Captures Queens Co. Plowing Crown

Barry Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Wilson, Cornwall, won the two-sod tractor event and the Queens County championship at the Queen's County Plowing Match held at Harold Dunphy's Farm at Millview Saturday.

The 16-year-old boy was in competition with another junior and seven seniors and wound up with the best crown, finish and the straightest furrow.

Second in this event was Albert Bruce of Pownal, Harold Robertson of Millview was third, Harold Godfrey, Cornwall, fourth, Arthur Moore, Pownal, fifth and Albert Dunphy, Millview sixth.

Elliott Robertson, president of the association presided and introduced Premier and Minister of Agriculture, Walter R. Shaw. Mr. Shaw noted that this was one of the finest settings the match had ever used and following a few brief remarks, officially opened the 10th annual match.

S. C. Wright, deputy minister of agriculture also spoke briefly at the opening and the association president stated that there were 46 entries, about the same as last year.

Judge D. M. Gilchrist of the department of agriculture, Fredericton, N.B., noted that the plowing, especially among the juniors, was very good. As a rule though, he said, lack of training in finishing was evident. Some experienced plowmen of the area might be able to help the juniors in this regard because they all had a good start.

President Elliott Robertson said that the match attracted the largest number of tractor entries in its history. Some of the finest plowing was done, he added.

Following are the results:

Tractor, Boys 16 yrs. and under 1. Douglas Sheidow, Millview, 2. Barry Wilson, Cornwall, 3. Donald MacRae, Cherry Valley.

Wendell Jenkins of Millview, who won the Island championship at Dundas earlier in the month, had had luck Saturday in the championship match. He started late, was caught by darkness before he completed his land and finished out of the money.

1. Ian Smith, Pownal; 2. Phyllis Jones, Pownal. Smith had the best crown and finish and Phyllis Jones had the straightest furrow.

TRICYCLE TYPE TRACTOR 2 or 3 sod. 1. Arthur Jones, Pownal; 2. Wendall Jenkins, Millview; 3. Robert Brown, Pownal. Jones had the best finish and straightest furrow and Jenkins had the best crown.

Permission to board the Spanish boats was obtained from the Spanish Director-General of Fisheries in Madrid.

The party boarded the Playa de la Concha last Thursday and remained on board through the day, examining the entire operation closely and taking photographs of each phase operation. At that time the Spanish boats were operating on the Grand Banks south east shoal approximately 615 miles out of Lunenburg.

YOUNG CREWS

Staffed by comparatively young crews, the twin 140-foot boats are operated with extreme efficiency by the highly skilled crews. Mr. Gorman stated. The Nova Scotia sea captains expressed amazement at the degree of precision shown by the Spanish sailors in carrying out the complex, split-second manoeuvres required.

Each boat carries a large net, 300-feet wide that sweeps within 18 feet of the ocean floor. Each is used alternately and swung between the two draggers, one was attached to each. At the end of each 145-minute tow the net is hauled into the parent craft and the catch cleaned and salted.

The second net from the other craft is swung out immediately so that time loss is kept to a minimum.

When each ship is packed with its full load of 500 tons of salt fish they will sail back to their home port, St. Sebastian in the Bay of Biscay. This often takes from May until October and the draggers remain at sea the whole time.

Captain Balthasar Querejeta, who is in charge of the two-ship fleet, said that a full cargo might bring the ships' owners as much as one million pesetas, or approximately $20,000. The boats cost about $138,000 each to build and equip.

Finding crews to man them presented little difficulty in Spain where every job attracts dozens of applicants.

The Island deputy minister expressed the opinion that the Island dragger crews could learn to carry out a similar operation, but, since re-equipping would be costly, no recommendation would be made without considerable further study.

He said that the fisheries research board would send the same two sea captains to the Sable Island bank next spring to assess the worth of the operation on mixed ground.

The method used by the Spaniards apparently paid off well on smooth bottom. How it would work on rough bottom was open to question.

Equipped with diesel engines capable of producing 1,100 horsepower, each dragger carries a crew of 23.
