

The Quaker Way

Down in Pennsylvania, the home of the Quakers, there is a lady named Hester Price. She knew that the Quaker method of putting up preserves and relishes was just a little better than the usual way, so with the aid of her friends, she began preserving for export. Some of the good things that have reached us are:

A very delicious supper was served by the young ladies present, after which dancing was continued until the "wee sma' hours," when all dispersed to their homes, feeling that they had enjoyed a very pleasant evening.—New Haven School is progressing very favourably under the skilful management of Mr. McKenzie and Miss McQuillan. Proceedings in the Provincial Legislature

By-Elections "Either in Early Summer or Early Fall," Says Premier. Interesting Discussion During Passing of Estimates on Items of Elections, Education, Falconwood Hospital, Interest and Legislation.

April 27. Evening Session.

The House in committee on the Estimates, with Mr. E. T. Higgs in the chair.

The Agricultural Department items passed.

Coroners' Inquests ($500.) Mr. Stewart: I notice last year the estimates was $250, and $170 was expended. Why is the estimate placed this year at double that sum? Does my hon. friend the Premier expect that the wrath of the people, or that his policy will have such a bad effect that there will be a large number of suicides?

Premier Bell: Unfortunately we have had some considerable expenditure involved in connection with some parties in King's County. Mr. M-therrill: There are some old bills hanging over from the Board of Health which have not been paid, and they are kicking about it.

The Chairman: You are out of order. Mr. Stewart: My hon. friends have had a couple of years to get them paid.

The Items passed.

Elections ($1,200.) Mr. Stewart: Will my hon. friend put his usual reticence and tell us when we are going to have those long-delayed-by-elections?

Premier Bell: Either in the early summer or the early fall. Mr. Stewart: That will be splendid if he will only live up to it! But he has not led us to have such a long delay in him as we would like to have. This both reminds me of some of the remarks made by my hon. friend early in the session when he attempted—I don't think he was serious, though—to blame the Opposition for the delay in these by-elections! This seems to be a habit with the Government among other bad habits, and my hon. friend the Commissioner of Public Works, fell in to it to a tremendous degree last night when he blamed everything on the Opposition. I don't think my hon. friend was ever in the Opposition—I think he was always fortunate enough to be on the Government side! He is pretty long-headed and he therefore had no personal sins to answer for in the Opposition, and he could condemn it as much for a joke or an earnest expression of opinion, he knows very well that he cannot make the people believe it. The Leader of the Government argued that it was the right of the members of the Opposition to have given notice to him that these seats were vacant! There are only three of us here. It is true we could have done that so could every member on the Government side. My hon. friend the junior member for West River (Mr. LePage) is very diligent in looking after the interests of the Government, so much so that we have heard he is thinking of filling some chair pretty soon—he might have given notice. And then there is my hon. friend the member for Charlottetown (Mr. Higgs). He is a very notable constitutional lawyer. (Laughter.) He and the junior member for West River are close neighbors—they might have given the Government notice about these vacant seats! But they did not do it; so we on this side take any responsibility we wish to share in a ratio of twenty to three. The Premier's arguments just amount to this, that he is leading a Government that must be driven to do its duty with a club. This Opposition does not intend to use the Club; but I will tell him this, that it will be used by the people of this province and I am afraid they will use it with pretty good effect!

Premier Bell: Did you say you were afraid? Mr. Stewart: I am afraid for you! Personally, I will be delighted to be in at the finish. I will be a very interested witness to the clubbing. However, I trust that my hon. friend will keep his promise, and that there will be no further shifting of responsibility between the Premier and the Attorney-General—the next Attorney-General, whoever that may be.—Perhaps I am near him now.

Mr. Hessian: My hon. colleague says there should have been an election, but the people of the Murray Harbor district did not want one last winter—they wanted it in the summer when they could come out to the polls.

Mr. Stewart: That seat was vacant since last spring. Why didn't you hold the election last summer? Mr. Hessian: I understand that they are calling a new convention of Conservatives and they are going to throw their man overboard and nominate a new man. Now they will have time to search for a man who might possibly carry the district. If there is going to be a club used it is going to rebound and knock the head off that fellow they are going to take out.

Mr. Stewart: My hon. friend seems to have quite a knowledge of the Murray Harbor district. Mr. Hessian: I live in it.

Mr. Stewart: Yes, you have for a little while, but there are many things about the district you don't know yet. The candidate we have nominated is a very good type of farmer, just the kind we want. We are ready for the election any time, and I think my hon. friend will find that out.

The Item passed. The Executive Council items ($3,550) passed.

Education ($262,570.) Mr. Stewart: Might I ask my hon. friend the Premier how much of the teachers' salaries they propose to pay this year—eleven months, thirteen, or twelve? Last year they paid eleven, and two years ago they paid thirteen months. They are very erratic.

Premier Bell: We propose to pay twelve months. If we paid thirteen one year we were justified in paying only eleven the next year to even it up.

Mr. Stewart: It is very nice to even things up in order to strike a balance, but don't you think it would be more systematic if you had paid twelve months' salaries every year? In regard to the School Supply Item ($925) it would appear from the figures given by Mr. McLean, that this department is of very little benefit to the province. There was a time when it was under the late government. The school supply question was a very serious one at that time, as there was a monopoly on the trade, whereby the poorer classes of our people were almost ruined in meeting the demands of their children's education. We all remember what sweeping reductions were made, and how the school supply was established on a satisfactory basis. Now the prices are up from two to three and four times what they were under the original contract. In 1919 we were kept here for hours because there was an attempt on the part of the then Opposition to do away with the school supply department altogether. It was proposed to move it into the Educational Office and keep it there. It was condemned flatly by my hon. friends, and here we have them running it because they see a chance of getting a little revenue out of it.

Premier Bell: My hon. friend knows that the price of books is not a matter which is in the absolute discretion of the government, because it depends on what the publisher has to pay for them. It is perfectly right to charge the public what we ourselves are obliged to pay. There was, it is true, a contract permitting the government to purchase the goods at a very reasonable rate, but that contract went out, and it could not be renewed, and we were obliged to purchase as best we could, and for that reason the price of books has gone up. It is no fault of the government—no fault of anyone, in fact.

PURITY FLOUR "More Bread and Better Bread" Anything made with flour is best made with Purity Flour Use It in All Your Baking

Mr. Stewart: Are you not making a profit over and above expenditure?

Premier Bell: No, there is no profit. Mr. Stewart: Your Public Accounts show it!

Premier Bell: No, it is simply to make ends meet so that there will be no loss to the government—to give the pupils the benefit of wholesale purchases.

Mr. Kennedy: My hon. friend knows very different from that! He knows there is a profit! He knows, if he ever read those Accounts, that there must have been a profit! It is no use trying to bluff it out by getting up on the floor of the House and saying a pocket of the people. (Laughter.) Your amount this year is pretty nearly as much as our revenue and established and carried on for the sole purpose of giving the children their school books at first cost and when the government undertakes to make a profit on it they are placing a very heavy burden upon people who can least afford it. The department was intended to help the children of the poorer people. When it comes down to the fine point, where these children have not money to buy school books, it is the duty of the province to furnish them free. I will leave it to any elector whether the government is doing this or not. After paying some useless articles in this department who don't know the First Primer—I hear they can't write their own names—the government takes in a profit! And then the Premier gets up on the floor of the House and says there is no money in it at all—after paying these useless articles who are no good for anything! Goodness knows you are collecting enough taxes! Where is the money going? Hon. Mr. Lea: Here is where some of the money is going: The estimates for 1919, $175,139 was voted for Education, and this year it is $262,570. Add to that the $5,000 paid to the Technical school and you will see what we have done for education.

Mr. Stewart: How much more revenue are you getting out of the floor of the House and saying a pocket of the people. (Laughter.) Your amount this year is pretty nearly as much as our revenue and established and carried on for the sole purpose of giving the children their school books at first cost and when the government undertakes to make a profit on it they are placing a very heavy burden upon people who can least afford it.
