Students Are Being Motorized

LONDON (CP)—Senior boys at one of Britain's oldest public schools—St. Paul's—have started riding to school in automobiles, motor scooters and motorcycles. A few have automobiles of their own. Others borrow the family car. Anthony Gilkes, head master of the school which is in one of London's busiest traffic areas, said: "It's great being able to drive a school in comfort instead of sitting up late for prayers on a push-bike."
