HEAVY TRADEABLE HORSE wanted for the winter months in exchange for his board. Apply to Joseph MacDonald,St. Andrew's.

FOR SALE

First annual production sale of registered breeding stock will be held at Fred Ramsay's, Montrose, Monday, Dec. 30, official opening 1 p.m. This is your opportunity to buy one or more animals to lay foundation for a quality herd. All females are bred to Shraden Federal, imported from England by P. E. I. Hereford Association at a cost of approximately $3,000.00. Junior and senior calves, junior and senior yearlings sired by this English bull took practically all top placings at the Prince County Exhibition the past two years. Blood lines of females to be sold have consistently placed well each year shown and were shown right off the grass without being grain fed. The female that won the bronze trophy two years in succession for Mr. Smallman came from this herd. About twenty head of males and females will be offered at this first annual production sale. Breeding stock may be purchased through Farm Improvement Loans. Other terms will be made known on or before day of sale. If weather is cold sale will be held in barns. Cattle purchased may be left five days following sale.

OBITUARY

Inserted by friends and relatives as a tribute to the deceased.

MISS MARGUERITE McPHEE
The sudden passing of Miss Marguerite MacPhee, Big Pond, P.E.I. on September 18, 1963, was a distinct shock to her many relatives and friends.

Although not enjoying the best of health in recent years, she was always cheerful and ready to help others in her quiet unassuming way.

Most of her younger life was spent in U.S.A. being employed at the Milton Academy, Massachusetts, for many years. Due to failing health, she retired and came to live with her sister Philomena who had also retired from the Academy a few years previous.

She leaves to mourn besides her sister, one brother Michael C., on the old homestead many nieces and nephews and a host of sorrowing friends. Two sisters, Mrs. Joseph A. MacDonald (Katie) Souris Line Road, and Mrs. Charles MacAulay (Margaret) Vancouver, B.C. predeceased her.

Her funeral, from the Perry Funeral Home, Souris, to St. Margaret's Roman Catholic Church was largely attended on Sept. 20. High Requiem Mass was celebrated by the pastor Rev. Joseph MacLeod

Her pall bearers, Pius MacPhee, Kenneth MacDonald, Hugh MacEachern, Ronald McIsaac, Peter MacInnis and Joseph Hennessey tenderly laid her to rest.

May the Eternal joys of Heaven be hers!

Federal Govt's New Approach Confronted With Severe Test

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's much - vaunted "new approach" to federal-provincial affairs will be put to a severe test in at least three important fields in coming months.

1. The Quebec City conference—probably in March the wake of Bonhomme carnaval will scan the multitude of cost-shared programs, as the first step toward rewriting the existing tax sharing arrangements, which normally would continue until 1966.

2. Through confidential correspondence, the government will try to win the support of the provinces, especially Ontario, for yet-undisclosed modifications in its already-deferred scheme for contributory retirement pensions.

3. Most dedicated of all will be the renewed attempt to agree on a formula for amending the British North America Act, a formula that has been sought since 1925. Agreement was close in 1962, but the impetus was lost for a variety of reasons. No date has yet been set for the new conference.

Political and economic complications in all three fields will threaten the success of the "new approach," which goes by the new title of co-operative federalism.

'MUTUAL RESPECT'

Though definitions of this are many, the main characteristics appear to be co-operation and consultation—or "dialogue," as it has become fashionable to call it in Ottawa. This was what was sought, and to some degree achieved, in last July's conference on the municipal loan fund, the September meeting on pensions, and November's omnibus plenary session by the premiers and key members of the federal cabinet.

Through 1964, the provinces will be able to stack every move by Ottawa against Prime Minister Pearson's statement in November of what co - operative federalism means to him:

"It means, first, a mutual respect for the jurisdiction and responsibilities of Canada and of the provinces. It means, secondly, timely and reliable two-way consultation as the basis for co-ordinating the parallel action which Canada and the provinces must take on matters of common and overlapping interest.

"Thirdly, it means that if and when certain tax fields are shared, this should be done in a manner appropriate to the respective responsibilities of federal and provincial authorities. And it means, fourthly, assurance that this sharing not only is equitable between the federal government and the provinces generally, but also is equitable among the provinces themselves, so that each separately can discharge its own responsibilities."

QUEBEC GETS MORE

The November conference dealt mainly with the first, second and fourth points, and especially the fourth. The equalization formula was changed in a way that gave Quebec nearly half the $87,448,000 increase in federal payments to the provinces in the year starting April 1.

Point No. 3 is for Quebec—the sharing of tax fields. Since the November conference, both Premier Robarts of Ontario and Quebec's Premier Lesage have indicated they will press at Quebec City for bigger shares than they would normally get in the coming year — namely 18 per cent of income taxes, about 22 per cent of corporation taxes, and 75 per cent of death duties.

However, Mr. Pearson has said that only after a thorough review of the shared-cost programs can any conference decide "how fundamentally our fiscal relationships could wisely be changed." Experts have been put to work in this field of shared programs and federal conditional grants, which cost Ottawa about $890,000,000 a year. Their findings will be available in Quebec City.

MAY CHANGE BNA ACT

In the Commons, the prime minister was asked specifically whether he envisages constitutional changes. His reply:

"I cannot answer that question. . . . I would hope it could be done within the confines of the present British North America Act; but if constitutional changes are required and they are agreed to by the provinces and the federal government, of course they can be made."

Made, that is, by the Parliament at Westminster—for the Canadian act of constitution is still a British statute, with the centenary of Confederation only three years away.

The Attorneys-General in 1960 and 1961 came closest to the target of constitutional "repatriation" with a draft bill containing an amending formula which, in the main, would have required unanimous consent to change any BNA Act provisions dealing exclusively with provincial rights.

Though Saskatchewan objected vigorously to a veto power being given to any one province, the draft bill nevertheless was circulated to the provincial governments. Nothing came of it. The degree of accord that had been so long coming was dissipated partly because of the Diefenbaker cabinet shuffle that sent Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton to public works, and finally because of the change of government in Ottawa.

MAY INVEST RESERVE

Constitutional amendment also would be required to include widows, orphans and the disabled in the contributory pension plan. Mr. Pearson has denied that Premier Lesage in November insisted on employee-employer contributions of four per cent of a salary ceiling, instead of two per cent, as his price for agreeing to the amendments.

Meanwhile, the pension issue rests mainly on the complexities of "funding"—that is, the amount of reserve money in any pension scheme, and how it will be used. Ottawa already has said it is willing to use part of its reserve for investment in provincial and municipal bonds —a step that might allay Ontario's fears that the federal plan, if it paid benefits as soon as contributions came in, might tap the present pool of inestment capital by drawing money away from private pension plans.

Guards Posted At RC Church

TORONTO (CP) — Archbishop Philip Pocock of Toronto has ordered guards posted for an indefinite period in the city's Roman catholic churches to curb looting and destruction. Vandels stole $500 in property and caused $2,000 damage to a church Saturday.

He said there had been a rash of church breakings in the last week and suggested guards be volunteer parishioners.

Rev. Zygmunt Musielski of Stanislaus Roman Catholic Church told police vandels got a pick axe and hammers from a furnace room and used them to smash the church's alter Saturday.

He said they forced open collection boxes containing $100 in cash and stole two ciboriums-chalices to hold the Holy Eucharist-valued at $450.

Greek Gov't Wins Vote

ATHENS (AP)—The minority government of Premier George Papandreou early today won its first vote of confidence in the Greek Parliament.

The vote, after five days of debate, was 167-130 in the 300-member Parliament. Three deputies were absent.

The majority was gained with the support of the Communist-front United Democratic left, and Papandreou said earlier that he would resign if he had to depend on that party for survival. He took office Nov. 4.

Man Killed In Mine Fall

BATHURST, N.B. (CP) — O'Neil Plourde, 35, of Allardville, N.B., was killed Monday when he fell 200 feet down a mine shaft at the site of the East Coast Mining and Smelting Corporation concentrator, 20 miles southwest of here.

Plourde, an employee of the Mindicon Company Limited, was working at the 650-foot level when the ladder on which he was standing slipped, and he fell to the bottom of the 850-foot-deep shaft.

Coroner Dr. W. Blair Orser of Bathurst ruled no inquest was necessary.

TAX INCREASES

The weight of taxation in Canada has increased to more than 33 per cent of national income in 1963 from 22 per cent in 1939.
