biz (a feat in itself). Still Life is truly wretched; that's all I have to say about that one.

Whether you believe me or not, Stones Freak, the Rolling Stones have put out a lot of garbage in the last twenty years. Look at some of these songs: "Waiting On a Friend", "She's So Cold", "One Hit (To the Body)", "She Was Hot" (I thought she was cold), and "Rock and a Hard Place". What's the common thread? They're all horseshit. The Stones recent music is hollow, and it gets more and more hollow with each passing year. The Rolling Stones as we know them have all the personality and warmth of a vending machine. Don't idolize the Stones, just give them your money; that's all they want anyway.

Dear Editor,

I believe that as a Canadian I have the right to express my views and freedoms however I please. But I don't believe that this paper should print the kind of garbage like we all saw in the last issue. The person who wrote about being a Quebecoise and how they didn't feel Canadian shouldn't be allowed these same freedoms. I'm sure they don't send back their income tax benefits or their UIC benefits which are provided by the Canadian gov't. They appear to be taking advantage of the Canadian Gov't and the people of Canada, saying they are not Canadians yet expecting all our benefits, like medicare. They think they are such an asset to our country yet a lot of English speaking Canadians are beginning to think otherwise.

TAKE A HIKE.
