What is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?

In appearance Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is an oval, chocolate coated pill. In the condensed form it contains all of nature's most strengthening and invigorating tonic and restoratives and for this reason it is unapproached as a blood builder and nerve restorative. It cures all diseases caused by thin blood and exhausted nerves and makes pale, weak nervous men, women and children strong and healthy. 50 cents a box.

is sent direct to the diseased parts by the improved blow-off. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blow-off free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

Some marriages are failures and some are but temporary embarrassments.

Minard's Liniment cures Distemper.

As a man grows older he spends less on his pleasures and more on his ailments.

A Good Stomach.

Essential to health and happiness, but don't blame the stomach for biliousness. It is deranged, and causes poisonous bile to remain in the blood causing indigestion, headache and irregular action of the bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels and by their direct action on these organs effect prompt and lasting cures of biliousness, dyspepsia, headache and all kidney ailments. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers.

Victory belongs to the most persevering.

When It Hurts to Cough.

The cough that hurts, the cough that gets into the chest, is daily getting deeper and deeper into the trachea tubes and is making directly for the lungs, to become pneumonia, inflammation of the lungs or consumption. Such coughs yield only to the wonderful emulsion of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine which softens the tightness and cures cough and cold together. 25 cents a bottle. Family size 60 cents, sold everywhere.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

HOW THE CAMPANA STRUCK THE EMBLETON.

LONDON, July 22.—The Cunard steamer Campania which sunk the barque Embleton as elsewhere reported was little injured but had a narrow escape from a serious disaster. The fog had delayed her passage since Friday noon and a tender went out from Queenstown four miles, as Captain Walker would not take the liner near shore.

At Tuscar Light the fog was becoming denser every moment. When the Campania was about 30 miles north east of the light a phantom ship rose suddenly without warning directly across her bows. Thirty seconds later the phantom had become a solid sailing vessel into which the liner crashed her steel forefoot, going through the Embleton like the clean cut of a sword and dividing her just abaft the mainmast. The forward half sank instantly. The stern swung viciously around and the mast and yards for a moment tore at the Campania. A lump of wreckage came down on her decks. Then the stern of the barque also disappeared and the surface of the sea was littered with splintered timbers, boxes, barrels, the whole upper works and lighter cargo, the deck house and such things. Then there was nothing. From the instant when the phantom came in to view from the bridge of the Campania until the last vestige of the vessel vanished, some sixty or eighty seconds had elapsed. According to the embleton's survivors, to nearly half an hour before the collision the captain and the first officer were below at breakfast and although the fog whistle of the large steamer could be heard every minute, the barque never shifted her course the helmsman receiving no orders. When at 8.25 a. m. the second officer, to use his own phrase, "heard the rush of a steamer's bows," he shouted down to the captain, who rushed on deck, but he was too late to give an order. The Campania was under one-third steam. The captain first officer and pilot were on the bridge. The engines were instantly reversed, the helm put hard down. No precaution was omitted. Some of her passengers had even grabbed at what they called superfluous caution. After the crash and the sudden cries the boats were quickly got out. There were no signs of panic. The crew were everywhere at their stations, the best discipline was maintained, the bulkheads were closed and everything possible was done to save life. Some of the Campania's plates were bent by the collision, her forepeak filled with water, her foremast was broken short off and her steel rigging torn and twisted.

The passengers held a meeting, adopted resolutions of thanks for the captain and crew and subscribed £700 ($3,500) for the relief of the survivors and the families of the lost.

One of the most touching incidents of the war in South Africa occurred this week, when Captain Towse received the first Victoria Cross bestowed by the Queen for valor in the field. Captain Towse earned the distinction by attempting to carry off Col. Downman who had been wounded, under a hail of bullets. He was unable to do so, and lay beside him and kept off the Boers all night until help came. By that time Col. Downman was dead. Captain Towse was blinded in both eyes by a bullet wound. On Wednesday Captain Towse was taken to Windsor, and led into the Royal presence by his wife, where he knelt at the feet of his Sovereign, who was so much overcome at the sight of the blind hero that her aged hands could scarcely pin on the most prized of all British decorations. The Queen's few words of simple praise of his gallantry and thanks for his devotion were spoken so low as to be almost inaudible, and when Queen Victoria was led out there was scarcely a dry eye among the officials present.

WAR ECHOES.

Mr. J. M. A. Wolmarans, of the Transvaal executive council, was recently arrested at his house within the British lines near Hatherley. British gold worth $30,000, and a quantity of arms were found concealed in the house.

Published accounts, says the Army and Navy Gazette, show that Lord Airlie, Lieut. Wright, and the non-commissioned officers and men of the 12th Prince of Wales' Royal lancers, returned as killed in the fighting near Pretoria, lost their lives in a splendid charge. Some guns of the Royal Horse artillery were found to be in danger, and the regiment received the order to press forward and rescue them. The order was no sooner given than the horses were at full gallop. The work was admirably done. The Boers retired before the rush of the lancers, and having got well out of danger suddenly dismounted and opened a terrible fire under which Lord Airlie and Lieut. Wright fell. Capt. Egerton-Green, who was reported missing after the engagement, was captured by their enemy, and is now a prisoner in their hands. He was slightly wounded.

CANADIAN HEROES.

SOUTH AFRICAN LADIES WILL TEND THEIR GRAVES.

A communication has been received from the newly formed guild in Cape Town replying to the request of the Daughters of the Empire that the South African ladies should form a committee to help the Canadian committee to locate the graves of the Canadian soldiers who have been killed during the war. In reply, it is stated that it will be regarded as a sacred privilege to assist their Canadian sisters in this matter. Mr. Mason, who has charge of the Canadian depot in Cape Town, has promised his hearty co-operation. Lord Roberts and the War Office have been approached, and have promised to lend their assistance. Local committees, whose homes are nearest to the battlefields, will be asked to take charge of the graves after they have been raised, and they will act on behalf of the Daughters of the Empire in the erection of memorial stones and in procuring photographs of the graves of the dead soldiers.

Bleeding Piles

A Prominent Business Man Testifies to His Cure by Using Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Not a day passes but many people volunteer recommendations of Dr. Chase's Ointment as an absolute cure for every form of piles.

Mr. Jas. Jackson, of the Laurie Spool Company, St. Alexis des Monts, Que., writes:—"You may put my name to any praise you can give to Dr. Chase's Ointment, for it has done me more good than any medicine I ever used."

"I was troubled for two years with that cruel disease, bleeding piles, and after using Dr. Chase's Ointment, I can say I am entirely rid of it. It is a treasure to all suffering from piles."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is guaranteed to positively cure any case of itching, bleeding, or protruding piles. It has never yet been known to fail, and certainly will not fail in your case.

For many years Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood alone as the only absolute and guaranteed cure for piles and itching skin diseases; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has by far the largest sale of any remedy for throat and lung troubles. 25 cents a bottle.
