

Many Citizens And Visitors Attracted By Historical Exhibits During Festive Week

From left to right are Mrs. Albert Roupe, Miss Mary Hassard and Mrs. A. H. Roper as they stand behind a table bearing antique literature loaned for the exhibition. Mrs. Roupe has been looking at a mahogany book carrier for a library. This was from the home of Judge Young and loaned by Mrs. Hooper Horne. Miss Hassard is exclaiming over a miniature roll-top lap desk, formerly owned by Watson Duchemin and loaned by Mr. A. E. Duchemin. Mrs. Roper is examining John Wesley's "Notes on Old Testament" which is 186 years old, loaned by Victor Purdie. At the left end of the front of the table is a copy of Christie's Ministerial Shows which was beautifully illustrated and autographed by Stephen Foster.

Mrs. W. E. Massey is pictured above as she shows a child's prayer stool to a young visitor. Mrs. Massey is standing in front of an 18th Century magazine rack, and on the other side of the young visitor is a leaded candle mould. Next is an antique chair with design in bead-work, loaned by Mrs. Hooper Horne, and next to it is a child's chest of drawers, loaned by Miss E. M. Duffy. Mrs. W. M. Brehaut is reading the people can move more quickly than Buster Bear when he is in a hurry. He was in a hurry now. He jumped to one side. That is why he almost choked with the berries that were in his mouth. He suddenly lost all interest in that particular patch of berries. Yes, sir, he did so. He didn't want any more of those particular berries, no, they hadn't suddenly turned sour; they were just as sweet as ever. They were just as blue as ever and just as sweet, but Buster didn't want any more. Can you guess why? Jimmy Skunk had arrived. Those little thumps had been made by Jimmy's little black feet. They were why Buster was moving on and doing it hurriedly.

It was ridiculous that he should be afraid of one who was so small compared with himself. In one sense he wasn't afraid. Jimmy Skunk couldn't kill him or seriously hurt him except in his feelings and self respect. You see, Jimmy could make him feel very sick and uncomfortable and unpleasant to himself and to everybody in the neighborhood for a long time. So great big Buster Bear was getting out of little Jimmy Skunk's way and doing it in a hurry. This was a case where size didn't count.
