MARY HAWORTH

Divorce Must Cultivate More Dignity And Reserve

Dear Mary Haworth: Like everyone who writes to you, I have a problem and surely would appreciate your prompt attention as I am desperate; have even thought of killing myself.

I was married for a week, then had a divorce, as I found I couldn't accept the responsibilities of marriage in a dependable way. That was last summer, I had known the boy four years. Then in the fall I changed schools and met other boys; and dated again. The boys who liked me, I didn't care for; and those I liked only used me as jealousy bait, to worry their best girl friends.

SHE'S BEEN HURT
I have been hurt countless times and can't seem to find the right boy friend since my divorce. One boy even planned for us to marry, then turned me down for the girl he'd been engaged to before. So what do I do now? Is there some way I can get him back?
Do I just go on getting hurt and more mixed up? I can't seem to be happy any more, no matter who I see, or what I do. Please advise me. — G.P.

LIKE NON-SWIMMER
Dear G.P.: Suppose that you were blind and unable to swim and then were tossed overboard into the open sea, and buffeted on all sides by stormy waves, while you tried to keep afloat and head for shore — not knowing in which direction to go. Well that's a figurative description of your predicament at present.

To the groomsman a cigarette lighter and the usher a cuff link set.

Previous to her marriage the bride was widely entertained by her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Gonsalves have taken up residence in Scarborough, Ont., where the groom is employed as traffic manager for Lily Cup Co.

Now, let's see if I can help you get your bearings. The worst of your floundering has to do with the fact that you are trying to treat a grave matter lightly—and the grave matter is that you are a divorcee.

DON'T BE LIGHT
A broken marriage is a serious injury to a life—from which the life may never recover; true; but it takes time, and the practice of prudence. Divorce, when invoked as the remedy, also becomes a penalty for error; and is a cross to be borne with patience and dignity.

You can't just park the cross at the scene of the accident, so to speak, and go back to being the unscarred single person you were before, as if the mistake and the crack-up hadn't happened. Yet this is the course you have tried to follow, in dating miscellaneous in the new school since your divorce.

In so doing you cause the boys to value you cheaply, on the assumption that nothing means very much to you; and that you are fair game in the dating situation, being no longer either wife or maiden; and eager for male companionship, it seems. In short you create a false impression of being a frivolous character when in truth you are deeply unhappy and sorely confused.

For advice: 1. Don't run after

Elaine Vanderstine Is Bride Of Harry McLeod

The Peter's Road Presbyterian Church was the scene of a very lovely wedding on Saturday July 18th, 1959, at 3 p.m. when Rev. M. Carl Currie united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Elaine Vanderstine, Peter's Road, P. E. I. and Harry McLeod, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McLeod, Cambridge, P. E. I., in a double ring ceremony.

Mrs. M. Carl Currie played the wedding march and Mr. Willard McLean sang "The Voice that breathed O'er Eden." The church was beautifully decorated with mixed summer flowers.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a strapless ballerina length gown of white nylon net with embroidered lace insertions over satin, with an embroidered lace bolero, the careless boy who dropped you to return to his former fiancé.

2. Cultivate dignity of mind and reserve of manner to correspond to your new status as a young matron whose misfortunes should have made her a wiser, more thoughtful person.

As you are still of school-age you might profit by reading Evelyn Duvall's excellent book Facts of Life and Love for Teenagers published by the Association Press. It is full of sympathetic insight into the feelings and emotional needs of adolescents, and provides detailed information on how to stay on the right track, or win back to it if you've gone astray.

Her finger tip veil was held in place by a coronet of sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and maiden hair fern.

Mrs. Fred Wilson, sister of the bride was matron of honor, and wore a ballerina length dress of blue nylon net over taffeta and a blue picture hat. Her bouquet was pink carnations. Miss Paullette Johnston was junior bridesmaid and wore a dress of yellow nylon net over taffeta and matching headpiece. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations. Miss Lana McLeod, niece of the groom, was flower girl and she was dressed in blue nylon net over taffeta with matching headpiece. She carried a basket of red roses and preceded the bride up the aisle scattering rose petals.

Mr. Chessel Irving brother-in-law of the groom was best man. The ushers were the Messrs. Carter Vanderstine and Basil Kerwin. Mrs. Carter Vanderstine was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Vanderstine mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding a street-length dress of blue printed silk with matching duster with white accessories and her corsage was white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a street-length dress of pastel pink nylon with matching accessories and her corsage was white carnations.

The reception was held at the

GRAHAM'S ROAD W. I.
The monthly meeting of Success W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. James M. Campbell, Tuesday evening, August 18.

The president Mrs. Roy Brown, presided, and the meeting opened in the usual manner. 22 members answered roll call by singing say or pay. Two visitors were present.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. The Salvation Army Collection in the district amounted to $28.50 and Retarded Children's Fund $30.50. Treasurer reported proceeds from pantry sale, $39.85. A vote of thanks was extended Trustees for their work done to the school grounds.

Bills were presented and paid and several articles were needed for school. Mrs. Roy Brown and Mrs. Earle Campbell were appointed on the School Committee for next month.

Mrs. Roy MacLeod presented her report of the Annual Convention, and Mrs. John Campbell entertained with a Gossip Game. Collection $5.80.

Hillsdale Inn, Montague for forty-six guests. The bride's table was decorated with mixed flowers and centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

CLYDE RIVER W.M.S.
The monthly meeting of the Clyde River Presbyterian W.M.S. was held in the church on August 10, with an attendance of 18 members and one visitor.

The theme for the meeting was "The Fruit of the Spirit is Faith." Mrs. Keith Young as devotional leader opened the meeting with prayer followed by Psalm 58. The scripture lesson was taken from Hebrews Chapter 11 read responsively. The exposition was given by Mrs. Everett Murray followed by prayer by Mrs. Lloyd Murray.

Mrs. Killen gave a very interesting explanation of Matthew 27 on the Crucifixion and burial of Jesus. Hymn 419 was sung. The offering was dedicated by Mrs. Killen. The treasurer gave a good report.

The camp Keir collection is to be started at the next meeting. Leader for the next meeting is Mrs. George Hyde. Meeting is to be held in the church. Roll call is to be answered by a scripture verse containing word "meek" or "meekness."

A chapter from the study book was read by Mrs. Keith Young. Mrs. Roland Buchanan will read from study book at next meeting.

The meeting closed with hymn 269 followed by the Mirpah benediction.

MR. AND MRS. GORDON JOSEPH GONSALVES
Young Couple Married In Toronto, Ontario

A very pretty wedding took place in St. Vincent de Paul Cathedral, Toronto, when Katherine Margaret Louise, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kelly, Charlottetown, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Gordon Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Gonsalves, British Guiana.

The ceremony was performed by Fr. Nolan.

The bride looked winsome as she entered the church on the arm of her father by whom she was given in marriage.

Her gown fashioned with harmon skirt was of white organza over taffeta, with fitted bodice and long sleeves of white lace.

The shoulder-length veil was held in place by a tiara of rhinestones.

She carried a white bible with pink and white streamers knotted with sweetheart rosebuds.

The bridesmaid, Miss Peggy Gonsalves, sister of the groom, wore pink organza over taffeta and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

Raymond Kelly, brother of the bride was best man and Derek Gonsalves, brother of the groom was usher.

The bride's mother wore pink nylon with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

The groom's mother was dressed in beige lace, white accessories and corsage of yellow and white carnations.

During the ceremony appropriate hymns were sung by girl friends of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held at 91 Ambleside Ave., where approximately forty guests enjoyed of a sumptuous meal, followed by music and dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Gonsalves spent their honeymoon in New York.

For travelling the bride wore a suit of turquoise brocaded cotton, white accessories and corsage of yellow and white roses.

The groom's gift to the bride was a set of cultured pearl earrings and necklace.

To the bridesmaid a sapphire ring.
