OTTAWA CORRESPONDENCE.

On Friday last, Mr. Davies brought up the question of the detention in the mail service between the Island and the Mainland. He wished to know officially whether there is anybody on the Island authorized, in case the mails are delayed as they were recently for ten days—to take the matter in hand and employ steam tugs, or take other necessary means, in order to get the mails over.

THE TIME TO SPRAY.

Orchards should never be sprayed while in bloom. And indeed the same rule should hold in treating any plants. If the flowers receive the poison, the bees which are lured by the nectar which the bloom secretes will be poisoned. I know of several cases where great loss has resulted from disregard of this rule.
