350 Trapped in Hotel By Smallpox Epidemic

VIENNA, Austria (Reuters)—A gypsy orchestra has been grinding out romantic music round the clock to entertain 350 guests, including two Canadians and 10 Americans, trapped in a Budapest hotel by a smallpox quarantine.

An estimated 250 tourists from Western countries were sealed in the hotel Saturday after a hotel employee was taken to hospital with suspected smallpox last week.

On Monday, a British embassy spokesman identified the two Canadians only as Lukasz and Vasek Sereel and said the hotel would be quarantined for at least two weeks. Meanwhile, the American legation said legation officer Dennis Keller was among the Americans.

A 20-year-old Viennese engineer who left the hotel was under observation here as a smallpox suspect. Hungarian authorities declared the whole of Budapest "an infectious area."

ACTED TOO LATE
Austrian newspapers said the Hungarians acted far too late and thousands of tourists had crossed the border into Austria, continuing their journeys to all parts of the world.

Hotel inquiries from here regarding the guests at the Royal Hotel in Budapest were met with the reply that guests' names would be submitted to the Hungarian foreign minister. The ministry remained silent.

However, British tourist Howard Mold gave reporters by telephone a picture of conditions in the sealed luxury hotel.

The gypsy band has been playing continuously in the shifts since the hotel was sealed Saturday "and we have had music and parties ever since," he said.

"It is beginning to get boring now," he remarked, "but it is all very comfortable, somehow like being at sea. A lazy time with tons of food, but you can't get out."

READ LENIN
"The only chance to get some fresh air is a walk in the hotel's little courtyard—to pass the time we were also given books on Lenin, and by Lenin, and on communism," Mold said.

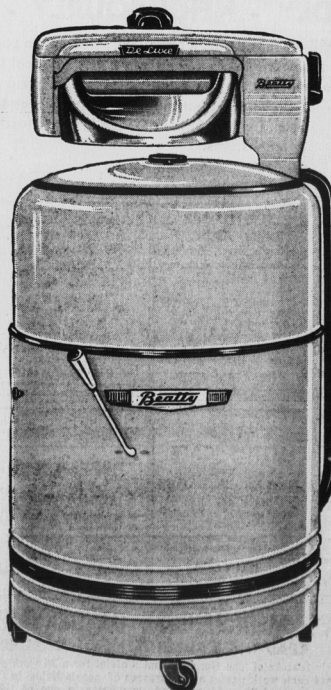

He said guests were told at their breakfast tables Saturday a smallpox suspect had been found among the hotel staff and everyone was under quarantine. The hotel bore the expense, except for drinks, he said.

Meanwhile, white-coated doctors moved into the hotel to examine all guests. They refused to reveal who the employee was, but rumors in the hotel said it was a waiter or waitress and other rumors said the victim died Sunday in a Budapest hospital.

Murder, Suicide Leave Four Dead

HARLAN, Iowa (AP)—The bodies of a farmer, his wife and two daughters were found in a downstairs bedroom of their home about six miles northwest of here Monday.

Shelby County Sheriff Orvell Gearhart said Francis Schomer, 49, apparently struck his wife with a claw hammer three powdered cyanide gas on her and Patty, 5 months, and then shot himself in the head with a .22-calibre pistol.

The sheriff said another daughter, Janice, 18, apparently died from inhaling the gas. Another daughter, Jo Ellen, 20, was reported in serious condition in hospital here from gas fumes.

The sheriff said five other children sleeping upstairs in the farm home may have inhaled some of the gas but are reported in good condition. They are Connie, 16, Carol, 14, Beverly, 12, Russell, 7 and Ronnie, 4.

Sheriff Gearhart said Schomer had been having financial trouble.
