MELISSA

Is the name of the New Process by which Tweeds and other Cloths are rendered entirely Rainproof without the slightest trace of the application being perceptible.

It is scarcely overstating the fact to say that no discovery of the present time, affecting wearing apparel, has supplied such a universal and long felt want as the "Melissa" process which makes cloth perfectly rainproof without excluding the air. The old style of waterproof clothing has never been satisfactory, it is indeed an abomination, but has been tolerated simply because there was nothing better. True, it serves to shed the water, but it shuts out the air as well, and so generates a dampness which is not only uncomfortable in the extreme, but very unhealthy and positively dangerous. Who has not often experienced the discomfort of being almost hermetically sealed in a rubber overcoat, and enveloped in that intensely disagreeable odor which pervades all rubber clothing. All unpleasantness may now be avoided by wearing outer garments which have been made rainproof by this new and really wonderful method. The trade mark, as above, stamped upon the garment you buy, is the only visible or tangible evidence that it has passed through the Melissa process, and this endorsement is a positive guarantee that the article is absolutely rainproof, yet the air circulates through the material as freely as before; not the slightest perceptible odor has been imparted to it nor has the soft pliable texture of the goods been interfered with. Moreover, it is found that this treatment adds materially to the durability of the cloth and renders it perfectly mothproof. These goods are now being placed in the hands of the trade throughout Canada and should be found on the counters of every first-class dealer. Don't order a Waterproof of any kind until you see them.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Dairy Industry.

Sir—If any evidence were wanting to prove that the dairy industry of this Province is not on a proper footing, we have it in the fact that large quantities of Quebec butter are now being brought to the Island by the Stanley. It is not creditable to the agriculturists of this "Garden of the Gulf" that our merchants should have to go to another Province of the Dominion for butter to supply the local demand. One of the largest grocery concerns of the city recently advertised for a few packages of good table butter, with the result that they did not get them. The firm in question wanted this butter for their customers, and they were so doubtful, willing to pay a fair price for a good article. The good home-made article did not, however, materialize, and the firm, failing to procure that which our own dairies should be prepared to furnish, are forced to handle the product of Quebec. This is, I have no doubt, the experience of other local grocers also; but it is something which should not and would not occur if that attention were given to dairying which the importance of the industry demands.

Why is it that this Province, famed as it is for its agricultural capabilities, cannot produce a sufficient quantity of good, marketable butter and cheese, to supply the wants of our own people? Is it because of a lack of natural advantages? Are we, in this respect, behind the Province of Quebec, upon which we are now drawing for our butter supply? I think not. My idea is that this Island is possessed of as many advantages to help on the work of dairying as any Province of the Dominion, with the single exception, perhaps, of Ontario. We have good summer pasturage, and with proper cultivation our soil is capable of producing abundantly of hay, grain and roots. What, then, is the cause of our inferior position as a dairy country? It seems to me that the fault lies entirely with the people themselves, who fail to turn to the best account the opportunities which their reach. While the horse and the hog of the Province have been greatly improved within the last decade, the flocks and herds to be found on the great majority of the farms throughout the Island are, in point of quality, far from what they should be. The scrub bull still stalks abroad through the land, perpetuating his kind without let or hindrance. And so long as this non-descript animal is permitted to exist in any number, so long will we fail to take any other than an unenviable position as a dairying community. If the scrub were replaced with animals of any of the improved dairy breeds, such as the Ayrshire, Jersey, Guernsey, or Holstein, the first step would have been taken in the direction of working a revolution in the dairy interest. The general mating of pure-bred sires with the common cows of the country would be attended with results so beneficial to our stock-raisers that the good work of improvement would go on until the thoroughbred sire would be so universally appreciated that he would drive the scrub out of existence.

Concomitant with improved breeding is good feeding. The former is utterly useless without being backed by the latter. The scrub may eke out a miserable existence on starvation allowances that would be death to the well-bred animal. But there is no doubt, whatever, that where good breeding is supplemented by generous feeding a successful dairy business, in correct methods be followed. And in this connection I think you would do well to consider the interests of this Province a substantial service if you would reproduce weekly a series of interesting and instructive letters on butter-making from the clever pen of Mrs. E. M. Jones, now being published in the weekly issue of the Montreal Star. There is no question but our people are in general badly in need of instruction in the art of butter-making, and as Mrs. Jones has herself gone "through the mill" in all its stages, from the milking of the cow to the placing of the salted butter on the market, her experience, given in her own words, could not fail to be beneficial to those who are willing to turn their opportunities to the best accounts. By her own industry and perseverance Mrs. Jones has established her name, and she is now reaping the reward of her labors by realizing the top market price for all the gilt edge butter produced in her own dairy, the annual output being several thousands of pounds. What has been accomplished by Mrs. J. at Brookville, Ont., is capable of accomplishment in this Province, by any man or woman possessed of the requisite resolution or determination to overcome difficulties that might at first present themselves. Mr. E. E. Brown, of that excellent butter breed, the Guernsey. His dairy has already quite a reputation for producing butter of the finest quality, which is sold in advance of manufacture, at the highest local market price. If others could be induced to follow Mr. Brown's footsteps, high class butter, instead of being importers of an article of common grade as is the case at present.

AMATEUR.
 New Hospital.—The Rev. W. C. Williams of Springhill, N. S., having collected sufficient funds for the erection of a hospital at that place, work will be commenced on the structure at once. The plans for the building were made by Mr. W. C. Harris, Charlottetown, and embody the best principles of hospital ventilation. There will be wards for men, women and children. The exterior view of the building is very pretty and harmonious with the architecture of the parish. The work will be pushed speedily ahead, and Springhill will now have in a very short time what has been a real need in that place, viz., a first-class little hospital.

Meeting of Presbytery.

The Presbytery met in St. James' Hall on Tuesday last, Rev. Even Gillis acting as Moderator pro tem. Rev. Messrs. McMillan, Archibald, Carruthers and Mahon were nominated a committee to visit Clyde River and West River congregations on Monday, the 14th inst., the public meeting to be held in the West River church at 7:30 p. m., and the sermon to be preached by Rev. W. P. Archibald.

The records of Valleyfield session were approved of and attested by the Moderator. Applications for grants from the Augmentation Fund were transmitted on behalf of Pignish and Montrose, West Cape. Tyne Valley, Covehead and George-town, Mr. Archibald reported on behalf of the committee on temperance.
