CHESS TOURNAMENT

The Charlottetown Chess Club lined up for a battle royal at the Dalton offices last night.

Both teams appeared on the scene in full force in war paint. The line-up was as follows:—Tanton vs. Vason; Worthy vs. Woodman; Mutch vs. May; Gardiner vs. McRae; Lane vs. Doull; Ross (Capt) vs. Lunde (Capt).

On the toss Capt. Ross won the whites, which gave him an initial advantage over his opponent.

Tanton played the blacks against Lunde. Worthy the whites, Mutch the blacks and so on down the line. Ross scored over Lunde after a very close game. Tanton beat Lunde, Worthy lost to Woodman, Mutch lost to May, Gardiner beat McRae and Love won from Doull. The score stands 4 to 2 in favour of Capt. Ross' team.

It is decided to have a return match on next Saturday, when some more contestants will join in the fray. Altogether it was one of the most pleasant evenings that this club enjoyed. Any of the public who may be interested in the Royal game are cordially invited to witness the battle which takes place on Saturday.

No. 1 Company Home Guards broke the record last evening. The previous record made by No. 3 was 36.4. No. 1 has now gone more than one better. The turnout was not so large as that of No. 2 the evening before, but the shooters were some class. No doubt big efforts will be made next week to take the position now occupied by No. 1. ### MANY WOULD AID CANADIAN GIRLS.

LONDON, March 29.—Sympathetic Canadian enquirers have inundated the High Commissioner's office here during the day seeking for further information regarding the three Canadian girls who have been released from Brussels and who were reported by morning papers to be destitute. Sir George Perley, it is understood, instructed the Canadian agent at Rotterdam to make the fullest inquiry into the whereabouts of the father who is stated to be in the Dominion. The Canadian office has otherwise no information regarding the girls. The party, including forty-one women of British nationality, all of whom were residents in Belgium at the outbreak of the war, arrive here Monday morning.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

On Friday evening, the 26th of March, a number of the young people in connection with the Woodville Christian Endeavor Society met at the home of Mr. Daniel McLaren and presented him with a handsome Morris chair and the following address.

Mr. Daniel McLaren, Belle River: To Our Esteemed Friend:—In behalf of the young people of Woodville Church congregation, we, the undersigned, desire to express our sincere gratitude and appreciation for the good work done by you towards the Christian Endeavor Society during the past number of years.

You have worked faithfully and diligently for the cause of God, church and young people and we shall miss you very much. But as we all know you have done your part and it is now left for us to do ours and keep the good work still progressing.

We know you have had your trials with us, but God helped you and you have come off more than conquerors. We shall strive to follow the good example set by you, and we know we shall be helped along by your prayers.

And now, although you have resigned your president-ship, it is the hope and prayer of all that you will still retain a kindly interest in the work, and that we may welcome you as a frequent attendant at our meetings.

In conclusion we beg you to accept this small token of our appreciation and deep regard. You have assisted us in every possible way and your memory will ever be gratefully cherished by the Young People's Christian Endeavor Society. Signed, Mrs. Archie Munn, Miss Luella McMillan, Mr. Alexander McLennan.

Mr. McLaren feelingly replied, thanking the young people of Woodville congregation and members of the Christian Endeavor Society for their beautiful gift and complimentary address. The remainder of the evening was very pleasantly spent in singing and social converse.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE

ventures would be issued bearing 4 1/2 per cent. The interest would be equally divided between the Indians and the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb, Halifax, and the Government would be relieved correspondingly of contribution to the latter institution. The Government would have no costs to pay except the taxed costs of its own solicitor.

The PREMIER next introduced a resolution authorizing the issue of debentures to provide compensation to the estate of Dame Louisa Augusta Wood for certain lands on township Number Sixty-Seven, sold by the Commissioner of Public Works.

He said this was another of these ancient wrongs devolving upon their shoulders to set right. They had no lot or part in creating the injustice which they were called upon to remedy. They had taken the matter up with the object of doing justice to all concerned. There was no doubt that the people who bought the Lady Wood estate from the government were entitled to protection, and there was likewise no doubt they owed a duty to the Indians and the Deaf and Dumb and must see that they were not deprived of their rights under Lady Wood's will. By precipitate action on the part of the trustees six suits were commenced against the purchasers of the estate and judgment given against two of them, and this necessitated the Government passing a law to protect these innocent purchasers. As the result of the subsequent negotiations, the Government had brought these purchasers out scot-free, and at the same time had safeguarded the interest of the beneficiaries under the will. The settlement he considered was as just and equitable as human consideration could make it. As he had already stated debentures for $8,500 at 4 1/2 per cent would be issued and the interest divided between the Indians and the Deaf and Dumb institution.

Mr. RICHARDS approved of the settlement, and said it was only right and proper that this matter should be disposed of.

The Act to incorporate the Charlottetown Curling Club was read a third time and passed.

The House adjourned for luncheon. On resumption in the afternoon Mr. Buntain moved the second reading of the bill to incorporate the Rustico Rural Telephone Company. The House then resolved itself into a committee of the whole (Mr. Dobie in the chair), to consider the bill. On the motion of the Premier the following clause in the bill was struck out:—

"9. The Company shall have power to sell and convey its Rural Telephone line to the Telephone Company of Prince Edward Island at any time, by and with the consent of the majority of the shareholders, at a special meeting called for that purpose, or at any general annual meeting, for such consideration as may be mutually agreed to, the deed of transfer to be sufficient if executed, if signed by the majority of the Board of Directors."

Clause 11 (re-numbered 10) was also deleted. The bill was then reported agreed to, engrossed and ordered to a third reading.

The PREMIER laid on the table the annual report of the public schools of the province for the year ended 31st December, 1914.

On the motion of the Premier the House then resolved itself into committee to resume consideration of the "Companies' Act."

At 5.45 the Chairman reported progress and asked for leave to sit again. Mr. J. KENNEDY, acting chairman of the Committee on Private Bills, reported the following bills to be of a private nature and recommended the payment of the fees set opposite their names:—Acts to incorporate Noy, Holman & Gills, Ltd., $40.

Morell Skating Rink Co., $10. An Act to amend an act to incorporate the Town of Alberton, $10. The House then adjourned until 11 a. m. Thursday, April 1, 1915.

TWO THOUSAND MEAT SHOPS ARE CLOSED.

LONDON, March 28.—Two thousand butcher shops have been closed in England since the beginning of the war. The increased prices of meat, and the effort in most households to economize has been the cause for the decreased consumption which has hit the retail butcher very hard.

Probably more meat than ever before is being imported into the British Isles, but a large proportion of it goes immediately into the hands of the Government for supplying the soldiers at home and abroad. The business of the average retail butcher, according to trade journals, has decreased twenty per cent.

FROM FRANCE

Private A. Hughes, formerly of Mill Cove, writes from France as follows: Somewhere in France, March 10th, 1915.

My dear Sister,—I don't know exactly when I can post this letter. I have a few minutes to myself, so I thought I would write a line or two. It seems strange that on each occasion when something hazardous comes up to me I receive a letter from home, and do you know it warms my heart, and when danger is near I have the letter to think of instead of the position I am in. To-day was the day of days thus far. Picture to yourself hundreds of guns throwing fire and metal, the very air vibrating with the concussion from the guns, death and destruction, as it were, the powers of hell let loose, and you have some idea of an attack supported by artillery. Our Canadian boys cannot be beaten. They have shown their mettle and steadfastness and I think are going to win the admiration of the Allies. Why I did not see the P.E.I. quota on Salisbury Plains, is that they were some miles away. On many occasions I planned to go, but some duty or other intervened and I found it impossible to get the day off. I don't know what they are now, but they are some miles away. The only chance of meeting them now is that we might be billeted near to one another sometime. I can't give an account of our trip yet, as it will be censored. All I can say is that France is a country worth every fighting for. It is terrible to compare the part unvisited by the plague of war with the devastation and ruin near the seat of hostilities. The country is very thickly populated and every foot of soil is cultivated to support them. Later on I shall give you a description of some of the places visited. In one place I visited the church was nearly in ruins from shrapnel. In another peaceful place I visited the church and saw everything in perfect order, and in the peace and calm inside you would not dream that the greatest drama in the world's history was being acted outside. The churches are beautifully furnished, bronze statues adorn every niche and seemingly every care is taken to keep everything beautiful and clear. I intend to do my duty as far as in my power I shall perform my duty, and shall be where death lurks, but our duties are duties that perhaps are not appreciated as much as they should, because we not only run the risk of the ordinary soldier, but do our best to save lives that otherwise would be lost. Do not worry about me, I am well and feel fine. Many poor fellows will never return, but the cause is a righteous one and right must win. I am in hopes to see you all before many months. If not, remember I love you all and the old home. If it were possible, better than ever. Frank Kelly is fine. Love to all. Your brother,

"FEATURE" PROGRAMME AT THE PRINCE EDWARD

Each number on the programme at the Prince Edward Theatre yesterday measured up to the "excellence" mark; in fact, each was a distinct feature. Perhaps the most popular was "The Return of the Twins" Double, featuring the renowned and ever popular team, Grace Cunard and Francis Ford, with other "Lucille Love" stars. It was a brilliant combat of wits, keeping the excitement at fever heat throughout the play. There were no long drawn out scenes, but quick action all the time, and one had to keep their eyes on the screen increasing. Shown in three parts, it was the best of these detective plays, with Grace Cunard and Francis Ford, yet shown at the Prince Edward, and all lovers of these stars who could not attend yesterday should not fail to see it to-day. A powerful dramatic story in two parts was "The Quack." A "crook" escapes from the law and departs from the city, leaving his wife, with an infant boy, to her own resources. He becomes a "Quack Doctor" and amasses wealth. His wife is compelled to work in a "sweat shop" to maintain herself and her son. The boy is taken ill, from want of proper nourishment, and develops consumption. The husband and wife meet on the street and recognise each other, though both have changed considerably in 10 years. They hurry home to their boy, only to find that he had died, another victim of his father's "Dr. Reed's Consumptive Cure." "Somebody's sister" was an emotional drama, in which a brother and sister leave their comfortable country home, lured by the gay life of the city. They fairly break their old parents' hearts, who consent to their going against their better judgment. They soon see the folly of their course, however, and return home to the great enjoyment of their parents. The well known fun artists, Flora Finch and John Bunny, were on the programme, and in "A Train of Incl-

SHELLED WOMEN PASSENGERS AS THEY SOUGHT REFUGE.

LONDON, March 30.—The Morning Post, in an editorial on the sinking of the Falaba and Agulla, says: "Germany has boasted that the opinion of the civilised world does not interest her, and certainly will not affect her from her appointed course, and now we have evidence which not even our most incorrigible sentimentalists can ignore that she means what she says. To vent her hatred of this country there is no barbarity from which she will shrink, not even the shelling of women passengers as they seek refuge in the boats of a sinking ship. Very well, we must henceforth reckon with that fact."

"While Germany thus fixes the brand on infamy on her name; it is our business first of all to take measures for thwarting this reckless savagery, and next to make it plain that a dear account will be inexorably exacted for these crimes. It is true that the conscience of this country would never allow us to take reprisals in kind, whatever Germany does in the way of murder and outrage. We could not stoop to lex talionis, but that does not mean that we are to suffer these things passively, that we are to let by-gones be by-gones when the time to exact the settlement shall arrive, and extend to the criminals an act of general oblivion and forgiveness. To not be humiliated, but utterly broken,

Go elsewhere—if you find a corset department which through prejudice against "Made-in-Canada" goods does not sell the "D. & A." or the "La Diva" Corsets. The superior value of the "D. & A." and the "La Diva" Corsets has made hundreds of thousands of women wear them. The "D. & A." and the "La Diva" are made by the Dominion Corset Co., in one of the finest corset factories in the world. 7-15 and that the people who have fostered that spirit should be made to repent in bitterness and sorrow. It is our bounden duty to posterity, not less than to the present generation, to see to it that in its ending the way of the transgressor shall be hard.
