New Dean Of Arts At UNB Is Former Charlottetown Man

Professor W.S. MacNutt, formerly of Charlottetown, has been appointed dean of arts at the University of New Brunswick who as held that position for almost 19 years.

University president Dr. Colin B. MacKay announced the new appointment.

Professor MacNutt is a son of Major and Mrs. T.E. MacNutt, Brighton Road, Charlottetown. He was a one-time member of the Guardian staff.

Dr. Bailey, who was appointed dean of arts in February 1946, retired to devote more time to study, teaching and writing. He will continue as head of the department of history and anthropology.

Dr. Bailey has had a long association with UNB of which he is a graduate. He was appointed to the faculty in 1938, and was the first to occupy a chair in history. In 1946, when UNB was reorganized into faculties he became the first dean of arts.

It was in that year that Prof. MacNutt joined the department of history as assistant professor. Now full professor in history, he is, as well, the dean of arts, effective this month.

Prof. MacNutt is a graduate of Dalhousie University with a bachelor of arts degree, high honors history and political science, and of the University of London with the degree of master of arts. He was a Nuffield Fellow from 1954-1955 and in the latter year became a Fellow of the Royal Historical Society of London.

AUTHOR OF NOTE

Prof. MacNutt is the author of the widely acclaimed Days of Lorne, published in 1955, and New Brunswick: A History, 1784-1867, published in 1963. For the latter book he was awarded the literary citation of the American Association for State and Local History. At present, he is at work on volume nine of the Canadian Centenary Series scheduled to be published this spring.

Prof. MacNutt is a member of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, the Canadian Historical Association and the Humanities Association of Canada.

First Incorporation Steps Successful For Arts Group

TIGNISH — The first steps to have the Tignish Arts Foundation incorporated have been reported successful by Mrs. Alma Buote, professional artist from New York and now living at her former home in the village of Tignish.

Mrs. E.E. Cran, Regional Porter, Patrick Conlon of Montreal, Henri Gaudet and Mrs. Buote of Tignish made application in the office of Morley M. Bell QC of Summerside, during the past week to incorporate the Arts Foundation.

The purpose of the organization is to carry on a summer school in the arts, but other courses may be added.

It is their hope to have a museum added under the foundation. Mrs. Cran holds two university degrees and has a background in adult education, she is now a professor at Loyola College, Montreal. Mr. Porter, a student from the Tignish schools is completing his education in Montreal and plans to take up teaching as a profession on the Island.

Mr. Gaudet, who has studied organ in Canadian and European universities, is now teaching at the O'Leary Regional High School. Mr. Conlon has considerable business experience and is interested in drama.

Mrs. Buote, who will re-open her studio in the spring, was a professional artist in New York for a number of years and held painting classes in Summerside two years ago.

The Thomas More Institute of Montreal is sponsoring the foundation.

WEATHER

HALIFAX (CP) — The weather office says snowflurries were widespread over the Maritimes late Sunday and they are expected to continue over most regions today.

A large Atlantic storm just east of Newfoundland is expected to maintain strong northerly winds over the Maritimes, which will account for considerable drifting of the light snowfall expected from the flurries. Temperatures will vary from the 20s inland to the low 30s near the gulf coasts.

Regional forecasts:

Northern N.S., Cape Breton, Prince Edward Island: overcast with light intermittent snow and occasional freezing drizzle, not much change in temperatures; northerly winds 25 with gusts to 40 and occasional gusts to 50 during the day. Low-high at New Glasgow 22 and 28, Sydney 30 and 32, Charlottetown 25 and 32.

High tide today at Charlottetown 12:40 p.m. and 11:31 p.m. At Rustico at 6:30 p.m. Summer side tide eighteen minutes later than Charlottetown. Sun rises today at 7:35 a.m. and sets at 5:01 p.m.

Ice Making Underway At Tignish

TIGNISH — The exterior of the Tignish Sports Recreation Centennial Arena was entirely closed in during the past week and ice making is now in the process.

The huge structure still requires a great deal of work before completion.

The project started four years ago when a few sports-minded people saw the need for winter recreation for the young people who were without the services of a rink for seven years. Since that time they have promoted, worked, planned and organized for a closed in rink for the community.

With the assistance of the Winter Works program and an active board of directors the Tignish community will soon enjoy a winter sports program under a roof.

Islander Of The Year Nominations Open

With a new year getting underway residents of Prince Edward Island, during the coming few days, will have an opportunity to nominate persons who they consider "have best used the means available during 1964 to serve a worthy island cause."

From these nominations a panel of judges will select the man or woman whom they consider most worthy of being named "Islander of the Year."

To date five distinguished Islanders have been so honored by the judges, who along with a number of other citizens were singled out to receive this high award, sponsored by "The Evening Patriot."

In 1959 the award was bestowed upon Col. E.W. Johnston; 1960 Capt. Carl F. Barker; 1961 Dr. Frank MacKinnon; 1962 Dr. Eric M. Fould; and 1963 James Pendergast.

The letters should not be long — not over 300 words — and should be addressed to "Islander of the Year Editor, The Evening Patriot, Charlottetown." The letters should be received in this office not later than noon Jan. 5, for consideration.

The Patriot takes no part in selecting the man or woman to be honored other than by the wording of the terms of reference given them and quoted in the first paragraph above.

Islanders of the Year in the past have been chosen from a wide variety of professions and for the recipient's wide range of accomplishments. From a retired Army man who created a great tourist attraction to an educationist who was responsible for the building of the vast Fathers of Confederation Memorial.

As in past years the Islander of the Year will be honored at a later appropriate date. He, or she, since there is no bar to the selection of a woman, will be presented with a plaque by The Evening Patriot and a larger plaque bearing his name will be displayed in a prominent place through 1965.

It has already been stated the newspaper takes no part in the naming of the winner, it simply acts as a sort of clearing house for letters of nomination received. Therefore, for any individual to be considered he or she must be nominated by letter by a reader of the paper. Please remember the closing date for receiving letters is Jan. 5.

UN'S STAFF — The secretary-general of the UN is boss of more than 20,000 international civil servants.

A small plane, owned by Robert McIlwaine of Tryon, was forced down due to heavy icing conditions in a field near Southport late Saturday afternoon.

He ran into freezing rain near Wood Islands as he was flying along the shore line towards Charlottetown, when he saw a large field owned by Dr. J.P. Lantz of Langley.
